It is the Paradise of the Pacific, and a pearl in the "Easy Stage Route" from Australasia to Europe. Sydney to Wellington is 3½ days' sail, Wellington to Tahiti, 9 days, and Tahiti to San Francisco 12 days. San Francisco of to-day is the most modern city in the world, and from it radiate a great choice of Transcontinental railway lines, with Europe only 11 days eastward.

NO OTHER ROUTE TO LONDON IS SO DIRECT.

DRESS WEAR
FOR THE SOCIAL SEASON.

The changes of fashions in Men's Wear demand everlasting vigilance in watching the styles.
As an exclusive Men's Wear house we are ever on the watch for changes and improvements in order to embody them in our goods.
In dress wear, the styles show still further changes on last year's modes—more especially in the cut of the coat and vest.

THE DINNER JACKET,
with silk lapel and plain collar with centre seam and vent, will still predominate, but those who prefer the plain back and silk roll collar will find us with a full assortment of all sizes.

We are particular to see that we have in stock every known size, in order that we may be able to fit practically any figure.

These Dress Garments are splendidly made goods of a high-class character, and are most superior to the average kind.

AN UNWRITTEN LAW.

It is an unwritten law that intentions without subsequent action are useless, therefore DO IT. Don't think too long. Do it! Time after time you have intended to come to the Crown Studios and get photographed, but you have not done it. Your intentions were useless, and will remain useless unless you do it. Now make another resolution—re-resolve—fix a time, bend every effort, and do it. There is no other joy exactly comparable to the pleasure of the possession of a faithful likeness of a friend. Not one that has been retouched by some schoolgirl and made as smooth as a German doll, but a faithful likeness, showing all the lines of the face, that have taken years of good moral force to build up—that's the kind of photograph you get at the Crown Studios.

THE EDISON PHONOGRAPH GIVES YOU AN ENTERTAINMENT IN WHICH EVERY PERFORMER IS A STAR AND EVERY NUMBER A SELECTION OF YOUR OWN.

It is an entertainment that you need not dress for, nor go out after, nor arrange any time for it, nor pay admission to it. It takes place in your own home, at your convenience, as often as you like.

You listen—that is the extent of your effort.

You hear Peter Dawson sing just as you would if he stood before you. You hear Sousa's Band play under his spirited direction, and forget the medium by which his artistic efforts are brought to you.

Or you enjoy the talents of such clever entertainers as Ada Jones, Cal. Stewart, Byron G. Harlan, Billy Murray, Steve Porter, and many others.

Go to an Edison store, select the Record of a singer you have heard and a song you know. Ask particularly to hear an Amberol Record, Mr. Edison's latest contribution to Phonographic entertainment; a record that preserves the sweet, clear tones of the Standard Edison Records, yet plays or sings twice as long, and costs but a trifle more.

Ask your dealer or write to us for lists of Edison Phonographs and Records.

EXTRAORDINARY EXPANSION.

FIVE YEARS AGO we were practically unknown. TO-DAY we can say, with pardonable pride, that we are one of the largest photographic studios in Australasia. Such remarkable growth means that wide public support has been accorded us. BUT WHY? Because we know the intricacies and subtleties of Artistic Photography from A to Z; because we have always bestowed the same degree of care upon small as upon large orders; because we secure the best operators, and employ the finest materials and appliances; because, even if it means a week's delay, we never allow any work to leave our studios until, in our judgment, it conforms to the highest Tesla standards; and generally, because we have struck the popular taste, as exemplified in our attractive offer of

WHY KENSINGTON GROWS.

Kensington is Sydney's most rapidly growing suburb, and, of course, this is not the result of accident or chance. Kensington is growing simply because it offers home-seekers more advantages than they can find elsewhere.

Kensington stands at the Eastern Gates of the City; only 20 minutes' tram journey from the G.P.O., on the 2d section. The tram service is now good. The whole suburb contains fine homes; is a high-class locality in which you would like to bring up your family.

KENSINGTON ESTATE is the best available residential property in this fine suburb. Choice lots are for sale now at 50/ a foot. Terms, £5 deposit, balance spread over 6 years.

HABERFIELD.
HABERFIELD. Sydney's
HABERFIELD. Garden Suburb.

EVERY HOUSE IS PERFECT.
BEAUTIFULLY DESIGNED, WELL CONSTRUCTED.

IN FOUR WORDS this sums up to a slight degree what is characteristic of every house in Haberfield. There are over 400 Modern Brick Villas, and every one, without exception, is soundly built and artistically designed.

OUR ARCHITECT, who is a member of the Institute (F.I.A.), devotes his time to planning these Villas and evolving new effects. He is acknowledged to be one of the most experienced and expert cottage designers in the State. Visit any of these beautiful Haberfield Homes, and you are at once impressed with their splendid architecture and superiority to the usual suburban house.

THE CLERK OF WORKS who supervises the carrying out of the work is a man of long and wide experience. His intimate and practical knowledge of building construction guarantees every part—foundations, walls, roofs, etc, inside and out—being right in every respect.

WE TAKE SPECIAL CARE to secure right from the sources of supply the finest timber, bricks, cement, etc, and every carpenter, plumber, bricklayer, etc, employed is a thoroughly competent and reliable tradesman. Most of these men have been with us for years.

OTHER FACTS ABOUT HABERFIELD.

FOUR FINE BIG CHURCHES, representing different denominations, are now at Haberfield. The finest swimming baths out of Sydney can be quickly reached by 1d tram. There are 5 grass tennis courts, one chip court, and others in course of construction for the use of Haberfield residents. The Ashfield Bowling Club, which holds the Pennant Championship, has its grounds adjoining Haberfield. These and many other excellent features make Haberfield second to no other suburb round Sydney.

YOU'LL ENJOY LIFE FAR MORE, have better health, and invest your money to the best advantage by residing in this "Place of Beautiful Homes." Step in and talk the matter over. Whether you have cash or not we will build to your order a Cottage of any design, and relieve you entirely of the many worries and difficulties usually associated with house building.

A VISIT INCURS NO OBLIGATION—will you call TO-DAY? Secure our illustrated booklet, "Haberfield, the Garden Suburb of Sydney."

MAGNIFICENT GENT.'S COTTAGE HOME,
WITH LAND 150 x 300.
This is the class of Property greatly in demand.
We are pleased it is our privilege to extend to you a cordial invitation to inspect it.
If you accept this invitation it will prove a pleasant surprise, so much so that you will agree with us when we describe it as being a Palatial Home, 'midst beautified surroundings, at a Sacrifice Price.
The owner is obliged to sell, for private reasons, and is desirous of quitting the property—rather than having it tenanted. The Residence was designed and constructed by an architect of high repute, and the grounds were laid out in a most artistic manner by a competent landscape gardener.
The Cottage stands in the 'midst of the grounds, is substantially built of brick cavity walls, slate roof, 2 bay windows, wide tiled verandahs, contains hall, drawing and dining rooms, 5 bedrooms, breakfast room, kitchen, and all other complete conveniences.
The fittings are most elaborate, and the general finish and tone being highly complimentary to the designer and builder.

TO BUILD ROBUST HEALTH,

start at the foundation of life and health. Assist your organs to do their work properly. Food and drink cannot nourish you if your liver is not working right. Dyspepsia and indigestion will follow if your digestive organs are out of order.

Constipation—with its discomfort and danger—results if your bowels are not free and regular.

A short course of BEECHAM'S PILLS will soon put you right, and an occasional dose will keep you so.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

will do more to build up robust health and maintain it than any other medicine. They have done this, and are continually doing it for thousands all over the world. If you start now, and take BEECHAM'S PILLS occasionally, you will certainly benefit to a remarkable degree.

BEECHAM'S PILLS are good alike for man, woman, and child, if taken according to directions. They are pre-eminently a family medicine—a remedy to have by one in readiness for every occasion where need arises.

Prepared only by THOMAS BEECHAM, St. Helens, England.

CHAPTER VI.

Arthur Delaine was strolling and smoking on the broad wooden balcony, which in the rear of the hotel at Banff overlooks a wide scene of alp and water. The splendid Bow River comes swirling past the hotel, on its rush from the high mountains to the plains of Saskatchewan. Craggy mountains drop almost to the river's edge on one side; on the other pine woods mask the railway and the hills; while in the distance shine the snow-peaks of the Rockies. It is the gateway of the mountains, fair and widely spaced as becomes their dignity.

Delaine, however, was not observing the scenery. He was entirely absorbed by reflection on his own affairs. The party had now been stationary for three or four days at Banff, enjoying the comforts of hotel life. The travelling companion on whom Delaine had not calculated in joining Lady Merton and her brother—Mr. George Anderson—had taken his leave, temporarily, at Calgary. In thirty-six hours, however, he had reappeared. It seemed that the construction work in which he was engaged in the C—— valley did not urgently require his presence; that his position towards the railway, with which he was about to sever his official connection, was one of freedom and influence, owing, no doubt, to the services he had been able to render it the year before. He was, in fact, master of his time, and meant to spend it apparently in making Lady Merton's tour agreeable. For himself, Delaine could only feel that the advent of this stranger had spoilt the whole situation. It seemed now as though Elizabeth and her brother could not now get on without him. Delaine, leaning over the railing of the balcony, could see far below, in the wood, the flutter of a white dress. It belonged to Lady Merton, and the man beside her was George Anderson. He had been arranging their walks and expeditions for the last four days, and was now about to accompany the English traveller on a special journey with a special engine through the Kicking Horse Pass and back, a pleasure suggested by the kindness of the railway authorities.

It was true that he had at one time been actively engaged on the important engineering work now in progress in the pass, and Lady Merton could not therefore have found a better showman. But why any showman at all? What did she know about this man who had sprung into this sudden intimacy with herself and her brother? Yet Delaine could not honestly accuse him of presuming on a chance acquaintance, since it was not to be denied that Philip Gaddesden himself, who had taken an invalid's capricious liking to the tall fair-haired fellow, had urgently requested, almost forced, him to come back to them.

Delaine was not a little bruised in spirit, and beginning to be angry. During the solitary day he had been alone with them Elizabeth had been kindness and complaisance itself. But instead of that closer acquaintance, that opportunity for a gradual and delightful courtship on which he had reckoned, when the restraint of watching eyes and neighbourly tongues should be removed, he was conscious that he had never been so remote from her during the preceding winter at home as he was now that he had journeyed six thousand miles simply and solely on the chance of proposing to her. He could not understand how anything so disastrous, and apparently so final, could have happened to him in one short week. Yet it was now clear to him that Lady Merton did not mean him to propose to her, if she could possibly avoid it. She kept Philip with her, and gave no opportunities. And always, as before, she was possessed and bewitched by Canada. The Chief Justice and the French Canadian, Mariette, had turned up at the hotel two days before, on their way to Vancouver. Elizabeth had been sitting, figuratively, at the feet of both of them ever since, and both had accepted an invitation to join in the Kicking Horse party, and were delaying their journey West accordingly.

Instead of solitude, therefore, Delaine was aware of a most troublesome amount of society. Aware, also, deep down, that some test he resented but could not escape had been applied to him on this journey by fortune—and Elizabeth—and that he was not standing it well. And the worst of it was that as his discouragement in the matter of Lady Merton increased, so also did his distaste for this raw, new country, without associations, without antiquities, in which he should never never have chosen to spend one of the summers of this short life but for the charms of Elizabeth; and the more boredom he was conscious of, the less congenial and sympathetic did he become as a companion for Lady Merton. Of this he was dismally aware. He hoped, bitterly, that she knew what she was about, and could take care of herself. This man was good looking and, by his record, possessed ability. But he was a man of humble origin, son of a farmer, who seemed, by the way, to be dead, and grandson, so Delaine had heard him say, through his mother, of one of the Selkirk settlers of 1812—no doubt of some Scotch gillie or shepherd. He had fairly gentlemanly manners; though, in Delaine's opinion, he was too self-confident on his own account, and too boastful on Canada's. Such a person in England would have no claim whatever to the intimate society of Elizabeth Merton. Yet here she was alone, really without protection—for what use was this young, scatter-brained brother?—herself only twenty-seven, and so charming, so much prettier than she had ever seemed to be at home. It was an extremely dangerous situation. Delaine had always believed her sensitive and fastidious; and in his belief all women should be sensitive and fastidious, especially as to who are and who are not their social equals. But it was clear he had not quite understood her. And this man whom they had picked up was undoubtedly handsome, strong, and masterful, of the kind that the natural woman admires. But then he—Delaine—had never thought of Elizabeth Merton as the natural woman. There lay the disappointment.

What was his own course to be? He believed himself defeated, but to show any angry consciousness of it would be to make life very uncomfortable in future, seeing that he and the Gaddesdens were inevitably neighbours and old friends. After all, he had not committed himself beyond repair. Why not resume the friendly relation which had meant so much to him before other ideas had entered in? The fact was, he was really seriously distressed. He must marry—the estate demanded it. But his temperament was invincibly cautious; his mind moved slowly. How was he to begin upon any fresh quest? His quiet pursuit of Elizabeth had come about naturally and by degrees. Propinquity had done it. He could not imagine how he was to find any other chance; for, as a rule, he was timid and hesitating with women; and as he hung over the running river this man of forty suddenly envisaged, and not so far away, old age and loneliness, and a sharp and rather peevish resentment took possession of him.

* * * * *

Elizabeth waved to him, with smiles, and he must perforce watch her as she mounted side by side with the fair-haired Canadian.

"Oh! such delightful plans!" she said, as she sank out of breath into a seat. "We have ordered the engine for two o'clock. Please observe, Mr. Arthur. Never again in this mortal life shall I be able to 'order' an engine for two o'clock, and one of these C.P.R. engines, too, great splendid fellows! We go down the pass, and take tea at Field, and come up the pass again this evening, to dine and sleep at Laggan. As we descend the engine goes in front to hold us back, and when we ascend it goes behind to push us up, and I understand that the hill is even steeper"—she bent forward, laughing, to Delaine, appealing to their common North Country recollections—"than the Shap incline."

"Too steep, I gather," said Delaine, "to be altogether safe." His tone was a trifle sharp. He stood with his back to the view, looking from Elizabeth to her companion.

Anderson turned.

"As we manage it, it is perfectly safe. But it costs us too much to make it safe. That's the reason for the new bit of line."

Harmless remarks. But the manner of both men in making them would have shown any shrewd observer that they did not like each other. And Elizabeth was a very shrewd observer.

* * * * * *

At two o'clock the car and the engine were ready, and Yerkes received them at the station beaming with smiles. According to him, the privilege allowed them was all his doing, and he was exceedingly jealous of any claim of Anderson's in the matter.

"I went and had a chat with the district superintendent at Calgary, my lady. 'You let me know, Mr. Yerkes, if you want an engine, and if so be I can't oblige you at any time—why, we can always hitch you to a freight,' says he. You come to me, my lady, if you want anything. There isn't many persons on this line as don't know Tom Yerkes. I've cooked for their president, and the one afore him, and the general manager, and the Lord knows who. They didn't bother about hotels. 'Give me the car,' says they. Last year I ran a Russian princess through, official. 'You take care of the Grand Duchess, Yerkes,' they says to me at Montreal, for they know there isn't anybody on the line they can trust with a lady as they can me. Of course, I couldn't help her faintin' at the high bridges going up Rogers Pass; that wasn't none of my fault."

"Faint at bridges!" said Elizabeth, with scorn. "I never heard of anybody doing such a thing, Yerkes."

"Ah! you wait till you see 'em, my lady," said Yerkes, grinning.

LAW REPORT.

IN BANCO.

(Before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Pring, and Mr. Justice Sly.)

AN OLD LAND DISPUTE.

O'Keefe and others v Williams.

Mr. Canaway, instructed by Messrs. Villeneuve-Smith and Dawes, appeared for the plaintiff, and moved to make absolute a rule nisi to set aside the verdict found for the defendant, and enter it for plaintiff, or for a new trial. Mr. Piddington and Mr. Pike, instructed by the Crown Solicitor (Mr. J. V. Tillett), appeared for the defendant in support of the verdict. The action, which was tried before Mr. Justice Cohen without a jury in June and July, 1908, was brought by Edward O'Keefe and others, executors of the estate of Andrew O'Keefe, deceased, to recover £2000 compensation from the Government for alleged breach of agreement for quiet enjoyment of certain land on Braham station, which the occupation licensee, Andrew O'Keefe, had obtained from the Crown, and of which he was afterwards deprived.

The defence filed was that there was no agreement such as was alleged by the plaintiff. Defendant also pleaded a set-off in respect of certain moneys which the Government was entitled to recover from O'Keefe's estate, and which the licensee of the land would have had to pay if Malone had not been placed in possession of the land. Revocation of the licenses within a reasonable time was also pleaded.

His Honor found a verdict for the defendant, on the authority of O'Keefe v Williams, 5 C.L.R., 217, there being, in his opinion, no proof of an express agreement that the late Mr. O'Keefe should have quiet enjoyment and possession of the land referred to.

Against this finding plaintiff now appealed, mainly on the ground that plaintiffs were entitled to have leave to add a third count to their declaration in support of the contract alleged; that, in any event, plaintiffs were entitled to recover nominal damages for a breach of the agreement to revoke the non-renewal of the occupation license within a reasonable time; that the eviction of the plaintiff's testator by the Government, as proved at the trial, suspended the Government's right to hold and retain for its own use the license fees paid in advance for occupation licenses; and the plaintiffs were accordingly entitled to the sum of £1694 15s 6d; and that it was contrary to equity and good conscience that the Government should retain as against plaintiff's testator the rentals recived from the Malones, and the plaintiffs were therefore entitled to a verdict for the sum of £271 6s 8d.

Argument having concluded,

The Chief Justice, in delivering judgment, said that the circumstances under which the contract, relied upon by the plaintiffs, was alleged to have been entered into, had already been discussed several times by the Court. They were considered first in an action brought by the late Andrew O'Keefe, whose executors now continued the present action against the Malones. They were also considered very fully by the Court in the present action on a demurrer. The plaintiff's declaration was fully considered by that Court, and also by the High Court, as reported in 5 Commonwealth Law Reports. It was also discussed by the Privy Council, on appeal from the High Court, and that being so, he did not think it necessary to go very fully into the history of the case. After referring to the material evidence in the case, his Honor said the question the Court had to decide on the first count of the plaintiff's declaration, was whether there was a contract, and, having considered that matter very carefully, he had come to the conclusion that there was nothing to show that plaintiff had made out his case. He failed to see any evidence of the contract upon which plaintiff relied, or any contract analogous to it. So far as he could gather from the meaning of the various steps that took place, there seemed to be nothing to show that the Government was bound by any promise that it would or would not do something, which might or might not have been within its power. He failed to see any ground whatever for alleging that there was an express contract binding upon the Government or any contractual relationship different from that which would exist where an individual made some application to an officer of the Lands Department, and the latter then took such action as it would possibly have been its duty to take, unfettered in any way whatever by any promise given for consideration or otherwise. As to the question whether plaintiffs should have been allowed to add a second count, framing their case in a slightly different way, in order to base upon it an express contract, it seemed to him that exactly the same remarks and principles would apply to the proposed new count, as to the existing count. He was also of opinion that plaintiffs' ground of appeal as to the common money count, failed, seeing that the Government refunded to O'Keefe the proportion of the rent represented by that part of the annual leases granted to the Malones, and previously forming portion of the occupation licenses. Whether there was some other remedy it was not necessary to say, but he could not see, in the circumstances, that plaintiffs could say that the moneys claimed under that count were moneys received by the Government from Malone for the use of the plaintiffs.

Mr. Justice Pring and Mr. Justice Sly concurred.

Rule discharged with costs.

A DIVORCE APPEAL.

Townsend v Townsend (R. Fisher, appellant).

Mr. Ralston, K.C., and Mr. Peden, instructed by Mr. J. T. Ralston, appeared for Robert Fisher, one of the co-respondents in the above divorce suit, and moved to make absolute a rule nisi for a new trial or rehearing. Mr. Whitfeld, instructed by Messrs. Wilkinson and Osborne, appeared for the petitioner to oppose. The suit was brought by William Ambrose Townsend for the dissolution of his marriage with Nina Mary Townsend, on the ground of her alleged misconduct with Harry Samson and Robert Fisher. The first-named co-respondent did not appear, and judgment went against him by default; but the present appellant entered an appearance, and denied that any impropriety had taken place between him and respondent, after her marriage with petitioner. The hearing of the suit lasted a considerable time, and Mr. Justice Sly, before whom the issues were tried, found in favour of petitioner, and granted a decree nisi. Fisher now appealed, mainly on the grounds:—1. That the findings and decisions of his Honor upon which the decree and order were based were against evidence, and the weight of evidence; (2) that upon the evidence, his Honor should have found the issues of connivance, wilful neglect, or misconduct, or delay by petitioner, in favour of co-respondent Fisher; (3) that since the hearing of the suit, fresh evidence which could not with reasonable diligence have been obtained before had been discovered and could be adduced on a rehearing or new trial, and that upon such evidence there would be a great preponderance of testimony in favour of appellant.

This case stands part heard.

(Before Mr. Justice Pring and Mr. Justice Sly.)

DISPUTE ON A CONTRACT.

Re J. W. S. Lucas.

Mr. Flannery, instructed by Mr. A. W. E. Weaver, appeared for John William Stewart Lucas, and moved to make absolute a rule nisi for a writ of prohibition to restrain William M. Kenny Moore, John [illegible] King, S.M., and William Barton Smith from proceeding further upon an order by Mr. King, on February 8 last, at the Central Police Court, Sydney, in favour of respondent Moore, and ordering appellant to pay £20 19s for debt and costs in respect of work and labour for which Moore sued. The appeal was based upon the ground that the verdict was against natural justice, in that appellant was not a party to the contract sued upon, and that he had not at any time any interest in it, or in the subject matter or performance thereof. Mr. Windeyer, instructed by Mr. E. R. Abigail, appeared for respondent Moore, and pointed out that the case involved a review of several existing decisions of the Supreme Court on the question of natural justice.

The Court postponed the case for consideration by a full Bench.

AN ALDERMAN OUSTED.

Re David Gilpin (E. P. Stanley, respondent).

Mr. Loxton, K.C., and Mr. Davidson, instructed by Mr. W. C. Clegg, appeared for David Gilpin, of Clovelly, Camperdown, commission agent, and moved to make absolute a rule nisi for a writ of quo warranto to oust Edmund P. Stanley from the office of alderman of the Sydney Municipal Council for Camperdown Ward. Mr. W. A. Walker, instructed by Mr. P. K. White, appeared for the respondent to oppose. The respondent was elected in December last, and the grounds of the present application were (1) that respondent was not duly elected an alderman within the provisions of the Act; (2) that three ballot-papers were rejected as informal which should have been counted; (3) that mistakes were made in the counting of the votes, resulting in the loss of two or more votes to the applicant; (4) and that one elector was induced to place her ballot paper in the box after she had stated that a mistake had been made in her vote. Stanley, it appeared, was returned by a majority of only two votes, and three votes in Gilpin's favour were declared informal by reason of marginal markings and non erasure of other names, the pencil having been drawn below the names instead of through them. The Court after examination of the ballot papers which had been rejected as informal, expressed an opinion that they were perfectly valid.

Mr. Walker: In that case I cannot argue the matter any further.

Rule absolute, with costs, for a quo warranto.

SALVATION ARMY AND RATES.

APPEAL FAILS.

Municipality of North Sydney v Massey.

Mr. James, instructed by Messrs. Robson and Cowlishaw, appeared on behalf of the defendant in support of the appeal; and Mr. Windeyer, instructed by Mr. J. Stinson (of Messrs. Pigott and Stinson), for the respondent municipality. This was an appeal on behalf of Isabella Massey, widow, against the verdict of Judge Backhouse, in the District Court, on an action brought against her for the recovery of rates on a property at North Sydney. The defendant claimed exemption under section 131 of the Local Government Act, 1906, on the ground that the buildings upon which the rates were levied was a church, inasmuch as it was used by the Salvation Army for religious purposes. The evidence went to show that the building had been used for tea meetings, festivals, and the general purposes of the Salvation Army, and that a charge had been made for admission to certain functions. The District Court Judge decided that the building was not used exclusively for religious purposes within the meaning of the Act, and was consequently rateable. Defendant now appealed, mainly on the ground that the building was a church within the meaning of section 131 of the Act. Mr. James argued that it was a common enough practice for certain other denominations to hold tea meetings and carry out other social functions in their churches.

Mr. Justice Pring: If they do they must pay rates.

Mr. James said that, in view of his Honor's opinion, he could not argue the matter.

Mr. Justice Pring said the Court was of opinion that Judge Backhouse was right in his decision.

Appeal dismissed with costs.

EQUITY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice A. H. Simpson, Chief Judge in Equity.)

MEASURES AND KING v WALLAROBBA SHIRE COUNCIL.

Mr. Harvey and Dr. Waddell, instructed by Mr. F. H. King, appeared for the plaintiffs, Frank Joseph Lappen Measures and Frederick Hart King, registered proprietors under the Real Property Act, 1900, of the Torryburn estate, situate within the boundaries of the shire of Wallarobba; Mr. Maughan, instructed by Messrs. McDonell and Moffitt (agents for Messrs. Elliott and Waller, of Dungog), appeared for the council of the shire of Wallarobba, defendants.

The plaintiffs, in their statement of claim, set forth that in November, 1907, they caused to be prepared a plan of subdivision of the Torryburn estate for purposes of sale. The plan provided for certain dedications as roads, but in the plan as submitted to, and approved by, the Registrar-General, one of these proposed dedications was cancelled. The defendant council claimed that this cancelled portion had been dedicated to the public as a road, and instructed its officers to make the road, and to lay out a deviation from it. The plaintiffs accordingly asked that the defendant council might be restrained from trespassing on the land, and from attempting to lay out or to clear any road except where roads were shown upon the plan deposited in the Lands Titles Office.

The statement of defence set forth that a plan of the estate, showing the proposed roads and bridges, was, in November, 1907, submitted by the plaintiffs to the council for approval. The plan included the road now in dispute, and it was approved. In January, 1908, the subdivisions were offered for sale on the basis of the plan as approved by the council, but the plaintiffs had since refused either to make the road in question, or to give security to the council for the making of the road, and claimed to be entitled to close it. The defendant council further contended that the disputed road had for a great number of years been continually used as of right by the public as a public highway when travelling to and from the town of Gresford. As to the deviation, the defendant council admitted that a man employed by the shire engineer had mistaken his instructions, and commenced clearing operations, but as soon as this fact was brought under notice, work was stopped. The defendant council submitted that it was entitled to make the road in dispute by reason of the plaintiff's default.

The suit stands part heard.

IN DIVORCE.

(Before Mr. Justice Cohen.)

DECREES ABSOLUTE.

His Honor made absolute the decree nisi for nullity of marriage between Henry Griffiths Williams and Mary Eliza Nimmo (falsely called Williams). The decrees nisi were also made absolute in the following suits, and the marriages declared dissolved:—Annie Beatrice Maude White v John Harold White, Robina Ellen Bissell v Charles James Bissell, Ellen Rose Hayes v Norman Edgar Hayes, Emily Ellen Matthew v James Matthew, Florence Louise Stowell v Ernest Henry Stowell, Frances Smyth-King v William Smyth-King, Miriam M'Neill v George M'Neill, John Thomas Hill v Jeannette Theresa Hill, Eliza Emily Macalister v John Macalister, Henry Levi Ford v Ethel Alice Ford, and Maria Donovan v Michael Peter Donovan.

BANKRUPTCY COURT.

(Before the Registrar, Mr. F. H. Salusbury.)

CREDITORS' PETITION.

Lawrence Kirby v William Ascher. Mr. Walker asked for leave to withdraw the petition. The matter was adjourned, pending the filing of a settlement.

MOTION UNDER SECTION 61.

Re John O'Connor. An order was made.

CERTIFICATE APPLICATION.

Re William Longmore. The registrar said that bankrupt was not justified in making a post nuptial settlement, being at the date of its execution (January 24, 1905) unable to pay his debts. "His object in doing this," the Registrar added, "was, I think, clearly to enable him to discharge a debt to a creditor—Hall—through the disguise of a debt belonging to his wife, and to conceal the transaction from the Scottish Australian Investment Company, Ltd." The application was refused.

MEETINGS AND EXAMINATIONS.

Re Thomas William Meaney. The meeting was closed, and the examination concluded.

Re Richard Cumming Morris. The meeting was closed, and the examination concluded.

Re John Russell and James Fea. Both bankrupts were further examined by the official assignee. Adjournment to March 15.

Re William Curtis Fidden. The examination under section 30 was adjourned generally, with liberty to enter. The public examination was concluded.

INDUSTRIAL COURT.

(Before Judge Heydon.)

SUMMONSES FOR PENALTY.

Henwood v Brown and Co.

H. Brown and Co., of Alexandria, were charged with having committed a breach of the Farriers' Metropolitan District Board's award by not lodging a copy of an indentureship with the Registrar within 14 days of its execution. The complainant was Mr. Henwood, secretary of the union. Defendants pleaded guilty, and were fined £2 2s, with costs £2 2s.

AN EXCEPTIONAL DEFINITION.

MANUFACTURING FIRMS HORSE-SHOEING.

The same union proceeded against the Sydney Glass Bottle Works for not paying an employee, named Weatherspoon, according to the farriers' award, which would entitle him to £3 a week. The evidence showed that Weatherspoon was employed mainly as a smith, and at times shod the horses of the firm—an hour and a half weekly, according to defendants' evidence. It was contended by counsel for the defence (Mr. Rich) that "a farrier, being a person employed by a farrier," according to the terms of the award, the defendants, being glass-bottle makers, were not, in this case employing a farrier. The union representative, Mr. Croft, contended that it had been laid down in the case of a large drapery firm that under an award it had been held to be a carrying firm, as it employed carters. Several other cases having the same bearing were cited and argued at considerable length. His Honor asked was it to be held that if the wording were applied to bakers, any house where the family made its own bread was to be classed as a bakery? In the case of a householder with a garden employing a gardener, who sometimes groomed and shod the horse kept for riding exercise, would the householder be a farrier; and would the housemaid be a farrier because she was employed by a farrier?

Mr. Croft urged that in the matter under review the shoeing was being done to the loss of the master farriers. It would otherwise mean that private persons or firms would be able to get a man at a lower rate, and get all their farriering done by an employee, simply because the substantial part of their business was not farriering. The man had been employed three and four, and more, hours a week, according to the evidence elicited by the book produced.

His Honor said that if he were to deal with the case on its general merits, he would have to impose a penalty. He found, however, that the alleged farrier employed by the firm was employed to do smithing and farriering work combined, the smithing work being very much the larger. That meant a division of his duties. He did not understand the Legislature using the expression "a person employed by a farrier," if what was meant was simply farriers. This case stood by itself. It was not like any of the others. It did not speak of the employee as an employee of a body, or of any particular class of factory. It spoke of a man as the employee of certain persons—farriers. This word farrier did not, he thought, mean an insurance company manager who had a horse and a handy man who shod it for him: that man didn't become a farrier by that work, and he could not see that the person employing him became a farrier. The case was dismissed with costs £2 2s.

DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Judge Backhouse.)

VALE v M'LACHLAN AND OTHERS.

Mr. Pickburn, instructed by Mr. E. Lucas, appeared for the plaintiff, James V. Vale, mining expert, of Castlereagh-street; Mr. Windeyer, instructed by Messrs. M'Lachlan and Murray, appeared for the defendants, J. C. M'Lachlan, A. J. M'Lachlan, and N. H. Murray, of King-street. Plaintiff sued to recover £68 claimed as balance due in respect of an engagement to supervise work at the Mount Bulga mine at £3 per week. The defendants pleaded not indebted on the ground of failure of consideration on plaintiff's part, by reason of incompetence and carelessness in connection with the management of the mine.

The hearing covered a claim by James S. Vale and Henry L. Cameron, trading as Vale and Cameron, assayers, against the defendants, J. C. M'Lachlan, A. F. M'Lachlan, and N. H. Murray, for the recovery of £46 10s alleged to be due in respect of assaying and sampling work in connection with the Mount Bulga mine.

Towards the close of the hearing the particulars of the first claim were, by consent, amended by adding to the amount claimed £25 (credited as paid), and placing an equivalent sum to the credit of the defendants in the second action.

His Honor found in favour of the plaintiff on the first action, and awarded him £93, with costs. On the second action he found in favour of the defendants.

DRYDEN v KIEL.

Mr. O'Reilly, instructed by Mr. J. J. Carroll, appeared for the plaintiff, John Dryden, cab proprietor, of Mosman; Mr. Mitchell, instructed by Messrs. Minter, Simpson, and Co., appeared for the defendant, L. Findlay Kiel, of Mosman, grocer. Plaintiff sued to recover £75 as damages in respect of a collision on the evening of November 5, between a horse and cab belonging to him, and a horse and delivery cart belonging to the defendant. The shoulder of the cab horse was pierced by the shaft of the cart, and the accident, it was contended, was due to negligence on the part of the defendant's servant. Defendant denied the allegation of negligence, and pleaded contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiff.

His Honor found in favour of the defendant.

QUARTER SESSIONS APPEALS.

(Before Judge Murray.)

Mr. Herbert Harris for the Crown.

CONVICTION QUASHED.

Joseph James Little appealed against his conviction and sentence of three months' hard labour by Mr. G. H. Smithers, S.M., at the Central Police Court, on January 11, on a charge of improper conduct.

Mr. E. R. Abigail, who appeared for appellant, called a number of witnesses, and submitted the case was one of mistaken identity. Several witnesses, including members of the police, testified to appellant's previous good character.

His Honor, after hearing Mr. Harris, reserved his judgment until he had seen the locality concerned, and accordingly adjourned the Court until the afternoon. Subsequently his Honor said that, after careful consideration of the case, there was a reasonable doubt to which the appellant was entitled. He accordingly quashed the conviction.

REDUCED PENALTIES.

An appeal was lodged by William Nolan against his conviction by Mr. C. N. Payten, S.M., at the Water Police Court on December 6, at which date he was sentenced to two months' hard labour on a charge of assault.

The conviction was confirmed, but the penalty was reduced to a fine of £5.

Mr. J. W. Abigail appeared for the appellant.

Arthur Conlon appealed against his conviction and penalty of £5 by Mr. Smithers, S.M., at the Central Police Court on December 7, on a charge of indecent language.

His Honor confirmed the conviction, but reduced the penalty to a fine of £2, with £2 2s costs. Two months were given in which to pay.

Mr. S. Stewart appeared for the appellant.

THE LITTLE GIRLS BEHIND THE COUNTER.

It was only simple bone buttons that I wanted, but the little shopgirl did not seem to know where to find them. With perfect good temper she lifted out drawer after drawer and brought them to the counter for my inspection. Some contained silk buttons, some smoked pearl, some linen, and others fancy glass of all sizes and shapes. None of them in the least resembled the ordinary little bone button I was asking for; but the girl looked hopefully through each drawer as though it might be lurking underneath. It wasn't that she didn't know what kind of button I wanted, but she had no idea where to look for it.

"Couldn't you ask someone who does know?" I at last suggested.

That had evidently not occurred to her, for with a bright smile she at once turned to the next girl and asked if she knew where the bone buttons were.

The second girl did not answer, but with a look of weary resignation turned to the case behind and lifted down a drawer labelled "Mixed Buttons." It contained the kind I wanted, and my girl thanked her brightly.

"I have only been here a week," she told me in apology, "and she's been here a year. I expect I'll know as much as she does in that time."

I looked at the bright face before me, with its laughing brown eyes and clear skin, and then at the pale, tired face of her who had been there a year. The contrast was pathetic. The one, about 14 years old, was happy and healthy, and still pleased with the novelty of her work; the other, a year or so older, had lost the look of youth which should have been hers, and her sallow face and dull grey eyes wore a look of hopeless resignation to a fate from which she could not escape. The slender figure was slightly bent, and as she stood waiting for a customer to decide whether she should take bent or straight hairpins, I noticed her hand go to her side as if it ached.

My eyes travelled down the long counter, and over the long, long row of little girls, all busily serving cusomers. They were all about the same age, from 14 to 16 apparently, but it was quite easy to pick out the newcomers, for their freshness marked them as completely as their incompetence. Apparently they just "picked up" their business, dragging out the wrong drawers and appealing to goodnatured older hands for help, while the customers waited more or less patiently. The older hands knew their business and served quickly, but there was something else that distinguished them from the newcomers—that pitiful look of weariness and hopelessness which hurts so much when seen on a young girls' face. Amongst the older employees in the shop this look is less noticeable, but it is to be found on the face of almost every one of those young girls.

And these girls, with their tired, pale faces, and their aching sides, are the potential mothers of the future;—these girls who stand from morning till night, while their feet and ankles grow sore from tiredness, and their sides and backs ache from bending over the counter and lifting drawers and boxes, are to help with the forming of a nation! These girls, who, at their growing and most critical age, are allowed to overtire and strain themselves, are to be the mothers of our future soldiers and sailors and mechanics. What fine, strong heroes they will be!

Our declining birth-rate is once again being deplored; and if you would know one reason of it you will surely find it at that long counter, where the little girls stand serving from morning till night, with tired, pale faces and aching sides.

WOMEN HUMOURISTS.

The tradition that women have no sense of humour dies hard, but if anything should kill it it is the list of American women writers who have set the world a-smiling during the past ten years. The humour of the average male American is sometimes amusing, but is too often wrapped up in obscure language to appeal to the general run of English-speaking readers; but the writing of such women as Alice Hegan Rice and Anne Warner do not depend on slang phrases and tricks of speech for their fun. It is not as easy to pick a funny quotation from such writers as it is from Mr. Dooley or "Shorty M'Cabe," for instance, for the humour is more subtle; but the fun is there just as surely, and Mrs. Wiggs has raised just as many smiles, if not more, than Mr. Dooley.

A current American magazine gives an interesting account of some of the women humourists of the day, and the story of how "Mrs. Wiggs" became famous is rather unusual in this age of boom. Some years ago eight or ten Louisville women of literary taste formed a little club amongst themselves, which came to be known as the Authors' Club. At one of the meetings a member brought the manuscript of a book she had written and read it aloud. It was enthusiastically endorsed, and the writer was urged to send it to a publisher. The author was Alice Hegan Rice, and the book "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." When Mrs. Wiggs first found her way out to the reading public it was with no great blare of trumpets. The publishers—apparently with little sense of humour—had no great expectation for it, and hesitated before printing an edition of two thousand copies. That edition was sold within a month, and another two thousand printed. Then came another, and at the end of six months the presses were turning out ten thousand a month, which later rose to forty thousand a month, and so the tale went on until forty-three editions had been printed, and now after eight years five hundred copies a month are printed and sold.

Few women, or men either, have had such a success with a first book, but Mrs. Hegan Rice is only one of a long list of women whose names are as well known here as in America. In fact, it is claimed by Mr. Maurice, editor of the "Bookman," that three-fifths of the new school of American humour is feminine. In her countryman's estimation, Miss Carolyn Wells stands first, and her parodies are undoubtedly clever and amusing. Miss Wells is said to have an original rule for measuring the length of her books. Her publisher once asked why she always sent her manuscript in a 5lb candy-box. Miss Wells replied, "When I feel that I am going to write a book I always buy a 5lb box of candy and a pint of ink. Then I begin to write. And when the candy is all gone and the ink is all used up I know that the book is long enough."

Then there are Anne Warner, creator of "Aunt Mary"; Kate Douglas Wiggin, whose "Rebecca" is known as well here as in the States; George Madden Martin, author of "Emmy Lou," Jean Webster, Rose O'Neill, Mary Stewart Cutting, and many others, who help to make the world bright, and by their fables of wholesome humour contribute to the health of the community, and do much to relieve the tension of the strenuous modern life.

AUSTRALIANS ABROAD.

(BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Feb. 4.

Mrs. Huxtable and her daughters are in Switzerland for the winter sports. They return to London for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Darley celebrated their silver wedding on January 14.

Captain Guy R. A. Gaunt has been appointed to the command of the Challenger on recommissioning. Captain Gaunt, who is a son of the late Judge Gaunt (Vic.), has already served two commissions on the Australian station, where he will be well known.

Holme Lacy, the historic estate recently purchased by Sir R. Lucas Tooth, has been prominently before the public this week by reason of the sale of furniture, tapestries, Grinling Gibbons carving, and other art treasures housed there for centuries past. Great prices were realised for some of these beautiful things. A Chippendale bookcase brought £2000, while the total sales have reached the amount of £30,000.

Mrs. Murray-Prior (Q.), now convalescent after her recent illness, has left London for the South of France.

Mrs. Windeyer and Miss Windeyer are at St. Moritz for the sports.

The marriage is announced, at Bardighera, Italy, of Miss Marion Irene Marks, youngest daughter of the late Hon. John and Mrs. Marks, Glenrock, Sydney, and Mr. George A. Vivers, of King's Plains, Glen Innes.

Admiral Sir Harry Rawson has become a vice-president of the Victoria League.

MELBOURNE NOTES.

A resolution protesting against sentences of solitary confinement, passed on two mere lads at the last criminal sitting of the Supreme Court, was carried at the Women's Political Association last week. The Attorney-General said that on the advice of Mr. Justice Hood he had decided to recommend the Governor-in-Council to release the boys after they had served three weeks, conditional on their entering into a bond to be of good behaviour for a lengthy term.

Much exception has been taken to statements made by Mr. Quinlan, one of the Queensland delegates at the A.N.A. annual conference, in which he asserted that women joined friendly societies merely for what they could get out of them; that they had no moral principle like men, and put themselves on the sick list on the slightest pretence; also that women's friendly societies were unable to perform any functions excepting social ones. Such statements could not pass unchallenged, and the president of the Women's Association (Mrs. Kidney), in an interview with a representative of one of our daily papers, gave a full contradiction to the serious charges. Other branches also passed resolutions condemnatory of such statements.

At a meeting of the Trades Hall Council it was stated that the girl workers in our clothing factories do not on an average get full work for nine months of the year, and that competent women-workers were often put aside to make room for girls who would do the same work, but to whom the manufacturers need not pay 20s. There are general complaints as to sweating young girls. When girls of 15 earn only 5s per week, unless they are living in their parents' homes, they could not exist. Any growing girl of 15 requires 5s worth of food at least. Where, then, is her clothing to come from, unless parents provide that as well as a home? Immigrant girls could not possibly manage at the present rate of factory wages to maintain themselves respectably at factory work.

The members of the Swedish Club entertained Madame Agnes Jansen, of the Conservatorium of Music, on her return from Europe, at the Savoy recently. The King of Sweden entrusted her with a special message to the Swedes in Australia, and his Majesty forwarded by her an autographed photograph of himself to the club.

Sir Robert Best lately presided at a meeting to hear reports concerning Miss Leila Doubleday's progress, and to consider the question of providing her with the means for a further term of study in Vienna. The meeting was very well attended. Sir Robert Best stated that Miss Doubleday had made most gratifying progress in the study of the violin under Professor Rose, who thought that she should continue to study at least another year, and had offered to teach her for nothing if arrangements could be made for her to stay in Vienna. As the professor's fee is £2 2s a lesson, and he only then takes specially talented pupils, this was a compliment indeed; £250 to £300 would be required in order to give the student the additional year of study, and there is not the slightest doubt that the amount will very soon be forthcoming.

The Marshall Hall pianoforte scholarship, which was competed for last week, was won by Miss Rosa Walton, of Richmond. This entitles the student to 12 months' tuition at the Conservatorium of Music.

VERONICA.

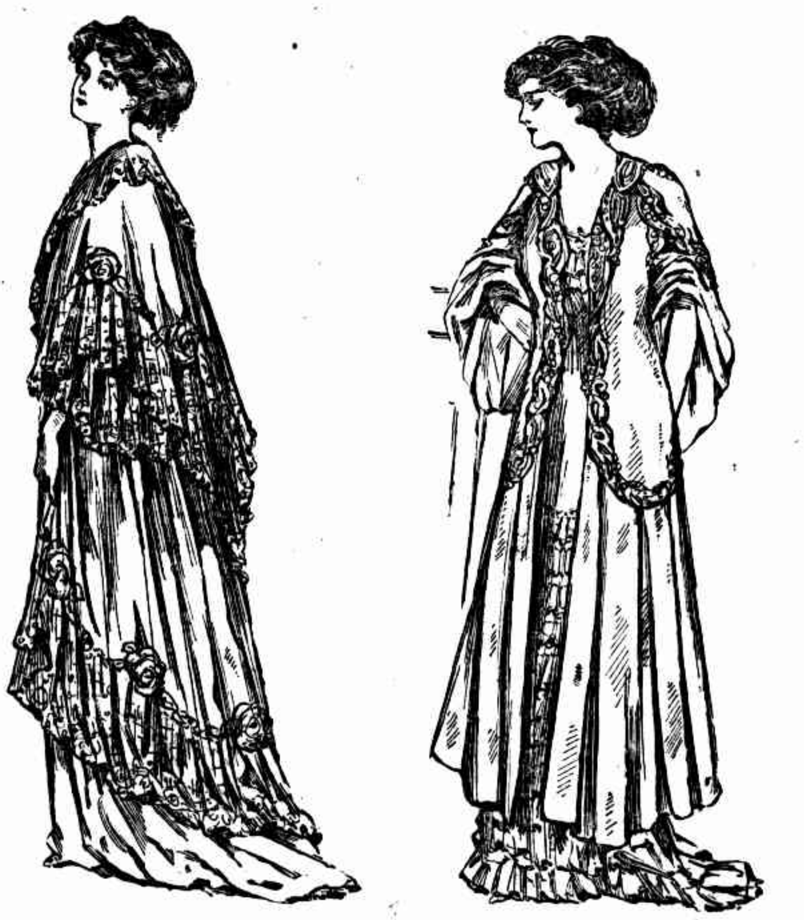
LAUGHTER.

"A merry heart goes all the way; your sad tires in a mile-a," wrote Shakespeare. In enervating February it is as well that all women should remember that of all created beings only man can laugh. There is much comfort in real laughing, and a sense of humour gives us courage to bear life's many troubles and innumerable pin-pricks. Take, for instance, the woman who spends a stuffy day overhauling the remnants of the bargain-sale counter, and finds herself tired, and with an empty purse, surveying a miscellaneous collection of flotsam and jetsam that she could well do without. If she has a sense of humour, she can laugh heartily at herself, and the lesson is just as well learned as though she had lost her temper over the catastrophe. For just as every child must have measles, so must every woman with a purse sometimes fall a victim to the bargain mania.

For some unexplained reason laughing is not a fashionable accomplishment in these days. Perhaps the jibe about loud laughter betokening the vacant mind is responsible for the droop at the corners of the mouth that is so prevalent on everyday features. The laughing girl is not popular; in many instances she is considered silly and thoughtless. Yet is there anything more comforting and infectious than the laughter and merriment of a good-natured, natural girl?

Neither the literature of to-day nor our places of amusement provide us with much food for merriment. Most of the books are of the social problem order, while the dramas are illustrations of domestic discord, accident, infidelity, and so on. The heroine is always plunged in grief and on the verge of insanity and suicide; the hero is always falsely accused and suffering intensely. The villain laughs all through, sardonically at the finale, when he is unmasked. Why should humour be considered as an attribute of evil persons? Cannot humour and mirth be associated with goodness? Surely yes. The art of laughing consists in a knowledge of the things that may be laughed at. Real troubles are sacred, and cannot be treated lightly; but for the pin-pricks, the slights that annoy, and the trifles that jar—well, let us laugh and grow fat.

MYEE.



The first is an evening wrap of hyacinth blue satin, made pelisse-fashion, both the skirt and hanging cape edged with deep frills of lace, dyed to tone with the material, and beaded with an applique in a rose design, of blue and silver. A hanging sleeve of lace shows below the cape, which ends in a point at the back.

The other is a semi-fitting model, in copper-green satin. The coat is edged with a heavy embroidery, in dull shades of green and gold, into which the coat is set in pleats below the hips. The short sleeves are edged with the embroidery, and are finished with wide pleats of dull green chiffon or ninon.

EVENING COATS.

THE FIG TREES.

A woman who is proud of the city of Sydney and its beauty writes:—"I was glad to see that some able pen was championing the cause of the beautiful Moreton Bay fig-trees in Sydney parks, too long left to the mercy of aldermanic vandalism. I, too, was horrified to read the suggestion in the 'Herald' last week that they should be destroyed—a monstrous suggestion! Surely Sydney people will rise at last and take some measures to restrict the destructive power of aldermen in general and this one in particular! They have meekly submitted to having the poor trees mutilated from time to time. Quite recently those in Cook Park have been utterly ruined for years. Indeed they will not be shapely, spreading trees again in the lifetime of most of us. Yet no one said anything! Will not the public take some steps now to save the final destruction of their property—for the trees are their property, and a valuable asset—and to safeguard them from drastic pruning in the future?

"Has the alderman who suggested growing gum-trees in place of the figs any idea of the time it takes to grow gum-trees from seed, which is the only way? Does he think that there will be no bare ground underneath them, but that a green sward will grow right up to the trunk? He certainly cannot know that they not only drop leaves and seed, but long streamers of bark, which are far more untidy than the little figs and odd leaves dropped by the fig-trees, even if the two species could be compared as shade trees. Some nice artificial trees painted green are the only kind that will quite suit aldermanic taste! However, let us, nevertheless, make a struggle to keep our fine trees of every kind, all the more necessary now that there is such a tendency in Sydney to sell and cut up all the large estates with fine grounds and build upon them numbers of horribly modern houses with minute yards and no gardens. Our parks with their fine trees become all the more precious, and it behoves us all to do our best to prevent any more harm being done to them. Perhaps we only want to know how to move in the matter, and it is from not knowing, rather than from indifference, that we have done nothing hitherto.

THIRSTY SPARROWS.

I should like to voice a plea for the sparrows. During some scorching weather this summer I noticed numbers of these birds flying about the yards and gardens with open beaks, and it set me wondering how these feathered friends managed to find means to quench their thirst in these trying days. So I began to think how I might help them, and filled two canned fruit tins with clean water, and placed them in a conspicuous place in the garden, and partly in shade. During the morning I was gratified to see two poor, thirsty little sparrows perched on the edge of one of the tins, and taking their fill of the welcome water. I suppose they informed their numerous relatives in bird language of the fact that a bird's water fountain had been unveiled, for ever since that time numbers of sparrows visit the tins regularly, drinking the water with great relish, and some even attempting a shower bath, spraying themselves, and evidently enjoying the situation. Every day, too, as if in gratitude, these lively little fellows search diligently amongst my plants and creepers for grubs and other destructive insects, which do so much damage to such of our garden friends as may take their fancy. But now I am happy to say that my obliging sparrow acquaintances have cleared these pests nearly all away. They evidently believe that one good turn deserves another. Now, we are all blessed with a good supply of water in our homes, and it is within the reach of every householder to do as I have done, and place in the yard or garden a tin of water. To fill one is an easy task. Any child would be delighted to do it, while at the same time learning a valuable lesson.

A CIVIC LEAGUE.

The suggestion in the Woman's Page of last Wednesday's "Herald" that the women of Sydney, who are proud of their city, should rise up in protest against the vandalism of the edict that the big fig-trees of our parks must go, is one that must commend itself to all of them who realise the responsibilities of citizenship. The nucleus of earnest-minded women, who some year or two ago formed themselves into a "civic club" to study civic matters, have here a forcible object lesson in the desirability of the scheme they have been considering of enlarging their scope, and resolving themselves into a Civic League, which all women and men who care about the orderliness and beauty and good government of their city may join. The necessity for some such league is surely exemplified by the fact that the alderman who gave vent to the astounding statement that all the fine fig-trees, with their beautiful spreading branches, should be uprooted, does not seem to have raised a storm of angry indignation and protest, as might have been expected. That indignation at the mere suggestion is pretty generally felt, there is no doubt whatever; but at present it is nobody's special duty to voice it, form it, make it effective. But what an opportunity for a Civic League; nay, more, what a necessity there is for some such organisation! Such a league would consider this its work. It would look upon it as a vital matter affecting the beauty of the city. Public feeling would be aroused, protest organised, and action taken to prevent the possibility of our being robbed of our heritage from the past, which those grand old trees most assuredly are.

FOLIO.

VARIETY WITHOUT EXPENSE.

As a witness in a recent industrial inquiry, a member of the State Parliament, discussing the rise in the price of foodstuffs as affecting the workers, dismissed consideration of any article but the most commonplace. For instance, macaroni, he said, was a luxury that could never grace a poor man's board. The remark, with others, struck me as giving point to the contention of many that on these economic commissions the sex most interested should be represented. It never is, though a woman, of course, has firsthand knowledge of housekeeping facts, upon which a man is generally vague.

But to return to the edible which the member put upon the list of luxuries. The best macaroni is 8d per lb. Some grocers, I am told, sell it for less. A pound of chops costs 5d, and one pound is the least quantity cooked for a family of three. A pound of macaroni may be divided into four portions, and make four good meals for the same family. If the dainty be cooked properly, this fourth, with the addition of a little tomato, a little grated cheese, a little milk sauce, or a little gravy—any of these additions costing at most one penny—will fill a quart piedish at a total cost of threepence. It will make a delicious meal, more wholesome in the opinion of many than meat, and with the advantage that a very small child may partake of it. Whereas where meat is the meal, for it there is, or should be, a special dish prepared. It will also be found that the change from meat will be greatly appreciated by the adults, for, without adopting vegetarianism, the continued hot weather surely renders acceptable any departure from animal food, necessarily tough in these non-keeping conditions.

It seems such a pity that conservatism in food should be so general in Australia, when so many simple, wholesome, and as I have demonstrated, cheap dishes are practicable. We know that Southern Europe lives largely on macaroni, and that there the wage-earners are paid on a much lower scale than here. We also know that, as a rule, its people are remarkably clear-skinned. Can the same be said of our meat-fed population?

FUR WEARERS BEWARE.

Many ladies are from time to time attacked by skin disease, the origin of which is apparently inexplicable.

Recently, however, the clue to the mystery has been found out in a very common practice which at first sight seems totally unconnected with it—the fact that the sufferers have been in the habit of wearing fur garments.

A far from imaginary danger lurks in these becoming articles of dress on account of the poisonous chemicals sometimes used in dyeing them. These, according to a well-known dyer, occasionally include such things as sulphate of copper, copper dusts, antimony, arsenic, sulphate of iron, verdigris, and logwood.

It can, therefore, readily be imagined that in certain cases the friction of the fur with the skin gives these poisons the opportunity of setting up what, at first a mere surface irritation, may in turn, if not checked by discarding the garment, become a chronic form of disease. Of course, there will always be people who will declare that the risk is grossly exaggerated, and that the whole of this is nothing but one of those "scares" which the medical profession is credited with starting from time to time. But it is not so many months since one of the leading medical journals of London contained full particulars of a very bad case of skin disease undoubtedly caused in this manner.

ANDREA.

FRUIT FARMING FOR WOMEN.

In the many occupations now opening up for women one that might specially recommend itself is that of fruit-farming—fruit-growing, fruit-bottling, fruit-canning, and fruit-preserving in its different methods.

In New Zealand there is a fruit industry on the East Coast. There in the season you can see pickers gathering ripe luscious apricots to the bottling and canning department, and there you watch the processes of sorting and bottling and canning. Eventually you see the bottles screwed down and the cans—which have been made on the premises—soldered down and labelled with labels that have been printed on the premises. You then go on to the preserving department, and you see more apricots—freshly picked and brought in—made into conserve and jam, bottled and tinned and labelled. You see with amazement huge racks of bottles, huge stacks of cans and tins, just as you see them in the shops, and can scarcely credit that but a little while ago you saw the apricots being picked. So with all fruits—they grow many varieties. The works are growing larger each year, and goods are always in demand. They not only preserve, bottle, and can fruit, but they tin peas and tomatoes. To drive over the place is a keen delight, and to watch the up-to-date methods a great astonishment. Everything they do is the best of its kind. They employ many hands. It is a little world in itself, with excellent residential quarters attached.

Why cannot this same scheme be developed in several Australian centres by women workers? It would need as brainy a gentlewoman to organise and manage such an undertaking successfully as to be principal of the biggest school or matron of the biggest hospital. There would be responsible positions as heads of departments for many gentlewomen, and as a field for energies, when energies must of necessity be remunerative, how much more beauty is there in the changing paths of fruit-farming than in the monotonous duties of tea-girls and lady-helps?

Experienced help could be got from the trained planters of Hawkesbury College, and a staff of men for digging and heavy work would also be necessary.

Distributing markets would be opened in all the large centres and suburbs, where fruit in cases, half-cases, and quarter-cases, and in assorted shilling and two-shilling boxes, would thus be brought to the buyers direct from the growers. There are many women workers who would gladly and capably take charge of these distributing markets. The cases and boxes would be made and packed at the works, and could be sent forward once or twice a day, according to the means of transit.

Would it not be possible for some of our Sydney women to fruit-farm close to the Parramatta River, where the farm's own boats could bring fruit and preserves, etc., to the city, to the North Shore, and to boats for export, for little cost after the first outlay? The whole industry could so expand that raisins, preserved and dried figs, crystallised fruits, angelica, dried fruits, melon ginger, Chinese chow-chow, etc., could all be made from freshly-picked fruits right on the premises. With such works there is practically no waste; all fruits over each day's demand for distributing markets are on each day bottled, canned, preserved, dried, or crystallised.

With our growing education in agriculture there should be no limit to our powers of supply and export; and though agriculture generally is the work for men, surely fruit-growing and preserving is an ideal employment for women.

I know two enterprising gentlewomen who are making quite an enviable income with their fruit-growing and fowl-rearing. They employ several women workers, and though they began in a very small way their fruit and fowls each year lead them in wider ways. They at first expanded with fear and trembling, but now they are quite experienced in enlarging their land, their number of workers, their homestead, their enterprise.

There is, indeed, a well-paying hobby in fruit-farming for a company of clever women with capital; there would be ultimately interesting, congenial employment for some thousands of women workers.

There is a fruit called the tree tomato, which is most delicious. The trees are very prolific, and are highly profitable. The fruit is also delicious stewed, and could not fail to be appreciated when known. Such a fruit farm could introduce this fruit to great advantage, especially as it ripens when our summer fruit is almost over. It would grow luxuriantly in this climate. Other scarce fruits, such as red and white raspberries, mulberries, red, white, and black currants, would also be grown; nuts—filberts, almonds, and walnuts—and there would be, of course, a strawberry garden. The fences could all be utilised for blackberry and ungrafted cherry hedges. No cherries are so good for tarts, pies, conserves, or jams as the ungrafted cherry.

There is practically no limit to the usefulness and development of such a farm. For instance, there could be added a sauce and pickle factory, a tomato and green pea canning department, a fruit tart specialty department, an apiary, and an afternoon-tea fruit garden. There would be also a system of collecting empty bottles and cases, with a plant for scouring, with drying racks, etc.

Would it be beyond the scope of the University, the Hawkesbury College, or the Technical School to make women proficient in the sciences necessary? To women workers seeking a remunerative field for their work this scheme of fruit-farming is to be commended.

PUCK'S GIRDLE.

I'll put a girdle round about the earth in forty minutes.—"Midsummer Night's Dream."

At the world convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, to be held in Glasgow this year, Sydney will be represented by Mrs. A. J. Nolan and Mrs. H. Dixon, who leaves by R.M.S. Moldavia to-day. The world convention is held every three years in different capitals, and to it come women of every nationality. One day during the session is usually set aside for less serious purposes, when the delegates from different countries appear in the national dress of their own lands.

The Young Women's Christian Association in Sydney is once again broadening its sphere of activity in its educational department, which has just issued a prospectus of the classes to be held during the coming winter. The object of this department is to give girls in business an opportunity of improving their education at a small cost, and the new syllabus includes classes in German, English, English literature, spelling, and arithmetic, as well as physical culture and such technical subjects as dressmaking and millinery. The department is under the supervision of Miss Hilda Alexander, B.A., with a strong consulting committee to support her, and the association expects to do useful work in this direction.

The committee of the Norland Training Fund have decided on something quite uncommon for their ball, to be held next month. It is to be a plain dancing ball, with no fancy sets and no procession, but plenty of time and space for all to enjoy the dancing. The attractions for the gallery will be provided by Mr. Harry Rickards, but will be over before the dancing begins.

News comes from Edinburgh that Dr. Kate Hogg, who was working for some time in London at skin diseases, has now a post at the Edinburgh Royal Infirmary as clinical assistant to the skin department. It is Dr. Hogg's ultimate intention to return to Sydney, but before doing so she means to gain her knowledge at the best sources. With this object she goes to Paris at the end of this month, then to Vienna, and finally to Italy, where the climate and conditions are so like our own that she expects to get valuable experience.

"E. H." writes from Gundagai:—When I read "The Bead Lady's" story of the Children's Hospital it called to my mind a small boy, who was a patient there last July, and whose memories of the bead lady rank among his sweetest. He sits and chats of sister and nurses and doctors, but the bead lady was a fairy, who came every Tuesday, and whose visits made him happy till mother came on Sunday. The bead lady little knows how her work of love is appreciated, and that is why I am writing this, for this little boy will always remember her, and her little gifts; and how many more are there who will do the same?

There is no doubt that children learn more quickly and to a more lasting purpose by the medium of stories than by cut and dried history works full of dates and lists of battles and accessions. In recognition of this fact, the Board of Education in Massachusetts has appointed an instructor in the art of story-telling. The post has been given to a woman who had previously made a reputation for herself in the educational world by her talents in this direction. History and geography will be the main lessons taught by this method, though many other things could be equally well taught by a series of word pictures. Natural history, for instance, is undoubtedly made more attractive to childish minds by means of fairy tales about beasts and flowers than by any text books.

Plain but tasty dishes are now to be seen at luncheon in some of our smartest houses, says the "Queen." Of these are Scotch broth, Irish stew, fresh herrings, calf's head, sheep's trotters, braised beef, and boiled chicken; also simple sweets, such as jam rolypoly, pancakes, suet puddings, and rice and sago. Cheese in various forms is in high favour; brown bread and oatmeal cakes are eaten, and dessert often consists simply of pears, apples, and oranges. Plain food is no doubt good for health, and French chefs in Mayfair may turn this "farmhouse fare" into most tempting comestibles.

THE TRAIL OF THE WEST.

It is extraordinary how people who have picturesque national costumes, which have been worn in their countries for generations, will discard them for the unbecoming garments of the western European, no matter how foolish they may look in them. It is no doubt a sign of the power of the stronger race, but it is an artistic pity to see a dainty Japanese lady discard her kimono for a Paris frock, or an Indian rajah put by his gorgeous robes for the frock coat of London. The habit seems to be spreading to the farthest corners of the earth, and even Uganda has not escaped from the trail of the tailor. An Englishwoman who was present at a native wedding in Uganda sends an amusing account of it to an English women's paper.

"The wedding to which I was invited was quite a notable one, as the bride was the daughter of the Prime Minister of Uganda, and the bridegroom the principal chief of a neighbouring province. The match was one of double interest, as not only was this the first couple of any importance who have been educated by the missionaries, the girl having been at the High School for Girls, and the boy at a school for chiefs' sons, but also this was the first time that any Buganda of note had married out of her own country.

"The morning of the wedding was heralded by the beating of drums and the blowing of horns, the bridegroom's band having come to do honour to their chief, and soon after breakfast I made my way to the cathedral, where the ceremony was to take place. The crowds of natives hurrying along the roads showed what an interest the people were taking in the event, but just as a big wedding at home attracts the fair sex in great numbers, so it was the same thing here, the far greater proportion of sightseers being women.

"Arrived at the cathedral, I made my way to my seat in the chancel, and looked down the long nave at the swarms of natives squatting on the ground (there are no pews for them), the women one side of the aisle and the men the other. I had not long to wait before a stir announced that something was happening, and, looking down the aisle, I saw the bridal party approaching; but, to my horror, instead of seeing, as I had fondly imagined, a young girl in her native dress, I saw, advancing slowly on her father's arm, an apparition in a white muslin frock of unmistakably European cut, brown shoes, and, to crown all, a tulle veil covering her shaven head and hiding her blushing (!) face. I thought she had a most sullen expression, and she took no apparent interest in anything; but I was told that it is bad form for a Buganda woman to show any emotion on her wedding day, and the more self-control she displays the more she is to be admired. Several of the women of the bridal party wore the most horrible clothes. I suppose they fondly imagined they looked like Englishwomen in them. I noticed particularly a vision in grass-green cotton-backed satin, another in scarlet satin with black spots, and yet another in orange silk, with a bright pink silk scarf. The bridesmaid wore a tight-fitting royal blue velvet coat and a heavy black cloth skirt. I noticed that she mopped herself frequently during the service, so think she must have been suffering for being beautiful. All the women in European dress had little smoking caps embroidered in tinsel on their shaven heads. Evidently the 'Merry Widow' hat has not penetrated here yet, and if it ever does I think the only possible way of keeping it on will be by an elastic under the chin, as these people keep their heads so closely shaved that a hatpin would be useless."

FREAK PARTIES.

There seems to be absolutely no limit to which some hostesses will not go in order to entertain their guests. The latest atrocity in freak parties comes from America, where a "topsy-turvy" dance was the sensation provided by an enterprising hostess. Everything was reversed; magic mirrors surrounded the ballroom; each guest had his name written backwards, pinned on his back; he danced backwards to the supper-room, where he found that his partner was expected to sit on the buffet, while he brought her an ice or lobster salad from a sofa or arm chair, where the supper was spread. The supper itself was served backwards, beginning with black coffee, and ending with soup, and probably some of the less robust guests wished that they had followed out the spirit of the entertainment, and said their good-byes before the party began at all.

There is something about this wild craving to be "different" at any cost that would be pathetic if it were not so contemptible. The energy which the hostess must have spent in carrying out her topsy-turvy evening was worthy of a better cause, and yet it is doubtful whether any of her guests enjoyed it as much as if it had been an ordinary dance. But her guests' enjoyment does not seem to be the thing aimed at by the smart American hostess; novelty and originality are the only desirable things, and to this end all else is sacrificed. We read of Neptune parties, where men dressed as sailors, fish from a staircase for their partners, who appear as mermaids and Undines, but the smart hostess does not yet seem to have arrived who has the daring to entertain her guests simply with conversation and a little good music. Perhaps it is rather too much to expect in these days, but the habit of meeting people and talking to them intelligently was once very popular amongst both hostesses and guests.

A GIRLS' SCHOOL LIBRARY.

To cater for the many and varied tastes of seven hundred girls, ranging in years from 10 to 20, requires on the part of the librarian a very watchful eye as to what is best both to stimulate the mind and to arouse the imagination of our future Australian womanhood.

Tastes vary, and in nothing more than in books. It requires never-ceasing vigilance on the part of the librarian to be quite certain that no literature of the doubtful class finds its way on to the school library shelves. The plan adopted by the writer is to submit practically every new book to the critical censorship of other members of the staff, who are the best judges of what should and what should not be given to girls to read.

Perhaps the new education is responsible for the great change that I find taking place in girls' reading at present. The American novel, with its exquisite printing, dainty pictures, and air of general delicacy, has become a general favourite among modern schoolgirls, to the neglect of certain so-called standard types of novels.

Though the library at present in my mind contains a complete set of the works of Emma Jane Worboise, yet the girls will not read these books. Asking one girl why, she replies, "They're too goody-goody."

Who is the favourite girls' author then? The run on the novels of Rosa N. Carey is still as great as ever, and I think that she holds pride of place as girls' favourite. Many a girl last year expressed genuine regret when she learnt that that eminent novelist had passed to her long rest.

The sisters Turner, however, are ever the favourites of a large section of girls, one reason, I suspect, being that the stories are Australian in tone and sentiment. The demand for the latest novel of Lilian Turner, "The Perry Girls," is beyond belief. In fact, I have never had one copy (we possess three) on our shelves since the book was first published. Lilian Turner seems destined to supplant, or at any rate equal, her sister in youthful favour. Louise Mack, however, is very close up to the Turners in present-day popularity.

Of all the books in the library last year statistics show that "The Scarlet Pimpernel" was borrowed the greatest number of times, and though the succeeding volumes by the same author do not seem to have attained the same level of power and brilliancy, yet the popularity of the Baroness Orczy shows her star is not yet on the wane. "The Elusive Pimpernel" is a great favourite.

Another general favourite among modern Australian girls is Mrs. De Horne Vaizey. Peggy Savile and Pixie O'Shaughnessy are as household words to multitudes of Australian girls.

The hardest task of all, I find, it to provide books for young girls. Amy le Feuvre is a prime favourite, while the writers of girls' school stories will never fail to find readers. Yet the ideal school story for girls remains to be written. I know no writer of school tales for girls who deserves to stand in the same rank as Talbot Baines Reed, with his "Fifth Form at St. Dominic's," or with Andrew Horne or the Rev. H. C. Adams, these famous writers of boys' school stories. The fame of L. T. Meade is an assured one, and among other writers whose work should always find a place on the shelves of a girls' school library are Raymond Jacberns and Ethel Heddle.

I have always been of opinion that it is not necessary to stock a library entirely with that class of books known as "Juveniles." Hence, just to see what the result would be, I placed several volumes of the works of John Oxenham and C. N. and A. M. Williamson in the library. They sprang into favour at once, and as their moral tone is of the purest, I think the experiment has justified its continuance and extension.

Now, what shall we say of the American novel for school girls? My advice is: Let each one be read carefully first. The majority of them may be described by the term "pretty," and so they are. A girl came up to my table the other day and said, "Have you any American books with pictures of pretty girls on the cover?" She was a senior girl, evidently in the sentimental age.

G. B. M'Cutcheon is a prime favourite among the elder girls, as is also Myrtle Reed, though none of her later works have the circulation of "Lavender and Old Lace," or "The Master's Violin." The tastes of the greater number of girls do not seem to be satisfied with the great classics. More's the pity. Scott does not appeal to them. In my experience of five years I have not found one girl in a hundred borrowing one of his novels, or a boy, either, for that matter. Long descriptive passages seem to worry them. Far more copies of the individual plays of Shakespeare are borrowed than of the Waverley Novels. Thackeray for some reason or other has a somewhat greater demand than Scott. The popularity of Dickens, however, shows no great decline. It seems a bounden duty of the Australian as well as of the British born to be familiar with the characters of Dickens.

Boys' books of the school-tale type are just as popular among girls as among boys, while one girl to my certain knowledge borrowed a book by Ballantyne or one by W. H. G. Kingston every week for close on a year, and could not be persuaded to try any other variety. Some girls, too, are only to be satisfied with Indian yarns of the E. S. Ellis type.

My experience goes to prove that girls up to, say, 17 or 18 years, have no great liking for the professedly humorous book. They care not for Jacobs, or Mark Twain, or Jerome K. Jerome; but the elder girls do like such excellent stories as those by J. C. Lincoln.

Few girls borrow works of the poets. Why is this? I cannot give a solution, unless it lies in the fact that the reading matter supplied in the schools is nearly half poetry, or that the editions of the poets are now so cheap that a girl, learning to love a poet, prefers to have her own copy of his works. Personally, however, my own opinion is that up to the age of about 20 very few girls, as also very few boys, read poetry for pleasure. The fact remains true, anyway, that, except Shakespeare, the editions of the poets might as well not be on the shelves of the school library for all the use that is made of them.

THERE IS A GOOD REASON

why, when ordering MILK ARROWROOT BISCUITS for your children, you should be careful to ask for ARNOTT'S, and see the name ARNOTT stamped on every biscuit.

And the reason is simple. ARNOTT'S ARE THE BEST, and the children should always have the best.

BUILDING MATERIALS.

12 SQUARE FEET OF WUNDERLICH METAL CEILINGS WEIGH SIX POUNDS.

The small cost of freight of Wunderlich Metal to the country is seen in the fact that 12 square feet of it weigh only 6lb—considerably less than wood or plaster.

The sheets are packed flat, and so well packed that they cannot be damaged in transit.

This is another advantage to country residents buying Wunderlich Ceilings. Besides, any local tradesman can fix them quickly and cheaply.

SOIL CULTURE.

PEACOCK'S SYSTEM DISPROVED.

The Department of Agriculture has made available, through the "Agricultural Gazette," the results of experiments made at the Coolabah, Wagga, and Glen Innes State farms to test the system of cloddy surfaces advocated by Mr. R. W. Peacock, manager of the Bathurst Experimental Farm. This system, which Mr. Peacock claims to have adhered to at Bathurst for some years with satisfactory results, was made public at Brisbane at a meeting of the Australian Advancement of Science Association last year, and was fully commented upon in these columns. We pointed out that while the system advocated was opposed to orthodox methods as found most successful in conserving moisture and obtaining best results with a light rainfall by careful cultivation, Mr. Peacock's official position rendered it imperative that the matter should be investigated in order that there should be unanimity in the teaching of the officers of the Department of Agriculture, more especially as the department did not seem anxious to take responsibility in the matter. Subsequently arrangements were made for the experiments referred to, and results now published show that Mr. Peacock's system is not as effective as the methods hitherto advocated, and by him condemned.

The results at Coolabah, the most suitable centre for experiments in dry-farming, are thus summed up by Mr. Sutton, the manager:—"In every case the yield from the cloddy plots was less than that from the tilled plots. The difference in favour of the tilled plots ranged from 20 per cent. to 66 per cent. In the face of the results obtained there are no grounds for believing that, in dry districts, of which Coolabah is representative, the best results will follow from the adoption of a system which provides for the maintenance of rough cloddy surfaces, and which dispenses with such cultivation of the fallowed land as is necessary to reduce it to the generally recognised orthodox tilth, and to keep it loosely mulched. From a Coolabah standpoint, the rainfall during the growing period of the experiment was good, and amounted to 6.55 inches." A perusal of the complete report shows that the experiments were made carefully and faithfully. Indeed, in order to ensure the greater contrast between the fine tilled and cloddy surface, the former plots were worked more than would be the case in actual practice. Necessarily, the cost of operations was greater, but that was more than recompensed by the heavier yields. It is noteworthy that on the tilled plots the seed germinated more quickly and regularly than on the cloddy surfaces. At Wagga the local methods resulted in a better yield than that obtained from the cloddy surfaces. The value of the comparison was diminished by the fact that in all cases the land was inadvertently harrowed once, and, as the report states, "Thus the seed-bed was more compact, and the results from the rougher cultivation were better than they would have been if instructions were literally carried out." At both Wagga and Coolabah the subsurface compressor introduced by Mr. Peacock, and esteemed a highly-important improvement by him, was a failure. In the west and Riverina therefore, where dry-farming methods are essential if the wheatgrower is to obtain best results year in and year out, the results of these trials are against the cloddy surface system.

On the other hand, at Glen Innes the latter system was most successful, but conditions rendered this trial of no value as far as proving its worth as regards retention of moisture, growth of weeds, and general capacity, as Mr. Peacock was advocating methods of dry-farming. It remains now to be seen whether the department considers it necessary that further trials should be made, as in fairness to any method it must be admitted that one season hardly furnishes a positive judgment. The only thing is that in this case previous experience is simply confirmed. As will be seen from a report appearing in these columns on Saturday last, Mr. Peacock secured very good results at Bathurst last season, where it is claimed the whole of the area was worked under his system. In that case of course it included a system of mixed farming, of stock grazing, and rotation of crops. It would be interesting to ascertain by comparative experiment whether, given the same sound practice, even better results would not be obtained by closer cultivation. It may be taken for granted that Mr. Peacock does not consider the evidence against his system conclusive, although probably in that respect he will stand alone amongst agricultural experts.

ITEMS.

Up to £61 per head was paid recently for draught horses in Riverina.

At a clearing sale near Young recently £32 was paid for a draught yearling colt and £41 for a two-year-old draught gelding.

Farmers with suitable country should find it profitable to secure good draught sires for breeding purposes.

It is proposed to form a Sheepowners' Federation for New Zealand. A conference of sheepowners' associations will be held for this purpose shortly.

The rapid development in the wheatgrowing industry should result in the improvement of draught stock, as growers realise that it pays to buy good staunch horses.

Official veterinary inspection at agricultural shows is having a marked effect. Where formerly a dozen stallions would compete, in some cases only two or three are paraded. In draught horses particularly there seems to be a large proportion rejected.

The highest yield of oats reported from New Zealand for the season was 80 bushels per acre, at Mid-Canterbury, and 63 bushels of wheat, in North Canterbury.

There are enormous wheat stacks at the different railway stations in the wheat country, and people are wondering when the railways will be able to shift them. Judging by the present rate of progress, it is feared all the wheat will not be trucked before next harvest.

During the last two years 900 tons of wattle-bark have been taken out of Nangutta, in the Bega district, averaging £9 per ton.

At the annual distribution of prizes at the Bathurst Experimental Farm by the manager, Mr. R. W. Peacock, Student Farran Ridge was awarded first prize for botany; Student Fisher, second; Student Farren Ridge, special agriculture, first; Student Ashworth, practical agriculture, first; Student Little, second; Student Wood, theory agriculture, first; Student T. A. Bell, second; Student Spencer, practical orchard work, first; Student Holmes, theory, orchard work, first.

An experiment with tub ensilage on Mr. S. P. Wilson's Carrah farm, at Jerilderie, carried out under departmental instructions, has met with success. The silo was filled in October with oats and field peas mixed. The ensilage turned out in splendid condition, being succulent and juicy.

The tearooms and refreshment rights for the Royal Easter Show, which begins on March 22 next, will be offered by auction by Messrs. W. Inglis and Son at the Showground this afternoon at 2.30.

Messrs. Hain and Searight, of Sydney, have effected the sale of Ulamambri station, near Coonabarabran, comprising 16,600 acres freehold and 31,400 acres improvement leases, on behalf of Messrs. T. D. and J. P. Rogers, to Mr. M. Ingle Browne, of Crowther station, Young.

INFLUENCE OF SIRE.

Dairy farmers will be keenly interested in an article by the Government Dairy Expert, Mr. M. A. O'Callaghan, in the "Agricultural Gazette" dealing with a series of experiments in breeding.

The article gives for the first time, as far as we can find out, the definite results and yields obtained by the continual mating and crossing the different purebred animals of different breeds.

The main lessons furnished by the experiments are:—(1) The wonderful influence of the sire on the milking characteristics of his progeny; (2) the comparatively small influence of the dam on the milk-yielding powers of its progeny; (3) the inability of a heavy milk yielding cow to convey through her sons her deep milking characteristics; (4) the ability of a purebred sire, well bred on both sides for a number of generations from a dairy point of view, to cross milk into beef cattle in one generation; (5) the great value of the Guernsey as a sire for the purpose of mating with Shorthorn cattle of any strain.

The results of the mating of the beef cow Bella with three bulls of different breeds must rank amongst the finest educational series of stock experiments which have ever been published. In this case, a beef cow that averaged on the best of pastures only 3890lb of milk for the three years under observation, when crossed with a Guernsey bull produced a cow that on her third calf gave 8720lb of milk, or a butter yield of 401lb in one season. Further crosses prove that this was not what breeders would call a "sport."

When the same beef cow was mated with the imported Ayrshire bull Daniel the progeny gave 6417lb of milk in an ordinary milking period of 300 days. Significant, then, is it to learn that with the mating of this same cow with that fine dairy Shorthorn bull Dora's Boy the progeny, a nice cow to look at, while she exceeded her mother's results, only gave 4250lb of milk on her second calf, and the milking period was a short one, viz., 215 days. The greatest discrepancy is shown in the quantity of butter, which was only 163lb on her second calf and 179lb on her first calf, as against 345lb by the Guernsey cross on her second calf and 407lb on her third calf. Here is shown the great influence of the specialised dairy breeds, the Guernsey and the Ayrshire, as against the dairy Shorthorn bull, whose mother was a very high-class cow, and whose father got heifers of fair milk yielding powers when mated with crossbreds.

Practically speaking, results show the line of milk is carried through the sire, and not through the dams. Educational, therefore, as the experiments are up to this point, the lesson is driven home more strongly by the results of the mating of two pure-bred dairy Shorthorns, Lady Dort and Honey 110th (imp.). Taking Lady Dora, we see in her yields evidences of a great cow, she having given as much as 9560lb of milk in a season. One of her progeny by a Shorthorn bull gave only on her third calf 2803lb, and her second heifer by a different Shorthorn bull gave also a very poor yield, but she died too young to get a full milking period. It would thus have appeared that Lady Dora was incapable of throwing good dairy heifers, but it is found that when mated with a bull of great dairy characteristics, viz., Peter (imp.), a Guernsey, the progeny, a cow named Doreen, has given an average of just under 700 gallons of milk per year during her first five years, although on one of these she slipped a calf, and on her fifth calf she gave as much as 7776lb of milk in 280 days. Nothing could go to support the influence of the sire, which would show in the mating with the beef cow, which would be calculated to drive home and establish the theory that the sire is the main influence in milk getting, than do these results with Lady Dora. She shows clearly that, no matter how good the sow is, unless the bull with which she has been mated is a true dairy sire on both sides, the results will be poor.

Similar results were obtained by mating the imported Honey 110th with different bulls. Here is a fair cow herself, with rather a tendency to beef, and when mated with a Shorthorn bull results were poor, but when mated with the Guernsey bull Peter the tendency to beef is crossed out, and a dairy cow is produced that gives on her fifth calf as much as 7205lb of milk, which made 383lb of butter.

In this there is a very pointed lesson for those farmers who choose a bull from a great milker, without questioning the dairy abilities of the sire with which she has been mated to any extent. How many farmers engage bulls out of cows which they see putting up good performances at the show, when it is evident that it would be much better for them to look along the line of young cows, find out the name of the sire that got the big milkers, and engage a bull by him out of any fair cow of the same breed.

MODEL DAIRY FARM.

GOOD RETURNS FROM SMALL AREA.

BELLINGEN.—Mr. Robert Scott, who works about 110 acres of the Raleigh estate, at Central Raleigh, under lease from the owner, Mr. F. T. Matthews, carries on farming on very practical and business-like lines, and during his 15 years' residence on the place has achieved very satisfactory results, in spite of a heavy rental. He is a staunch believer in artificial manures, and by their help has harvested some fine crops of maize, potatoes, and various kinds of fodder from small acreages. Having only a small area at his disposal, he has perforce to keep every acre in constant use, hence artificial manures have been of great service. Mr. Scott's dairy herd is a model one, and will bear comparison with anything on the coast for its size; indeed, he has offered to pit it against any in the district. Every beast in the herd has had to undergo the test of proficiency before retaining its place in the milking yard, for the owner goes in for bookkeeping in connection with his farming pursuits, and knows exactly what each cow is capable of. The milk from each one is tested periodically. The milking herd comprise 43 cows and heifers, which, for the 12 months ended June last, earned for their owner £324 8s 11d, or £7 10s 10d per cow for the year. The yield of butter was 8191lb, the average price paid for it at the factory being only 8 7-8d per lb, which makes the return an excellent one. Apart from this was the milk kept back for household use, while special calves are fed on new milk for certain periods, until they become strong enough to thrive on the skim milk, the milk used for both sources representing more than the product from one cow continuously. During the month of January 33 cows were milked, and yielded 1066lb of butter, which, being paid for at the factory on the basis of 8d per lb, represented an average return of £1 1s 6½d per cow; and some of them had been then in milk for 12 months. At the recent Bellingen show Mr. Scott secured 10 first and six second prizes, with 14 head of cattle. Besides these, he would not run the risk of injury through driving his best cow, equal to the best in the district, the 18 miles to the showground, she being then in full milk; and had also left at home a two-year-old heifer, which had just given birth to her first calf, and yielded 19lb of milk at one morning's milking. Mr. Scott augments his income by pig-raising and the sale of young stock.

LAND SETTLEMENT.

The Land Settlement Association, which has its headquarters at Wagga, has added the following clauses to its platform (the first portion has already been published):—"All timber on any living area to be the property of the settler, but a certain portion must not be destroyed; elective land boards on the basis of universal suffrage; the establishment of a State Guarantee Bank in connection with closer settlement—not to make actual monetary advances, but to assist the settler by guaranteeing his expenses on absolutely necessary requirements, such as building, fencing, water conservation, or stocking, the bank to hold a lien on all stock or improvements so purchased until recouped by the settler, with reasonable interest added; that the same price be charged to the incoming small settler as was previously charged to the larger holder, as the two-priced system at present in vogue is unfair to the struggling man and inimical to the interests of the State."

THE POTATO CROP.

GOULBURN.—The representative of a Sussex-street firm who visited Crookwell last week was pleased with the appearance of the potato crops he had time to see. As since then good rain has fallen, the crop is likely to be very satisfactory. As there is a large falling-off in the acreage under potatoes in Tasmania, a good yield from Crookwell will be acceptable to the State.

ORANGE.—The rainfall of Sunday amounted to from 180 to 220 points in the district. The early potatoes are regarded as done, but the late fall will make every difference to the late crops. These are now looked upon as saved.

THE VINTAGE.

ALBURY.—The vintage in this district this season will be considerably below the average owing to the droughty conditions which prevailed during the past four or five months. The area under vines is slightly less than last year, the decrease being due to phylloxera, drought, and neglect. Very little trouble has been caused by pests or diseases. For large crops the season has been too dry. The grapes are small, and the skin is so tough that the berries will not crush properly. There is also dearth of sugar. It is probable that the yield will be one-third less than last year, owing to the drought. The average yield in this district is about one ton of grapes—equal to about 140 gallons of wine—to the acre, but there will be considerably less this year. Several of the principal growers commenced picking this week, but others had been holding off in hope of rain. A change took place on Sunday, and the fall (already about an inch and a half, with promise of more) should prove of value. There is a fair local consumption of wine, but comparatively little exported. The demand for sweet wines which set in since federation is still growing. There are no labour troubles so far. Pickers (boys) get from 2s 6d to 3s per day, and pressers 30s per week.

SHORTAGE OF TRUCKS.

MOLONG.—Shortage of railway trucks is being severely felt at both Molong and Manildra, more especially at the latter place, where some 65,000 bags are stacked, the majority of them being entirely exposed to the weather. Trucks are almost unprocurable for despatching small consignments of chaff. The stacking of wheat is a dead loss to the farmer, as he has to pay demurrage fees, and also charges for rehandling the wheat when trucks are available.

HEAVY FRUIT.

PARKES.—A bunch of grapes (ladies' fingers) has been gathered by Mr. C. T. Loader, Parkes, weighing 3lb 6oz. Mr. Barber, of Balderadgery, has forwarded an apple weighing 1lb 2oz, but Mr. Massuat, of Bumbury, has beaten all previous local records with an apple weighing 2lb. The season has been an exceptional one for fruit.

AGRICULTURAL SHOWS.

BOMBALA.

BOMBALA.—The fortieth show in connection with the Bombala Society was opened on Tuesday under fine weather conditions. On the previous day rain fell, putting the ground in nice order. The show on the whole is up to previous years' standards, although the indoor exhibits are scarcely as large as formerly. In the stock sections the sheep exhibits are excellent. The principal exhibitors are:—Maharatta, Bibbenluke, Gallagher's Plain Estates, John and Andrew Garnock, John Murphy, Andrew Stewart, and Andrew M'Keachie. Cattle exhibits are also very good, and quite up to former years. Exhibitors are:—Bibbenluke and Maharatta estates, R. Stevenson and C. Murphy. Poultry are not quite up to previous years in numbers, but the quality is good. Principal exhibitors are:—Wildash, Robbie, Leslie, and Newton. The exhibit of farm produce is excellent. Mr. J. Silver, of Towamba, has a splendid entry in this section. Other exhibitors include Joseph Groves, Trevanion and Bibbenluke estate. The fruit exhibit is good, exhibitors being L. Kimber, A. M'Keachie, and H. Badgery. In the ring events there are large entries, horses competing from Orbost, in Victoria, and several places on the South Coast.

MURRUMBURRAH.

MURRUMBURRAH, Tuesday.

The Murrumburrah P. A. and I. Association commenced its annual show on the new grounds to-day. The weather was dull and showery.

The president, Colonel Mackay, C.B., M.L.C., extended a welcome to the visitors, and Mr. J. Foley, honorary secretary, worked assiduously. One of the best features of the show was a splendid exhibition of farm horses. Five teams of four horses each competed, that owned by Mr. N. Graham, of Woodford, being placed first. Blood horses were weak, but some good quality stock was shown in the draught section. Competition was altogether lacking in the sheep section, Mr. McClung, of Murrumburrah, winning everything. The pavilion displays were not numerous, but samples of fruit and produce were of good quality. The society offered liberal prizes, totalling £60, for wheat competition, and better response might have been expected, although the number of samples shown were of excellent quality. Mr. W. Coddington, a local farmer, won first prize with an exhibit of Sutton's "Prolific," which weighed 65½lb. Messrs. Prevost Bros., of Moss Vale, won a special prize with their fine display of produce.

NEWCASTLE.

TO OPEN ON THURSDAY.

NEWCASTLE, Tuesday.

The Newcastle A., H., and I. Association is preparing for its annual show, to be held on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Extensive improvements have been carried out on the ground at Broadmeadow. Sixty-two new horse stalls have been added, and loosebox accommodation augmented. A large noticeboard has been erected in a prominent position, on which the results of the various events will be posted. The poultry pavilion has been improved and brought up to date, and additional accommodation provided for agricultural exhibits. The water main has been extended to the dog pavilion, and many minor improvements have been effected. The entries for this year total 3200, an increase of over 200 upon the previous best record. There is an increase of from 553 to 627 in the horse section, 90 in the pigeons, and there are also increases in the cattle, poultry, and agricultural sections. The president (Dr. Beeston, M.L.C.) and the committee have worked very hard to ensure a record show, and, given fine weather, there seems nothing to prevent their ambition being achieved.

PROPERTY SALE.

YOUNG.—Mr. John Tout has sold Barwang station, comprising 5000 acres freehold, together with 3500 sheep, to Fowler Bros., at a very satisfactory figure. The property has been in possession of the Tout family many years.

ECZEMA DEFIED HOSPITALS.

"I contracted my disease at school in London, England, when I was fourteen years old; I am now thirty-three. My father put me under the care of our family physician, who diagnosed my disease as itch. But after several months' treatment without receiving any benefit, I was advised to go to a hospital. I attended the —— Hospital, London. Then, and on two other occasions, without my getting any benefit, they treated me for eczema. My next attempt was trying different ointments from doctors and druggists. Then I tried patent medicines, including ——, ——, and ——.

"The disease was confined to face, arms, and legs, my face being actually raw at times. I came to America thirteen years ago, but my face became worse, if possible. When in New York City I was advised to go to —— Hospital, where I was put under the care of Professor ——, but this also added to the number of unsuccessful attempts. I returned home to England and tried the —— Hospital, Liverpool; the —— Hospital, London; also the world-famed London —— Hospital, but without getting cured. I then came back to America five years ago. I had overlooked the Cuticura Remedies dozens of times, but three months ago I decided to give Cuticura a trial, and I can safely say I am cured of one of the most torturing skin diseases a man ever had. Richard Curley, New Canaan, Conn., U.S.A., Jan. 10, 1909."

"I am familiar with Mr. Curley's case and his cure, and believe his statement to be true. John F. Burke, New Canaan, Conn."

THERE IS A GOOD REASON

why, when ordering MILK ARROWROOT BISCUITS for your children, you should be careful to ask for ARNOTT'S, and see the name ARNOTT stamped on every biscuit.

And the reason is simple. ARNOTT'S ARE THE BEST, and the children should always have the best.

MOTORING.

THE NEW REGULATIONS.

SOME CRITICISMS AND SUGGESTIONS.

(BY J. F. R. S.)

The three thousand or so motorists New South Wales is said to possess have awaited with anxiety the regulations, under the Motor Traffic Act, which have been so long in process of issue. Now that they are finally in the hands of the public, there will be a general feeling of relief that there is nothing in them which can seriously harm this important and rapidly growing industry, or unduly interfere with the practice of motoring as a legitimate branch of sport.

The regulations, now the law of the land, hold in fair measure the balance between the general public, whose rights and lives whilst on the roads have to be respected, and the motorists, whose right to use the highways is, under the common law, indisputable. We must not forget that unwise restrictive legislation retarded the motor industry in England by at least 10 years, and gave her foreign rivals a start which has, even now, only been partially regained.

It is true that there are provisions in these regulations which will not please some motorists, but the moderate driver must remember that these restrictions are aimed at the scorcher, and that it is necessary to sacrifice something in order to suppress this undesirable species of road hog. No good sportsman desires to encourage the vagaries of the speed-maniac, whose utter recklessness has, in the past, created bitter prejudice and done incalculable harm to the movement. One who has driven for years over the roads of the United Kingdom may safely say that the English motorist would willingly change his law for ours. The great concession, for which the English automobilist has striven for years, the abolition of the speed limit in the open country, has been freely granted in N.S.W. And to gain this the reasonable driver will quite willingly submit to a certain amount of restriction in towns and populous places.

The general 20-mile speed limit, imposed in Great Britain, has been the cause of more trouble, more police court prosecutions, and more class antagonism, than any other clause in the Act of 1903. It is noteworthy that, when the bill was introduced, it contained no speed limit clause; this was subsequently added in committee, very much against the wish of the framers. The outcome was that the police, instead of regulating the traffic in dangerous places, took advantage of this section to set hidden traps by the countryside, where a technical infringement of the law could do no harm to anyone. The motorists retaliated by forming the Automobile Association, which placed a small army of scouts on the road to give warning of these hidden traps. The result has been to create a strong and quite undeserved antagonism against self-propelled vehicles, and to divide the people sharply into two classes, motorists and anti-motorists.

This State is so far fortunately free from any class feeling of the kind, and it is most undesirable that it should be aroused. There being no speed limit in the open country, the police will have no temptation to strain their authority, and will be enabled to confine their attention to the regulation of traffic in the towns, placing upon the motorist the responsibility of driving with due regard to safety in less frequented places.

The first clause in the new Act defines this responsibility most clearly:—"Any person who drives a motor vehicle upon a public street negligently, furiously, or recklessly, or at a speed or in a manner which is dangerous to the public, shall be guilty of an offence." Here we have the whole duty of the motorist summed up in a paragraph, and, after this, regulations as to speed limits, etc., are mere confusing superfluities. When passing through a town no driver wishes, for his own sake—to put it selfishly—to go faster than is safe. But it is absurd to say, as the regulations do in effect, that any one speed is safe at all times. Everything depends upon the circumstances. After midnight it might be perfectly harmless to career along George-street at 20 miles an hour, but at midday 15 miles might be an exceedingly dangerous rate of speed. Yet the regulations, disregarding altogether time and circumstance, provide that no car shall, under any conditions, exceed 15 miles an hour within four miles of the General Post Office, within the boundaries of the city, or wherever, in accordance with the wishes of any municipality or shire, a notice board is erected limiting the speed.

The boundaries of many cities and towns include stretches of practically deserted road, so that, in these circumstances, the regulation will in many instances be reduced to a farce. It is not a good thing to make a regulation which is against the dictates of common sense and experience. If an example were needed, we might quote the case of London, where, with the greatest volume of traffic in the world, the police have consistently refused to apply for a speed limit. The theory of Scotland Yard, proved right by practice, is that the faster the traffic moves the less the congestion. The Sydney authorities have taken exactly the opposite view. Besides the 15-mile limit for straight-ahead driving, a four-mile limit is proposed for cars when turning corners, or six miles when crossing the intersection of streets. No more efficient method of blocking the traffic at these points could have been devised. The safest plan, when there is nothing in the way, is to get across an intersecting roadway as quickly as possible; the longer you take about it the greater the chance of accident. When the new taxis are running the absurdity of the regulation will soon become apparent. Imagine the case of a passenger who takes a cab, say, at the Circular Quay, to drive to the railway station. He will progress up Pitt-street by a series of jerks, accelerating up to 15 miles between the numerous intersecting thoroughfares, and braking down to six at all the crossings. The business man who wants to catch a train will not long stand such nonsense. In making traffic regulations it should always be remembered that a motor, equipped with powerful brakes, can be pulled up in half the space required by a horsed vehicle, which often has no brakes at all.

Apart from this conservative tendency to hamper city traffic, the regulations, taken as a whole, are excellent in their minor detail. All drivers will have to be licensed, and will have to prove their ability to manage a car before getting their license. This means, presumably, that applicants will have to be in full possession of their senses, and that the blind or deaf will not be permitted to enjoy the sport of motoring at other persons' risk. The age for a driving license is fixed at 18, which many will consider rather high; but it will at any rate have the desirable effect of preventing mere boys from handling cars in the streets—a practice which prevails to some extent here.

Motor cars, before being licensed, will be examined, and will be supplied with a number plate free of charge. This is quite needless generosity, for most private car-owners would greatly prefer to provide their own number. There is likely to be trouble over this regulation. The plate to be supplied is a big white affair, heavily mounted on a wooden board, and fitted with a lamp bracket. It is totally unsuitable for fixing at the rear of private motor vehicles. In many cases it would be most disfiguring to a handsome body, however well it might look on a cab. And in the case of cars which have their petrol tank at the back it would be difficult to fit. The natural method for these cars is to paint the number on the tank, and not to have a plate at all. It would have been better to leave the matter to the discretion of owners, letting them find their own plate or paint, as the case might be.

Only one plate is to be furnished for each car, and this is to be attached at the rear. No front number is required. Motorists need not complain, but the police will find their work seriously hampered by this omission. When a car is going fairly fast, it is often difficult to read the number at the back, especially if there is any dust about. The best plan is to get the number as the car approaches. The police will be unable to do this. If they have been warned to stop a car with a certain number they will be prevented from identifying it until it has gone past and is beyond their reach. This is a matter which should certainly be remedied, and the best solution would be to attach the numbers issued by the department to the front of each car, and to allow the owner to fix a corresponding number at the back in the manner best suited to his particular vehicle.

On the subject of marks there is another omission which is likely to cause serious inconvenience to agents and the trade generally. No provision is made for what are known as manufacturers' marks—that is, temporary numbers used only when a new car is being tried or being delivered to a customer. Thus every agent, before he can deliver a new car or even take it out for a test run, will have to pay a pound for registration. This will prove a serious tax upon the trade, and our motor-car merchants are not likely to submit to it tamely. Proper provision has been arranged for the temporary stay of visiting cars from other States, and this is a matter which might well be made the subject of an inter-state agreement, for as touring increases cars will constantly be running backwards and forwards across the border, and the existence of different regulations in each State will be, to say the least, inconvenient.

An excellent regulation prohibits the use of cars without their owner's consent. This should prevent what the Americans term "joy riding," a practice which has been the cause of many accidents. Chauffeurs in future will hardly risk taking their owner's cars out for the mere amusement of the thing.

There is one clause at the end which must have slipped through unintentionally. It provides that no car shall be driven "so covered in or constructed as to prevent the driver having sufficient view of the traffic following or on either side." This regulation if strictly enforced would bar every limousine or landaulette body, or even an open car with the Cape cart hood up. If a view to the rear was considered essential, why not have provided for a mirror on the dash? Many cars are already fitted with these useful appliances.

REGULATIONS GAZETTED.

SOME STRICT PROVISIONS.

The regulations framed under the Motor Traffic Act, 1909, were published in yesterday's "Government Gazette." The Act came into operation at the beginning of the year, and these regulations can be enforced at once. The duty of seeing that the Act and regulations are observed is cast upon the police. In the execution of his duty a policeman can give such reasonable directions to persons driving motor vehicles upon any public street as may, in his opinion, be necessary for the safe and efficient regulation of the traffic. The issue of licenses is referred to in the following terms:—

A license shall not be granted to any person—(a) to drive a motor vehicle, other than a motor cycle, who is under the age of 18 years; or (b) to drive a motor cycle who is under the age of 16 years; and (c) unless the Inspector-General is satisfied in each such case that such person is capable of driving the vehicle with safety to the public.

The Inspector-General may, at his discretion, refuse a license to any person who—(a) has been convicted of being drunk whilst driving a motor vehicle or of furiously or recklessly driving the same; or (b) is in his opinion unfit to hold a license.

Provided that a permit license may be issued for any period not exceeding one month to any person of the prescribed age to learn to drive a motor vehicle. Such permit may limit the hours and locality in which such learner may drive such vehicle.

Provided also that whilst such learner is driving a motor vehicle other than a motor cycle in a public street a licensed driver shall occupy the seat next to such learner. No person to whom a permit license has been issued shall drive a motor vehicle in a street otherwise than in accordance with such permit license.

The fee for a permit license shall be two shillings and sixpence.

Motor vehicles must comply with requirements which are specifically defined in a schedule. Each certificate of registration or license is for a year, unless suspended or cancelled meanwhile. The names of licensees are to be kept at district registries. Therefore changes of address must be notified. Number plates must not be changed without the special permission of the Inspector-General of Police. Notification of the sale of a vehicle must be given to the registry within seven days, and alterations have to be notified. The owner of a motor vehicle must, before permitting any person to drive it, cause the license of such person to be produced. The owner of a heavy motor vehicle shall cause to be painted on it in plain black letters, one inch high—(1) the name and address of the owner; (2) the registered weight of such vehicle unladen, and if a trailer is attached thereto, cause to be placed or painted upon the rear of such trailer the registered number of vehicle of the same size and colour as the number plate of the vehicle.

WHAT DRIVERS MUST DO.

Sections 4 and 5 of the regulations set out what drivers shall, and shall not, do. It is provided that drivers upon a public street shall do the following:—

1. Keep the motor vehicle as near as practicable to the footpath on his left side.
2. When meeting a horse or vehicle pass on his left side of the same.
3. When overtaking a horse or vehicle, pass upon the right side of same, and not pull over to the left side until his vehicle is clear of such horse or vehicle, or of any horse attached to any vehicle.
4. Before stopping drive the vehicle close to the footpath and parallel thereto.
5. When about to stop or turn a corner, raise his hand or give some intelligible signal of his intention visible to any person immediately following.
6. At all times observe and comply with any reasonable direction of any member of the police force as to—(a) the manner of approaching to and departing from any place; (b) the manner of taking up or setting down passengers or loading or unloading goods; (c) the regulation of traffic.
7. Upon any member of the police force holding up his hand or otherwise giving an order or direction, stop so long or proceed in such a manner and direction as constable shall deem necessary.
8. At the reasonable direction of any member of the police force remove his vehicle from where it is standing, and either remove it from the vicinity or proceed to some adjacent portion of such street, or of some neighbouring street indicated by such member of the police force.
9. Abstain from going upon any street closed against traffic.
10. Cause the vehicle to be drawn as near as practicable to the footpath on his left side of the street and parallel thereto and brought to a standstill and remain stationary as long as may be reasonably necessary—(a) on the approach of and during the passage of any fire engine, reel, or other vehicle apparently proceeding in charge of a fireman to a fire; (b) at the request of or signal by any person leading, driving, riding, or in charge of a restive horse; (c) whenever it is necessary to avoid impending danger or collision with any vehicle or animal. He shall also, if necessary, in the cases mentioned in paragraphs (b) and (c) stop the engine.
11. Before turning to the right from one street into another, drive parallel to the footpath upon the left side of the street which he is leaving until he is as near as practicable to the footpath on the left side of the street which he is entering.
12. Whenever necessary, by sounding the bell or alarm, give audible and sufficient warning of the approach or position of such vehicle to any person walking, riding, or driving upon a street.
13. Whenever such vehicle is stationary stop the engine so far as may be necessary for the prevention of noise: Provided that this paragraph shall not, except as provided in paragraph 10 of this section, apply to an enforced stoppage owing to the necessities of traffic or so as to prevent the examination or working of such machinery where such operation is necessary by any failure or derangement of the said machinery.

WHAT MUST NOT BE DONE.

Drivers of motor vehicles upon public streets must not do any of the following:—

1. Negligently or wilfully obstruct, hinder, or prevent the free passage of any person, vehicle, horse, cattle, or tram.
2. Push into or get out of the line or position fixed for vehicles or horses by any regulation or by any member of the police force.
3. Cause the motor vehicle to be drawn in front of or take precedence of any vehicle or horse which from its position has a prior right to take up or set down passengers or goods: Provided that no act done with the consent of or by the direction of any member of the police force shall be considered a breach of this paragraph.
4. Wilfully cause the motor vehicle to stand—(a) between the near side of a stationary tram, stopped for the purpose of taking up or setting down passengers, and the footpath. (b) Opposite the entrance of any street or across any passage, thoroughfare, or footcrossing. (c) Upon the intersection of any streets.
5. Leave the vehicle unattended in such a position as to obstruct the traffic or unreasonably cause inconvenience to any person.
6. Leave it without having taken due precaution against its being started in his absence.
7. Be guilty of any insulting misconduct.
8. Permit any person to drive the vehicle without the consent of the owner.
9. Cause the vehicle to travel backwards for a greater distance or time than may be requisite for the safety or convenience of any person.
10. Whilst driving such vehicle be in such a position that he cannot have control over it.
11. Cause or permit an undue amount of smoke to be projected from the exhaust or from any other part of the machinery.
12. Cause or permit the machinery to be worked in such a manner or a cut-out to be used on the exhaust pipe so as to cause undue noise.

THE RATES OF SPEED.

It is provided that no one shall drive a motor vehicle:—

1. At a rate faster than 4 miles an hour—(a) whilst turning the corner from any street into any other street within the metropolitan traffic district or within the boundaries of any city; (b) whilst passing on the near side of any tram car for the time being stopped for the purpose of taking up or setting down passengers; (c) where a sign is erected in accordance with these regulations notifying drivers to reduce speed to such rate.
2. At a rate faster than 6 miles an hour—(a) whilst crossing the intersection of any streets within the metropolitan traffic district or within the boundaries of any city; (b) upon any street where he has not a reasonable view of the road and traffic in the direction in which he is going.
3. At a rate faster than 15 miles an hour—(a) within a radius of 4 miles from the General Post Office; (b) within the boundaries of any city; (c) where a sign is erected in accordance with these regulations notifying drivers to reduce speed to such rate.
4. Between the hours of sunset and sunrise unless—(a) a lighted lamp is carried upon the off side or front, and such lamp is so made and carried as to show a bright white light in front of the vehicle; (b) a lighted lamp is carried upon the off side of the rear, and is so carried as to render easily distinguishable each figure on the number plate attached to such vehicle; Provided that this sub-section shall not apply to a motor cycle upon which the front light reflects upon the number plate: Provided also that if a trailer is attached to such vehicle the light shall be placed at the rear of such trailer instead of such vehicle in similar manner as provided for such motor vehicle.
5. Having more than one trailer attached thereto.
6. Having any trailer attached thereto unless—(a) such trailer is securely fastened close to the rear thereof; (b) the registered number of such vehicle of the same size and colour as the number plate is upon the rear of such trailer.
7. Unless an efficient bell or alarm is fixed upon some convenient part.
8. Unless efficient brakes are affixed upon some convenient part and upon the trailer attached, and unless such brakes are in a thoroughly serviceable condition.
9. Unless the steering gear is in thoroughly serviceable condition.
10. That is, so covered in or constructed as to prevent the driver from having a sufficient view of the traffic following and on either side.
11. Upon which appears any advertisement likely to frighten any horse.
12. Apparently used only for the purpose of exhibiting an advertisement.
13. Upon a footpath; unless the defendant proves that the vehicle was being driven directly across a footpath to or from a gateway or entrance, and, where the vehicle was so driven from such gateway or entrance, unless he further proves that some competent person preceded such vehicle and gave warning of the approach.
14. Without first obtaining the consent of the owner.

NOTICE BOARDS.

Provision is made for the appointment of temporary stands. Documents requiring to be signed by the Inspector-General can be signed by the superintendent. Notice boards regulating speed can be put up by the council of any municipality or shire on satisfying the Minister of the special circumstances necessitating the reduced speed. Such boards must be kept clear and legible, and erected on the near side of the street facing the approaching driver. For a 15-mile limit the disc must be painted white, 18in in diameter, and have the limit of speed in figures painted thereon.

PENALTY FOR BREACH.

Any person committing a breach of the regulations is liable to a penalty not exceeding £10. No person, however, shall be liable to a penalty for any breach if he proves to the satisfaction of the Court that such breach was the result of accident, or could not have been avoided by any reasonable efforts on his part.

It is provided that nothing in the regulations relating to the registration of motor vehicles and the affixing of number plates thereon, or to the licensing of drivers of such vehicles, shall apply in relation to any fire-engine, reel, or other similar vehicle, nor will anything in the regulations apply to any fire-engine, reel, or other similar vehicle, or to the driver thereof, while proceeding to a fire, provided that such driver shall give the best practicable warning so as to enable way to be made for such vehicle.

AGONY WITH A BAD LEG.

One Great Wound from Knee to Ankle—Zam-Buk's Wonderful Powers Again Prominent.

"Zam-Buk is a wonderful healer."

Powerful and conclusive proof of the wonderful soothing and healing powers that distinguish Zam-Buk is afforded in the case of Mr. A. G. Dalwood, foreman coachbuilder to Messrs. McCulloch, Combe, Green, and Co., of Wakefield-street, Adelaide. This gentleman, who is well known in cricketing circles, gives a graphic and descriptive account of his experiences with this one great and perfect healing balm, and testimony such as his should convince all readers that every home does indeed need Zam-Buk.

Mr. Dalwood resides in Chatham-road, Keswick, near Adelaide, and says:—"Out of gratitude for the great benefits myself and family have derived from Zam-Buk, it gives me pleasure to testify to its wonderful healing virtues. I received a terrible blow on the knee from a cricket ball, the pain from which was so great that I rolled on the ground in agony; my leg commenced to swell from the knee right down to the toes, and only those who have sustained similar injuries can imagine the agony I was in. I was taken home, and my wife bathed the leg with hot water and then rubbed Zam-Buk—a supply of which wonderful preparation we always keep in the house—into the leg as well as the pain would allow. Owing to the severity of the injury and the agony I was in, I slept badly that night, and in the morning I was positively frightened at the sight of my leg—it was one complete black, swollen mass from the knee to the ankle. My wife wanted to call in the doctor immediately, but I was determined to persevere with Zam-Buk and give it a fair trial, as it had never failed me in similar injuries on previous occasions. So my wife again dressed the wound with Zam-Buk. Towards night the pain eased, and I slept well. Zam-Buk reduced the swelling, and, continuing with its treatment, daily improvement was wonderful, and in one week from the day of the accident I was able to return to work; at the end of a fortnight there was not a mark to show where the injury had been. The rapidity of my recovery was remarkable, and the wonderful powers of Zam-Buk came as an eye-opener to the many friends who came to see me. There are many who cite my case as an example of the soothing, healing, and curative virtues of Zam-Buk, and I am personally one of its staunchest advocates.

"A previous experience I had with Zam-Buk was when a 6lb hammer fell from a bench on my foot. It caused a nasty, painful wound, but Zam-Buk healed it up completely in three days.

"A few weeks ago my daughter drove an axe into her foot, receiving a very painful wound, but after a week's treatment with our household friend, Zam-Buk, she almost forgot which foot was injured, so completely had Zam-Buk healed it."

HEALING—SOOTHING—ANTISEPTIC.

Zam-Buk is invaluable for eczema, ulcers, scalp diseases, ringworm, psoriasis, bad legs, inflammation, rashes, eruptions, pimples, sores, scabs, scales, piles, pains, swellings, chapped hands, sore faces, cold-sores, chilblains, cuts, burns, festerings, gatherings, poisoned wounds, children's sores, and all injured, diseased, irritated, inflamed, and unhealthy conditions of the skin and tissue. Of all Chemists and stores, at 1/6 and 3/6 per pot (3/6 holds nearly 4 times the 1/6), or post free from The Zam-Buk Co., 39 Pitt-street, Sydney.

Zam-Buk
THE GREAT SKIN-CURE.

WARNING!

Guard against substitution! Ask for Zam-Buk and insist on getting it. When a chemist or storekeeper tries to foist an ordinary ointment or salve on you with the explanation "It is just as good," beware! He is pushing it because he makes more profit out of it. There is nothing "just as good" as ZAM-BUK—nothing so soothing and healing, so pure, wholesome, & effective.

COSTLY CLAIMS.

BEFORE SOUTHERN COLLIERIES' BOARD.

OVER £42,000 INVOLVED.

In the course of his evidence before the Southern Collieries Wages Board yesterday, Mr. D. A. W. Robertson, manager of the Metropolitan Coal Company, and a member of the board, said he had prepared a list showing the cost to the Metropolitan Company of the different claims of the miners, assuming they were granted.

Mr. Firth (another representative of the proprietors): Would it not be better to give that in camera?

Mr. Robertson said he had thought so once, but he now considered it should be made public. He had already given the total amount as £42,000. The claim for yardage would amount to £336, safety lamps to £2629, deficiency places to about £5000, slabs to £2634, shift wages to £527, boys' wages to £339, back Saturday to £3100, and eight hours, bank to bank, £12,000. This latter figure was given assuming that the miners would accept the reduced earnings brought about by the operation of the new system. If, as he expected, a demand was made to bring the earnings with the reduced output to the present level, it would amount to £20,000. The small coal claim would amount to £3895, overtime to £533, throwing back spar, etc., £2886, water to about £500, high temperature to £729, conveying workmen to about £1500, waiting for skips, etc., to about £3000, wheeling skips to £2000, wheelers to £228, house-coal to £590, and double-shifted places to £138. This amounted practically to £42,000 per annum, without taking into account the capital cost of putting in a railway to convey workmen to the face, which would be between £15,000 and £20,000. His estimates were all moderate, as he was confident the men would screw the last possible drop of blood out of the mine-owners.

BULLDOG CLUB OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

The second annual meeting of the Bulldog Club of New South Wales was held last Wednesday at the Masonic Hall. The president, Mr. F. McWilliam, was chairman.

Mr. Patrick and Mr. Lapish were elected members of the club. The report and balance-sheet were adopted.

The report says that the Bulldog Club of New South Wales may now fairly claim to be the premier specialist club of Australasia. The membership has increased from 33 in 1908 to 41 in 1909 (paying and non-paying members). The financial statement shows that, with no liabilities, the club has a credit balance of £19 10s 10d.

During the past year the second parade of bulldogs was held by the club at Sunnyside, Kogarah. 62 dogs were judged by Mr. Woolnough, and a pleasant afternoon's outing was spent. The first club show on October 15 and 16 last was a record in entries and prizes for Australasia.

The club registrar reports that 150 names have been recorded. Mention is made of the club's affiliation with the Bulldog Club (Incorporated) of England.

The election of officebearers for the present year resulted as follows:—Patron, Mr. A. James, M.L.A.; president, Mr. F. M'William; vice-presidents, Mr. J. Gannon, M.L.C., Major F. W. C. Crane, Mr. J. J. Smith, Dr. O'Keefe; honorary veterinary surgeon, Major A. P. Gribben, M.R.C.V.S.; committee, Mrs. Freeman, Messrs. E. J. Hoskins, F. Walther, H. H. Barrell, A. W. Wilkins, O. W. Ehrlich, P. H. Crane, H. A. Woolnough, J. Perkins, and W. White; hon. auditors, Messrs. A. D. Boekemann and W. J. Hickey, Jun.; hon. treasurer and hon. registrar, Mr. A. W. Wilkins; hon. secretary, Mr. W. Macnamara.

The members of the club decided to recognise the services of its honorary secretary, Mr. W. M'Namara.

AUSTRALIAN TERRIER CLUB.

The Australian Terrier Club, now in existence seven years, and which was the first specialist club at that time in this State, held its annual meeting on Thursday evening last at the Lord Jersey Hotel. There was a good attendance, Mr. Geo. Johnson, president, being in the chair.

A letter was read by the hon. secretary from the private secretary to his Excellency the Governor (Lord Chelmsford), accepting with pleasure the position of patron.

The elections resulted as follows:—Mr. Geo. Johnson was for the second year elected president unopposed; vice-president (two nominations), Mr. W. Dyson elected; committee (eight nominations for the five seats), Messrs. J. Cosgrove, R. J. Thomas, L. Smith, S. Catlett, and F. Dyer were elected; hon. treasurer, Mr. W. Flockhart; hon. secretary, Mr. I. L. Moss, for the seventh year, unopposed.

The balance-sheet showed a balance of over £3 after all expenses had been paid.

Since Mr. Matthews left Sydney for Adelaide there has been a lull in the Chow Chow breed of dogs. It is therefore gratifying to know that Mr. W. Dunning, of Redfern, an old Yorkshire silky breeder, has decided to start a kennel of Chows. In another part of this issue he offers several well-bred puppies of the well-known Happy Jack strain.

There is now in Sydney quarantine an important addition to the local bulldogs. The newcomer is a brindle dog named Chineham Oxberry, and was whelped October 12, 1908. His sire is Mr. W. B. Cannon's champion Chineham Young Jack (sold to an American fancier for £1000), and his dam is Peggy Machee. The pedigree includes such well-known names as ch Persimmon, King Orry, Pixmore Black, Jack, and President Carnot. Oxberry was bred by L. Rosenthal, Brighton, England, and was purchased from H. St. John Cooper by his importers, Mr. F. W. Walther and Mr. J. Allison.

An important transfer took place last week when Mr. H. Moses, of Ashfield, disposed of his foxterrier bitch Glendon Mischief to Mr. R. S. Young, of Wanganui, New Zealand. Mischief is by imported Oxo, of Doncaster, ex Glendon Magpie (G. Chief—G. Pride).

Still they come. By the Pericles, which arrived in Sydney on Sunday from London, four dogs of quality came to the order of local fanciers. Mr. Anthony Hordern is the importer of three Airedale terriers, one of whom is the renowned champion Kitty Royal. Mr. H. Moses's consignment is the foxterrier Avon Myra, a daughter of champion Avon Oxendale and Avon Pippin. Myra's value is considerably enhanced by the fact that she whelped at Melbourne five dog and two bitch puppies by champion Oxonian.

OIL FUEL FOR THE NAVY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Referring to that part of your cable on this subject which reads: "In Australia and New Zealand, if accounts be true, there is enough petroleum to keep Great Britain fully supplied. Australasia is too far to furnish an efficient supply for industrial purposes, but it is just what is needed for maritime purposes. It is absolutely necessary to be able to replenish storage tanks at sources under our control." I would like to say a word on behalf of the New South Wales shale oil deposits. The Commonwealth Oil Corporation, which I represent, by the driving of miles of tunnel on the shale seam of the Blue Mountains, has exposed many millions of tons of first-class oil shale, and if it is a fair assumption that a seam which has been driven on and proved for a mile on each side of a mountain range will continue another mile or more, there are many more millions of tons available; and as every million tons will yield upwards of 100 million gallons of oil, then it is safe to say that the Commonwealth Oil Corporation alone can furnish all the liquid fuel necessary for maritime requirements in Australian waters.

Yet it occupies less than one-tenth of the known shale area of New South Wales. Moreover, there are shale seams in the other States, and large low-grade shale deposits in Tasmania now about to be developed. Altogether the "Economist" can be assured that the accounts are true that in Australia and New Zealand there is enough oil to keep Britain fully supplied. It is only a question of time, enterprise, and encouragement by tariff or bonus such as the oil industry receives all over the world, including the United States, which produces the greater part. It takes money to establish an oil industry in any country, particularly in Australia, where the oil has to be mined in a shale matrix and retorted. Already the Commonwealth Oil Corporation has spent one million sterling, and has much more money to spend before its magnificent equipment is complete.

It has proved the existence of millions of tons of high grade oil shale.

It has demonstrated the value of its oil products, and here we have further proof that there is an unlimited market for oil fuel. Yet this is the only great manufacturing industry in Australia which has no protection by bonus or tariff. True, protective duties were proposed in the original Deakin-Lyne tariff on kerosene, petrol, lubricating oils, and other oil products, but they were either rejected or so reduced as to be robbed of all protective effect. For instance, there is 1d per gallon duty on motor spirit, which sells at 1s 6d, and there is ½d per gallon on residual, which can only be protected at 1½d.

The cable also states that the difficulty is the necessity of depending on foreign sources, as the British Empire produces only 8 per cent. of the world's supply in petroleum. Our difficulty is to get the Commonwealth Government to see that there is no necessity for Australia to any longer depend on foreign sources of oil supply. We have our own, which are being developed, in spite of the extraordinary action of the last Federal Parliament, and it only wants the new Federal Parliament to remedy the mistake of the old for this company to go ahead with renewed energy, and for other companies to follow its example.

As the representative of a manufacturing industry whose wages bill is, I believe, greater than any other in the whole Commonwealth, I call upon one or more Australians in every Federal electorate throughout the Commonwealth to put to every candidate for the House of Representatives or Senate this simple question, "Are you in favour of establishing an Australian oil industry by bonus or tariff, or not at all?" Also to mark and send the answer to me.

I am, etc.,
H. S. LAND, Secretary,
Commonwealth Oil Corporation, Ltd.

THE ZOO.

MORE LAND WANTED.

A deputation from the Zoological Society of New South Wales, headed by Captain R. C. Ghest, president, waited upon the Lord Mayor yesterday, and asked that an increased area of Moore Park should be granted to them.

Captain Ghest said the work of the society was increasing, and the present area was quite inadequate. What they wanted was for the City Council to make them an offer of additional ground. It might be only a temporary measure until such time as they could secure some place more adapted to the requirements of the gardens, as well as convenient to the general public. The present site was as central as could be obtained, but the ground did not lend itself to the new ideas of housing the animals and birds, as well as other sites might do.

The Lord Mayor: What increased area do you want?

Captain Ghest: We have 15 acres now, and we want five more, making the total 20.

Mr. W. J. Green, treasurer, said the society recognised the fact that the present position of the Zoo. was a very central one. The attendance was increasing, and the difficulty of the society was to find proper room for the animals and the birds. He regretted to say that both the Melbourne and Adelaide Zoos. were much better than ours. There they could provide for the animals and the birds in a way that the society, for want of ground, could not do here.

The Lord Mayor said the position was a very difficult one from many standpoints. Only yesterday he received a petition from a great number of members of their society, strongly protesting against any further portion of city grounds being given to the Zoological Gardens. The petition was lodged with him yesterday, and contained the names of some very prominent gentlemen. He quite admitted that the Zoo. deserved the consideration and support of the public, and that the work the society was doing was a great one. The present site, to a very great extent, could not be improved upon, and they would have a great difficulty in bettering it. But, as to giving them the additional area asked for, that was a matter which would have to be dealt with by council. He thought council would be adverse to giving them any further ground; but that would not preclude him from bringing the matter forward, and letting them know the result as soon as possible.

ARE YOU RHEUMATIC?
A NATURAL REMEDY THAT PURIFIES THE BLOOD.
SUFFERERS SHOULD READ THIS LETTER OF A CURE.

The cure of rheumatics has engaged the attention of the medical profession for years, but there are many cases which defy treatment. In spite of all that can be done, men suffer agony from rheumatic pains, finding no relief. Very often the basis of the disease is found in impure blood, and treatment must, therefore, begin with its purification. Once the blood is made pure, by careful diet and healthy exercise, a permanent cure often results.

Rheumatic persons should read this letter from Mr. H. F. CHAPMAN, Costume Designer and Pleater, of Gloucester-street, Church-hill. It states what this remedy has done in curing a rheumatic condition from which he suffered for years. He considers himself practically free from the disease. Here is his letter:—

"I can give in a few words an account of the rheumatic condition which crippled me three years ago. Medical aid was of no avail, the attacks were declared constitutional, and 'in my blood.' At that time I never expected to be well.

"My rheumatism, I know now, was due to a poisoned condition of the blood, caused by constipation and indigestion, and I was advised by a friend to get at the root of the disease with a medicine he had tried, Clements Tonic. I did so, with very little faith of a cure.

"There is no question in my mind now that I enjoy good digestion and splendid muscular strength, but I have to thank this remedy for the freedom I have from these attacks, and my fine health. I am certain I am cured by this splendid medicine. No other remedy ever did me permanent good.

"In my opinion, Clements Tonic is an unequalled blood-maker and purifier."

(Signed) H. F. CHAPMAN.

This is the standard remedy for weak nerves, poor blood, muscular rheumatism, debility, stomach ailments, and lack of nerve force, and it is sold by all Chemists and Storekeepers throughout Australia. Clements Tonic is a necessary part in the medical equipment of every Australian home.—Advt.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9, 1910.

OPPOSING FORCES.

With the filling up of the lists of candidates on each side in this State, the Federal electors will be able now to concentrate their attention upon the issues of the great struggle which looms so close. In little more than another month we shall be at close grips, and to-morrow five weeks the fight will be over. So far a great deal of time has been taken up with the selection of candidates. In some electorates we have overlapping candidatures, and unless Liberals can concentrate there, as elsewhere, for a strong, united effort on behalf of one man, seats will be lost, and disaster may be assured in the Federal Parliament itself. But in the great majority of constituencies it may be said that there is an honest determination to accept the party nomination. Throughout New South Wales to-day the two parties are face to face without the disturbing element of a third party clamouring for notice, and taking the vitality from both of the others. It is to be a fight for supremacy, and when the numbers are up Mr. Deakin and Mr. Fisher will know where they stand, without needing to manoeuvre as Mr. Asquith is doing in England for time and a policy acceptable to a divided following. Thus the new Parliament will begin under auspices favourable to progressive legislation, and sound administration, whether the socialist Opposition wins or loses; and as the signs are all favourable to the triumph of Liberalism, we are the more justified in congratulating ourselves that the battle is to be joined between hosts solidly arranged on opposite sides, and between generals who cannot be suspected of either cowardice or duplicity. With the ground thoroughly cleared, therefore, so that Liberals may now see the single candidate in each electorate for whom they are to vote, it will be easy to grasp more fully and follow more closely the principles which are involved.

To this end the Labour manifesto published last Saturday was timely, and will have been read with keen interest. It contains nothing new, but it does emphasise the points upon which for so long we have been insisting as promising revolution in Commonwealth finance, and as threatening to tear up all State plans for internal development. This is denied, of course, and Mr. Fisher tries to assure everybody that he and his colleagues are as harmless as doves, though they may be as wise as serpents. At the same time we know only too well what the socialist goal is; and while much that is professed would be legitimate enough if moderate men were assured of control, the uncertainty of Labour leadership tends to destroy confidence. Quite enough explosive is packed in the mild sentences of the manifesto to make every thoughtful citizen anxious, and to warrant Liberals in regarding the coming struggle as the most important in Federal political history. The main aim of the socialists is to discredit the fusion. The Liberal reply must come by strengthening it. The Labour manifesto claims credit for not allowing the Commonwealth to borrow, and charges the fusion Government with being willing to raise and squander money wherever it can be obtained. But the best reply to all this is that a post-office and telephone service in the condition of our own is evidence of serious incapacity somewhere; and as successive Labour Governments or balancing minorities have been responsible for the starving policy pursued, we have an object-lesson before us every day of the way in which a non-borrowing socialism is to work. On one side it must cripple the business enterprises of the State, because it will not obtain necessary funds in a legitimate way to meet expansion; and on the other side it must seriously contemplate a policy of confiscation of all forms of industry which may be deemed to be monopolies, because money cannot possibly be obtained to pay for them. There is neither business acumen nor common morality in this, and it is poor strategy to pour contempt upon the Government which proposes to use business methods and observe the rules of honesty and fair dealing. But Liberals must be ready to commend the fusion policy, and support the fusion leaders, as much by plain explanation and enthusiastic canvassing as by tearing socialist sophistry through and through. Faith in one's own side will go further than mere assault upon the other side. Meanwhile the main thing now is to get Liberal forces well marshalled, so that when April 13 comes we may be able to show something of the wonderful polling results obtained in the recent British elections.

LINKING UP EDUCATION.

The decision of the Senate to appoint Mr. Mackie Professor of Education in the University of Sydney brings to a satisfactory close protracted negotiations. So far as Mr. Mackie personally is concerned the appointment is justified by the experience we have had of his work and character. But what is most significant about the arrangement now come to is that the Department of Public Instruction is directly linked up to the University. We are not prepared to say that the arrangement is an ideally perfect one. As counsel of perfection the Principal of the Training College and the Professor of Education should be different persons, discharging different and incommensurable functions. While the main business of the Professor of Education should be the history and theory of his subject, the Principal of the College should be a practical instructor in the art of teaching, supervising closely what might be called the laboratory work of his students. No doubt in the fulness of time this ideal will be reached. It cannot be attained by the present appointment, though we have the warmest admiration for Mr. Mackie's work, and have every confidence that he will do all that can be done to discharge the dual functions entrusted to him. It is to be hoped, however, that if Mr. Mackie does not succeed in being two men at once, he will not sacrifice the principal to the professor; for the practical work is what is most urgently required, and we should say it is what Mr. Mackie is conspicuously successful in accomplishing.

Practically no very great change is involved in the new title, for Mr. Mackie is, we understand, already recognised as a lecturer by the University; and the division of his available time will probably not be greatly altered. Yet there is sometimes a good deal in a name, and for the present, at all events, there is not a little in the policy that decides that the principal of a Government training college shall also be a professor of the University. In time past there was a divorce between the Department of Public Instruction and the University, very much to the loss of the former, and something of a loss to the latter. Now we have a far better ideal. We contemplate a suitable college building for the Training School within the University grounds, and we set ourselves the definite object of bringing as many primary school teachers as possible to the University, there to share in its ordinary curriculum, and to pass some years in contact with students intended for very different professions. The results of such a system can hardly fail to raise the standard of the teaching profession greatly. The precise extent of the good influence depends, of course, on the permeability of student-teachers to new impressions, on the one hand, and the quality of the impressions the University has to give on the other. In neither direction is a maximum of efficiency immediately probable, but we must be content to let the formative effect shape itself, and we may fairly hope that as time goes on close contact with the University will have a broadening and deepening effect on the intellectual life of teachers at large. It is in this that the significance of the new appointment should come to lie. One other point emerges on which we can only touch. With the department and the University closely linked there should be no difficulty in securing the effective control of secondary schools—a measure of reform that so far has proved lame and halting in the extreme.

LIQUID FUEL.

The recent information that the Admiralty has decided upon the use in future of oil as fuel in the navy gives point to the remarks of the "Economist" respecting sources of supply. For some years past naval engineers have been kept continuously busy in testing liquid fuel burners; and if no mistake has been made in the report as to the Admiralty's intentions, the presumption is that the difficulties in the way of obtaining complete combustion—which, among other things, does away with the smoke trouble—have been satisfactorily overcome. If the British Navy is in future to burn oil exclusively, or even to any very large extent, some great industrial changes must be the result. For one thing other Powers are likely soon to follow the example of Britain and use oil fuel in their navies also. In that event there must be an enormous increase in the consumption of oil, and simultaneously a very appreciable decrease in the consumption of coal, for the navies of the world are great customers of the coal mines. It is quite possible also that oil will come into use in the fast mail and passenger ships of the mercantile marine. Even the non-expert mind can perceive certain very substantial advantages which oil would have over coal as a fuel for ships. In the first place it can be taken aboard so easily and stowed so conveniently, while it solves completely the stoking difficulty now so much felt in ships that are obliged to voyage much in the tropics.

But in view of the possibly universal use of oil for naval purposes alone the question of supplies immediately assumes an important international significance. At the present moment the United States possesses by far the largest ascertained supplies; but many experts incline to the belief that the country immediately north of the Black Sea, especially from Baku to Roumania, when properly prospected will disclose the existence of even larger deposits. Hitherto commercial enterprise in these parts has been somewhat hampered by the unprogressive policy of the Russian Government, but quite lately the fields have been receiving great attention from capitalists, mostly British. Great things are predicted for the future of the industry, which is expected to give quite a new industrial importance to the Black Sea region. But although British capital may play an important part in developing these fields, the fact remains that they are not in British territory. No doubt there are great potentialities in some of the oil-bearing districts of India, Burmah, and British Borneo and Egypt, although sufficient prospecting work hardly has been done yet to permit of any reliable estimate of their capacity. Canada may yet be a great producer, but experts do not seem to be in agreement as to her possibilities. Of closest interest, however, is the question of Australian supply. Conceivably our shale deposits may compensate for the absence of liquid supplies, and in that event there should be a bright future ahead of the industry which has had its start in the Blue Mountains. At all events, we may hope so, for if oil becomes essential to the navies the country that lacks supplies will be at a serious disadvantage.

HOUSEHOLD SCIENCE.

It is interesting to note that Melbourne University is taking the preliminary steps to arrange a curriculum in household science, and is thus taking the lead in an important aspect of university reform. We are not told yet whether the proposed course will be optional as a pass subject for the degree of Bachelor of Arts; but we are sure that many sweet girl graduates would prove all the more delightful if that were so. We know the higher education of girls has to be taken very seriously, and that it must include ancient and modern language, differential calculus, and the art of painting flowers on teacloths, but culture which excludes cooking is apt to be a serious peril to that ancient institution now somewhat fallen from its former high estate—the husband. Unfortunately the modern tendency is all away from home life for girls. Domesticity, it would seem, has lost much of the charm that sages have found in its face, while business and profession prove seductive sirens. It is probably a debatable matter how far this tendency is inherent in modern conditions, and how far it is the product of a mistaken scheme in the higher education of girls. No doubt the latter has a good deal to answer for. The kind of teaching she gets encourages the modern girl to look outside the front door for her life work just as a mistaken primary education once filled our cities with clerks. The tendency, however, will never be wholly checked, and the most we can do is to modify its ill-effects. We should almost like to say that a curriculum in household science should be compulsory for every girl who aspires to a university degree; but perhaps that is because some of us have bitter memories of the graduate in the kitchen.

However, a much wider field is open to the exponent of household science than lies in correcting the domestic vagaries of a mistress of arts or a doctor of philosophy. Such a curriculum needs to be provided for teachers of domestic science in schools and elsewhere just as a curriculum in agriculture is required to train teachers in that subject. It is plain that unless we deliberately set to work to supply the defects of society by science the rising generation will find itself in an unenviable plight. Judging by all authentic accounts, the domestic servant, along with the horse, will be extinct long before the present century closes, and women will have to learn to do their own work with economy of time and effort. In any case, most women have to do so, and in the fewest possible instances have they had any adequate training for the task, whether at home or at school. No class of society lies beyond reach of this criticism, though there is nothing to mask the disastrous consequences in the homes of the less well to do. Any doctor will tell shocking stories of ignorance of the most elementary duties of motherhood, of neglect of the most obvious precautions of domestic hygiene, and so on. Any economist will bewail the absence of anything like thrifty management in a large proportion of middle-class homes. And so we might go on. It is true that recently a movement has set in among ourselves towards a useful and rational education for women. But it is yet in its infancy, and it needs a great deal of encouragement. We have talked not a little about it, but so far we have not got near a college of household science. If we are wise we shall not allow Melbourne to be the first in the field.

The "Sydney Mail."—A superb, double-page illustration of a scene along the Snowy River, near the Paupong Hills, is given the place of honour this week. It is an admirable example of outdoor photography, and will doubtless find a place on the wall in many a home. Some remarkable night photographic studies are published, the subjects being the G.P.O., night-workers of the streets, the Macquarie Lighthouse, the signalling bridge at the Central Railway Station, and H.M.S. Powerful. An interesting illustrated article, occupying two pages, describes the Mitchell Library and its treasures. The "outdoor Australia" budget is, as usual, full of interest, the nature studies being particularly entertaining. "Milroy" gives another batch of thoroughbred yearlings, and in describing his visit to the studs writes in that reminiscent vein which makes his contributions so distinctive in character. Not many people are aware that the donkey brought back from the Soudan by the New South Wales contingent is still alive, but the "Mail" prints a recent photograph of the animal, taken at Duntroon station, near Yass. A sketch of the scene at Circular Quay on the departure of the Soudan contingent on March 3, 1885, is reproduced. There are pictures in connection with Tenterfield and Penrith shows. The pantomime "Aladdin" is illustrated, and among other subjects dealt with pictorially are the Paris floods and the approaching contests for the Sayonara and Northcote Cups. There is also a portrait of Mr. J. H. Pike, the clever young Arncliffe inventor, who modestly tells the story of his "wireles" experiments.

"If Thou Wouldst a Monument."—Mr. J. Hogue, Minister for Public Instruction, at the opening of the Mitchell Library yesterday, gave an instance of the exceptional modesty of the man who made this great bequest. "Mr. Mitchell was one of the most retiring and modest of men," he said. "He could not even be prevailed on to allow himself to sit for a bust of himself which it was the wish of the trustees and the Government to see placed in the vestibule of the library. That may to many be a matter of regret. But, to paraphrase the sentiments of a famous architect, if you want to see his monument, look around you."

Sir J. Dowling's Papers.—"During the last year," said Professor MacCallum yesterday, in asking Lord Chelmsford to open the Mitchell Library, "the library had been increased by a number of gifts, chief amongst which is one from Mr. Arthur Dowling of 286 manuscript volumes of the Judge's notes of his grandfather, Sir James Dowling, second Chief Justice of New South Wales, together with a correspondence relating to the battles that were being waged over the rights and liberties of the young people of this State—battles waged, I am sorry to say, your Excellency, to a large extent between the Governor and the Judges," added Professor MacCallum, turning to the Governor and laughing. Mr. Arthur Dowling, who is one of the trustees of the library, afterwards explained that he did not consider he had done anything so very praiseworthy. The volumes were matters of public interest, but he could not have sold them to the library, as he was a trustee; and if he had sold them to dealers the chances were the dealers would only have done what he was not allowed to do, and have sold them to the library in the end.

The Blind Institution and the Labour Council.—Mr. W. A. Jeffrey, Miss S. M'Kenzie, and Miss L. Long, ex-workers at the Sydney Industrial Blind Institution, write in reference to Mr. Hedger's refutation of the Labour Council's report, stating that they are "prepared to meet Mr. Hedger on a public platform, and prove their statements on oath." Their letter continues:—"The Labour Council has been investigating the evidence for the past six months, which is different from the previous committee of 1901, which only took one afternoon. Mr. Hedger says it would take at least a week to go into the matter, and yet Mr. Thrower in 1901 gave his verdict of 'not proven' to the then charges against Mr. Hedger in one afternoon. We can prove that the blind people were kept back that Saturday afternoon to meet the Labour party, but were never asked to give evidence. . . . All we ask is a full inquiry into the matter so that there may be placed before the public a true account of what really happened to us and to a great many more."

Licenses to Survey.—A board is sitting at the Department of Lands to conduct an examination of eight candidates for license to survey. Similar examinations are being held throughout the Commonwealth and New Zealand. The papers for the Sydney examination were prepared in New Zealand.

Rose Bay East Sewerage.—The question of extending the sewerage system to the district known as Rose Bay East, lying between North Bondi and Rose Bay, was again under the consideration of the Water and Sewerage Board on Tuesday. The scheme for sewering the whole district will cost in round numbers £10,000, it being necessary to put in a main that would entail that expenditure, but the residents of this district hold that they should not be called upon to pay more than their proportion of a main that will serve a wide extent of country. Briefly stated that means that if the residents' wishes were granted, about £8000 would be dead money, earning no interest; and the deficiency would have to be made up by the general taxpayer. Under the circumstances, the board could not see its way to sanction the expenditure, and decided to defer further consideration of the matter for 12 months.

Government Scales Challenged.—A correspondent says that, whilst the Government is busy with the prosecutions of tradespeople suspected of having unjust scales, it own scales at Hornsby are hopelessly defective. "Victim" writes:—"I am a fuel merchant of North Sydney, and obtain a large proportion of my wood by truck from the Northern line. These trucks are weighed at Hornsby, and it is the exception rather than the rule to be charged with the correct weight. Generally one is charged with a few cwt. up to 1 ton more than there is in the truck. Sometimes one gets an allowance, but there is always a great deal of trouble in obtaining it. I am informed on good authority that the trouble is caused through there being a defective weighbridge at Hornsby, and although there has been a new automatic bridge lying there for a considerable time it has not yet been installed."

Leichhardt and the Electric Light.—Only a short time ago the Leichhardt Council came to an agreement with the Electric Light and Power Supply Corporation, Ltd., of Balmain, giving the latter power on certain conditions to carry their mains through two of the streets of the municipality for the purpose of supplying Petersham and Newtown, and probably Strathfield. The resolution was carried only after a severe fight, and immediately the vote was taken a notice to rescind was handed in. The matter was again debated at the meeting of the council on Monday evening, and strong opposition was again shown to the company being granted the right to occupy the streets for 50 years, and also to it being allowed to carry the mains overhead. When the division was taken it was found that the resolution to rescind the agreement had been carried by 5 to 4. No sooner was this decision announced than Alderman Treadgold, who had argued in favour of granting the concessions asked by the company, gave notice, amidst laughter, of a resolution to rescind that just carried.

Our Railway Carriages.—Mr. George A. Gilder, in the "Railway Budget," gives an account of the evolution of the handsome Vice-Regal railway coach. He says: "When Sir William Denison, the Governor-General of New South Wales, made that memorable journey from Sydney to Parramatta at the opening of the Sydney railways on September 26, 1855, the Vice-Regal carriage (imported from England) was of the four-wheel saloon type, 20ft in length, weighed 5½ tons, and cost about £600. When the then Duke of York travelled from Albury to Sydney in 1901 he rode in the Governor-General's carriage (built in the Eveleigh railway shops), 74ft long, carried on two six-wheel bogies, weight 38 tons, and costing somewhat over £6000. The 1901 carriage is built on the corridor and vestibule principle, of the choicest timbers, all highly polished. The ceilings and panelling are of stamped steel, picked out in delicate tints, and originally emblazoned with the Earl of Hopetoun's arms and motto. The car consists of three bedrooms (each fitted with lavatory and bathroom), dining-room, observation room and platform, and servants' compartment, with berth and lavatory. The dining-room is finished in polished oak, with sideboard, richly carved, dinner waggon, combined bookcase, writing cabinet, and cellarette, chairs upholstered in horsehair and morocco, and an extension dining table. The sleeping compartments are provided with handsome brass bedsteads, and the observation room with easy chairs and lounges. The hangings, drapings, blinds, etc., are of velvet and tapestry, and the floor coverings mainly of Axminster. It has taken 50 years to attain this high degree of excellence in State cars. In 1891 the vehicle at present reserved for the State Governor was constructed in the Eveleigh workshops."

Brevity and Wit.—The old saying that brevity is the soul of wit was amply demonstrated by Mr. J. T. Turtle, president of the Amalgamated Hotel and Caterers' Employees' Association, at the annual picnic of the association at Correy's Gardens yesterday. Mr. Turtle made only three speeches, and all were models of conciseness, while two were humorous. The first was, "Ladies and gentlemen, 'The King' "; and the second was, "This is not a technical college, so speakers to the toast will please cut their speeches short." The third was forced upon the president, who had to respond to the toast of his health. Mr. Turtle said: "Ladies and gentlemen, this is the third time you have called me out of my shell. If I get out again I am afraid I won't fit it when I want to get back. I thank you." Mr. Turtle is one of the few men who can make a joke at their own expense. At last year's picnic he remarked that "the turtle was a slow bird, but it was always in time for the soup."

Drummoyne Water Supply.—At the ordinary meeting of the Water and Sewerage Board on Tuesday, a report, plan, and estimate of cost were submitted by Mr. J. M. Smail, engineer-in-chief, for the erection of an elevated steel reservoir for Drummoyne, the land for which has been already secured by the board. The top water level will be 168ft above high water mark. The reservoir will consist of a superstructure of steel, and a substructure of brick and cement piers and arches on concrete foundations. Provision has been made for supplying the reservoir with gravitation water from Potts' Hill, and, in the event of a contingency arising in connection with the gravitation main, it can be supplied with high-level water from the Hermitage-Balmain trunk main. The reservoir will have a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons, and is estimated to cost £16,000. The board decided to carry out the work.

Physical Culture in Schools.—In his annual report as superintendent of drill in the Public schools Colonel A. Paul points out that the impression formed some time ago that physical training was unnecessary for elder boys because of the sports and games indulged in has been dispelled. Every boy now receives a carefully graduated course. The 10 minutes' daily exercise in deep breathing and Swedish drill was regularly practised last year by all schools. The drill received attention in a number of the large schools. This valuable training had been taken up more largely than during the previous year. One hundred and twenty-seven schools within a radius of 15 miles were inspected in drill and physical training. Regular weekly visits were paid to the Boys' High School, Technical Day School, Hurlstone Agricultural Continuation School, and the Teachers' College. Visits for instructional purposes were also paid by members of the staff to a large number of schools. The report congratulates the teachers "upon the pleasing interest shown in this branch of school work."

Horse in the Harbour.—A large crowd round the shores of Circular Quay yesterday afternoon were treated to the spectacle of a large chestnut horse swimming a couple of hundred yards along the wharfs in tow of a rowing boat. J. Ryan, a carter, had driven on to the E. and A. Wharf with a pair of horses in a heavily-laden lorry. The track was very narrow, and as he skirted the edge of the wharf one of the wheels struck an obstacle. The lorry gave a lurch, and the big chestnut, which was on the off-side, fell and hung over the edge. All the horse's weight was on the collar, and he would soon have choked had not the harness been speedily cut. A plunge into the water was involved, and in he went. Coming up, the chestnut blew a shower of salt spray from his nose, and started to swim across the cove. At this juncture Ryan jumped in, and after manoeuvring to avoid the horse's hoofs, seized his head, and towed him under the wharf into water just shallow enough to permit them to stand. In the meantime a man had run round to Point Macquarie for a boat. Then an argument ensued as to the waterman's liability if he rowed into the quay in defiance of the Harbour Trust's regulations. The boat arrived at length, and the horse was towed from his position to the shallow water on the north side of the China Company's wharf, where he was able to land. Except for his copious libations of sea-water and a few scratches the horse appeared none the worse for his adventure.

In connection with the bicycle sports at the Sports Ground to-night, it is notified that a special service of trams will be run to the ground from Circular Quay and western railway gates, commencing at 7 p.m.

The City Health Officer reported to the health committee yesterday that only 13 cases of infectious diseases were notified in the city during the fortnight ended 5th inst., viz., seven of diphtheria and six of typhoid fever. Five cases of consumption were notified under the council's bylaws.

REMAINS OF AN ANCIENT CITY.

AUCKLAND, Tuesday.

Mr. Wrigge, who has been doing some exploring work in the far north, claims to have discovered in the neighbourhood of the Bay of Islands "the remains of an ancient city or temple that probably dates back to the time of sun worship." He writes: "The huge blocks of stone, some nearly 15ft long, were evidently hewn by prehistoric man. Some have cups or holes scooped out on the face, which are evidently written records of immense antiquity, and others are marked with long and short strokes, one being an ansata cross."

THE TOTALISATOR.

"FOSTERS GAMBLING HABIT."

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The Methodist Conference to-day agreed to the following motion:—"That we strongly oppose any proposal to introduce the totalisator, both on the ground that it is wrong in principle, and that when tried it has fostered the evil habit of gambling. We are also strongly of opinion that legislation should be introduced to suppress the registered bookmaker."

PERSONAL.

VICE-REGAL.

His Excellency the Governor arrived in Sydney yesterday morning from Sutton Forest. During the morning Lord Chelmsford presided at a meeting of the Executive Council, and in the afternoon his Excellency opened the Mitchell wing of the New National Library.

At a committee meeting of the Church Society yesterday Archdeacon Gunther referred to the death of the widow of the late Bishop Barker. The committee placed on record its appreciation of Mrs. Barker's work, its sense of the loss sustained, and an expression of sympathy with her friends and relatives.

The Minister for Defence, Mr. Cook, has arranged to deliver a political address at Penrith to-night.

A farewell presentation was made to Mr. A. S. Buchanan, headmaster of the Superior Public School, Arncliffe, by a large gathering of friends, prior to his departure for Great Britain and America per R.M.S. Moldavia. Mr. Buchanan intends during the trip to visit the principal educational establishments at home and in America.

At the meeting of the State Council of the N.S.W. Alliance on Monday appreciative references were made to the appointment of Canon Boyce, president of the alliance, to the Archdeaconry of West Sydney. The following resolution was carried:—"That this State council very heartily congratulates the Ven. Archdeacon F. B. Boyce on his elevation to the position of Archdeacon." Archdeacon Boyce, in replying, said, he had received 171 letters and telegrams of congratulation, but he did not value one of them more than the resolution just presented to him by Mr. Gow on behalf of the State council. He was now in the 40th year of his work in connection with the temperance reformation, and he hoped to continue in the work as ardently as ever.

Dr. Dunlop, who takes the place of Dr. Clouston at the Presbyterian Church, Glebe, is expected to arrive from New Zealand on the 29th inst. It was decided by the Presbytery last night that the induction should take place in St. Stephen's Church on April 4. It has been notified that the degree of Doctor of Divinity has been conferred by the Scottish University of St. Andrew's on Rev. John Burgess, clerk of the Presbytery of Sydney. At a meeting of that body held last night in St. Stephen's Church a resolution was passed expressing its great satisfaction at the honour accorded him. Professor McIntyre, who moved it, spoke of Dr. Burgess as one of the most trusted and most beloved ministers of the Church.

At a large gathering of Druids in the Protestant Hall last night Dr. John Harris was presented by the members of the Conqueror Lodge with a silver rose bowl and accompanying vases. The gifts were made in connection with the Doctor's recent marriage. Congratulatory speeches were made by Past-Presidents Alexander and Hart, and Dr. Harris suitably responded. Occasion was also taken to bid P.P. Bro. Alexander and Treasurer S. Levy bon voyage on the eve of their departure on a trip to Europe and America.

Mr. Henry Breakwell died at his residence, Norton-street, Leichhardt, on Saturday, at the age of 83. Born in Surrey, England, Mr. Breakwell came to New South Wales as a young man, and for many years carried on business as a contractor, plumber, and gasfitter in Liverpool-street, city. He retired about 23 years ago, and has been a resident of Leichhardt ever since. The remains were interred in the Church of England section of the Balmain Cemetery on Monday, the chief mourners being his sons, Frederick, John, and George, and his brother Alfred. The Rev. H. S. Begbie, conducted a short service in the house before the funeral, and also officiated at the grave.

Dr. Brierly (from Colombo), Mr. A. J. Brierly (from Adelaide), Mrs. Brierley, and the Misses Brierley (after an absence from Sydney of about two years, spent in Europe) are returning by the incoming R.M.S. Mongolia.

MR. GARVIN'S ASSISTANT.

SUPERINTENDENT E. C. DAY APPOINTED.

At yesterday's meeting of the State Executive Council, Mr. E. C. Day, police, superintendent, second class, who has lately been in charge of the Bourke-street depot and the eastern police district, was appointed to the new position created in the Police Department—that of "superintendent attached to the office of the Inspector-General for duty." In this position Superintendent Day will assist the Inspector-General by relieving him of a great deal of detailed office work, and will perform the Inspector-General's duties when the latter is making country inspection. He will not, however, have any prior claim over other superintendents in the event o fthe office of Inspector-General becoming vacant. This appointment does not, as a matter of fact, in any way interfere with the seniority of the first-class superintendents.

Mr. Day is 53 years old. He joined the police force in 1883, and was promoted to the rank of senior-constable in 1885, sergeant 1888, senior-sergeant 1892, acting sub-inspector 1897, sub-inspector (second class) 1897, sub-inspector (first class) March 1, 1903, acting inspector July 1, 1903, inspector 1904, superintendent (third class) 1907, and superintendent (second class) on July 1, 1909.

Mr. Day is one of the best educated officers in the force. He was transferred from Narrabri to the charge of Newcastle station in 1903, and upon the completion of the new Bourke-street depot in February, 1907, Mr. Garvin had him brought to Sydney to take charge of the depot and the eastern district.

Mr. Day's new position means an increase in salary of £50 a year. He will now draw the same salary as a first-class superintendent—£500 a year and allowances. For the present he will continue to discharge his duties at the depot, and no appointment to the position he vacates will be made immediately.

Generally speaking, the appointment is favourably regarded in police circles.

BOOT TRADE DISPUTE.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Important constitutional points are involved in the special case regarding the boot trade dispute, which further engaged the attention of the High Court to-day. Mr. Mitchell, K.C., on behalf of the employers, contended that because the Commonwealth had no power to lay down laws directly affecting wages, it could not clothe the Arbitration Court with power as to wages. Mr. Irvine, K.C., spoke next, on behalf of the Victorian Government, and had not finished when the Court rose.

UPPER MURRAY RAILWAY.

TUMBARUMBA, Tuesday.

The Victorian Railway Committee crossed into New South Wales to inspect the tributaries to the Murray. Members then went to Corryong to take evidence in connection with the proposed Upper Murray railway. Great interest is [illegible] the visit.

UPPER HAWKESBURY.

THE MINISTER IMPRESSED.

PROSPECT OF A RAILWAY.

The Minister for Works (Mr. Lee), who was accompanied by the Minister for Defence (Mr. Cook) and Mr. Brinsley Hall, M.L.A., on his recent inspection of the upper reaches of the Hawkesbury River, was much impressed with the natural grandeur of the country he passed through and of its possibilities (under reasonable facilities) of development in the various lines of produce. He believes the orchardists have some reason for complaint respecting the cost of reaching the Sydney market. Though they have a very useful boat for the river trade, weather conditions at times cause a block, which is destructive to perishable products and a loss to settlers.

The people have been urging for years for a railway from Windsor to the Sackville Reach, a distance of about 9 miles. The whole of the trade from Wiseman's Ferry upwards and from the McDonald and Colo rivers would then be carried up to that point, and conveyed direct by rail to the Sydney market.

The proposal is described by Mr. Lee as being one of those questions in connection with that rapidly developing portion of the State that is worthy of consideration, more particularly as under the conditions of a cheap line there could be no doubt that the fruit traffic would be very large, and the return goods traffic also fairly heavy. One could also anticipate a reasonable passenger traffic from the Windsor district to the Hawkesbury. This railway would also complete the link in the tourist trip around from Sydney by way of Windsor down the Hawkesbury to Peat's Ferry. To-day very few tourists followed this route in consequence of the difficulty of getting from Windsor to Sackville Reach. An estimate of cost for a standard gauge railway was made, but, according to the Minister's judgment, this estimate is too costly. He proposes having the matter further investigated, both from the point of view of the standard and narrow gauges. He thinks it is possible to have this proposed railway made a profitable feeder to the Windsor-Richmond line.

PROFESSORSHIP OF EDUCATION.

MR. MACKIE, M.A., APPOINTED.

The Senate of the University at its last two meetings had under consideration a proposal of the Minister for Public Instruction that Mr. A. Mackie, M.A., principal of the Training College for Teachers, should also be appointed Professor of Education at the University. The Senate at its meeting yesterday agreed to this proposal.

Mr. Mackie was engaged as principal of the Training College for Teachers in 1907 for a term of five years. The Public Service Board has approved of this appointment being made permanent, and Mr. Mackie will now fill the combined positions of Professor of Education and Principal of the Training College for Teachers.

MR. BOARD'S APPROVAL.

A SOUND APPOINTMENT.

Mr. P. Board, M.A., Under-Secretary for Education, speaking of the appointment of Professor Mackie last night, said that the appointment had been the result of very full consideration of the whole question of the trend of modern education of teachers. Its special importance lay in the fact that a study of educational methods had become a matter of University necessity. The combined appointment of Professor Mackie as head of the Teachers' Training College and Professor of Education at the University enabled the instruction given at the University to be kept in closer touch with that of the college, and the object sought was to maintain a close association between what might be called the academic side of the subject and its practical exposition as accomplished at the college. Professor Mackie would have under him at the University a large number of his college students, and the number would steadily increase.

Respecting the appointment itself, Mr. Board said that Professor Mackie's work at the college for teachers had shown that he was eminently qualified for taking up the higher duties of the professorial chair. Professor Mackie had been conspicuously successful at the college, where the scope of intellectual advancement had been considerably broadened under him. The standard generally had been raised, and the teaching service throughout the State had been greatly improved by the teaching imparted by the professor. The service, and therefore the State, had begun to reap the benefit of a sound and thoroughly justified appointment.

SOCIETY WEDDING.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

A large and distinguished gathering assembled at St. Paul's Cathedral this afternoon, when Miss Ruby Constance Madden, third daughter of Sir John and Lady Madden, was married to Mr. Patrick Hamilton Osborne, second son of Mr. P. H. Osborne, of Currandooley, New South Wales. The bridesmaids were Miss Lesley Madden, Miss Beatrice Madden, Miss Phillipa Osborne (sister of the bridegroom), Lady Morvyth Ward (second daughter of the Governor-General), and Miss Viola Bingham. Miss Hazel Vallance, the bride's little niece, was train-bearer. Lady Honor Ward, Lord and Lady Dudley's eldest daughter, was to have been one of the bridesmaids, but left for England a week or two ago. The lace veil worn by the bride was lent to her for the occasion by Lady Dudley. It was made by the ladies of Ireland, and presented to Lady Patricia Ward, their Excellencies' youngest daughter, who was born during the Earl of Dudley's term of office as Lord Lieutenant in Ireland. The bride also wore a diamond marquise ring, the gift of the Governor-General and Lady Dudley.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Stephen M. Osborne, his brother. The wedding ceremony was performed by the Archbishop of Melbourne (Dr. Lowther Clarke), assisted by Archdeacon Crossley and Canon Kelly. The service was full choral. A reception and wedding-breakfast was held at Cloyne, the residence of Chief Justice and Lady Madden. The honeymoon is to be spent at Macedon. After a stay of about 10 days, Mr. and Mrs. Pat. Osborne will go on to Sydney for the Easter racing carnival, and afterwards home to Willeroo, the bridegroom's station. Among the presents were: Georgina Lady Dudley, choice cameo seal; State Governor Sir Thomas and Lady Gibson Carmichael, ancient aqua marine enamel, surmounted with an historic Scotch gems; Lord and Lady Northcote, unique enamel clock, set with jewels, from England; and Sir Reginald and Lady Talbot, a silver gilt fruit-dish, which was specially made by the girls of the D.S.C.G. Institution, in London; Mrs. Osborne, mother of the bridegroom, a cheque and an amethyst and diamond pendant, and some old rose point lace; the Misses Osborne, a canteen of solid silver; Sir John and Lady Madden, a cheque and an oak sideboard, and Carrickmacross lace, which was made in Ireland, and was specially chosen by Lady Dudley to match the veil; Lord Chelmsford and Lady Chelmsford, black opal and diamond pendant; Madame Melba, diamond and sapphire star; Captain and Mrs. Hore Ruthven, enamel and sapphire hat-pin.

Among the guests at the church were the Governor-General (Lord Dudley) and Georgina, Dowager Countess of Dudley.

RONALD V. HARPER.

THE CONSPIRACY CHARGE.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Included in the list of defendants, against whom summonses were issued on the conspiracy charges arising out of the Ronald v Harper case, was one John Huxley, whose only known address was North Fitzroy. Huxley is known to some members of the police force by the name of Martin, but they have not been able to find him to serve the summons. The outcome is that a warrant was issued by the Crown Law authorities for the arrest of Huxley. The cases against the other defendants will be called on in the City Court to-morrow.

MR. HARPER GOES TO THE POLL.

Mr. Robert Harper, in an address, delivered at Wood End last night, said: "Certain proceedings have been taken against me. I am going to say this, I stand here conscience clear. I consider that an indignity has been cast upon me. It shall rebound like the boomerang on those who shot it. I have my reputation behind me, and I ask you to trust me until it is all over. My reply to the action is that my nomination paper is deposited at Seymour, and there it shall remain. I go to the poll. (Applause.)

FINANCIAL CONFUSION.

DEBATE IN THE LORDS.

A SCHEME OF REACTION.

LIBERALS REFUSE TO ENTER THE TRAP.

LONDON, March 8.

The House of Lords yesterday passed the War Loan Redemption Bill for redeeming a loan of £21,339,603 issued in 1900.

A debate took place on the motion for the second reading of the Treasury Temporary Borrowing Bill.

The Marquis of Lansdowne (Leader of the Unionists) said that the Government had asked the House of Lords as a special favour to pass two bills at a single sitting, yet it would not stoop to ask for power which would render the present borrowing unnecessary.

The Earl of Crewe (Leader of the House) described the offer of the Opposition to facilitate financial measures as an olive branch shot from a catapult. The two Houses were in a state of war. The House of Lords would doubtless be glad to win back the practice of splitting the Budget into different bills, but the House of Commons was not going to agree.

The Earl of Cromer (Unionist) said that the Government had debtors willing to pay money, yet replied, "I prefer to borrow and insist on not being paid." The present deficit in the income tax was £17,000,000, on which interest amounting to £1200 daily was being paid.

Lord St. Aldwyn (Unionist), an ex-Chancellor of the Exchequer) said that he did not desire the Government to introduce a bill into both Houses, but it should introduce a resolution into the House of Commons authorising the collection of taxes.

Lord Loreburn (Lord Chancellor), said that the Government would not agree to the proposal to split the Budget. Mr. Gladstone settled that question years ago. The financial embroglio was solely due to the action of the House of Lords.

The Treasury Borrowing Bill was then read the second time, and the third time, and was passed.

LIABILITY TO INCOME TAX.

DEDUCTIONS FROM DIVIDENDS.

Replying to Lord Balcarres (Unionist) in the House of Commons last night, Mr. Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, stated that the Bank of England was deducting income tax from dividends with the consent of the Treasury, but the deductions were not paid into the Exchequer.

Mr. Lloyd-George added: "I am taking the advice of the Law Officers whether income-tax payers who have paid believing that the Government will carry the Budget before March 31 are entitled to refunds."

The "Daily Mail," in commenting on the reply of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, asserts that it is evident that the country is paying £2000 daily as interest upon its own money, which the banks are lending to the Government.

THE ARMY ESTIMATES.

AN AERONAUTICAL CORPS.

PAYMENT OF TRADE UNION RATES.

TORIES AS LABOUR'S ALLIES.

LONDON, March 8.

Last night the House of Commons in Committee of Supply debated the army estimates, amounting to £27,760,000.

Mr. R. B. Haldane, Secretary of State for War, said that the Government was organising an aeronautical corps on the German pattern. The present deficiency in horses was 120,000.

The Imperial Staff, Mr. Haldane said, was developing, and Sir William Nicholson, Chief of the General Staff, was receiving communications weekly in regard to organisation.

Lord Kitchener's visit to Australia and New Zealand, Mr. Haldane hoped, would bear practical fruit. General Sir J. D. P. French was going on a similar mission to Canada.

Mr. Ramsay Macdonald (Labour) proposed a motion urging that a fair wages clause should be instituted throughout the Government service.

Mr. Mallet, Financial Secretary to the War Office, admitted that the War Office sometimes paid below trade union rates.

Unionists promised Mr. Macdonald support, and a defeat of the Government seemed imminent, but Liberals talked out the motion.

ILKESTON ELECTION.

COLONEL SEELY ELECTED.

The polling was:—

Col. J. E. B. Seely (L.)	10,204
H. Fitz-Herbert Wright (U.)	6871

At the general election Colonel Seely was defeated for the Abercromby division of Liverpool. On the meeting of Parliament, Sir W. Foster resigned from the Ilkeston division of Derbyshire in favour of Colonel Seely. The voting at the general election was:—

Sir W. Foster (L.)	10,632
F. St. John Morrow (U.)	6,432

ARMAMENTS LIMITATION.

GERMANY QUIBBLES.

CHARGES BY GERMAN SOCIALIST.

LONDON, March 8.

During the navy debate in the Reichstag, Herr Ledebour, a Socialist, charged Prince Bulow, the ex-Imperial Chancellor, and Admiral von Tirpitz, Minister for Marine, with quibbling in regard to attempts by England to promote the limitation of armaments. England, he said, had made frequent, if informal, suggestions for a limitation.

Admiral von Tirpitz, in reply, read a statement made by Baron Schoen, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, in March, 1909, to the effect that the English avoided making a formal proposal.

On March 22 last Baron Schoen, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, made the following statement to the Budget Committee of the Reichstag in the name of the Imperial Chancellor (then Prince Bulow) with regard to British proposals for the limitation of armaments:—"The British Government has, it is true, intimated in a general way its readiness to enter upon an Anglo-German understanding concerning the extent and costs of the naval programme, but has made no formal proposal to this effect. In conversations, not of a binding character, which have taken place on this question between competent German and British personages a British proposal has never been put forward which in our view could have served as a basis for official negotiations. In intercourse between friendly Governments it is customary to avoid presenting formal proposals the consideration of which appears doubtful. The British Government has probably for this reason avoided addressing a formal proposal to us, and we have therefore not been called upon to take up a position towards such a proposal. The grounds for our expectant attitude towards the idea of the general limitation of naval armaments were set forth by the Imperial Chancellor in the Reichstag on December 10, 1908. These grounds naturally hold good for possible arrangements between individual Powers. The construction of our fleet, provided for by law, is exclusively measured by the needs of our protection and implies no threat to any nation, as has been repeatedly emphasised by us."

A HUSBAND'S REVENGE.

SUSPECTED INTRIGUER.

A CHICAGO INCIDENT.

LONDON, March 7.

Returning unexpectedly home, Mr. John P. Cudahy, a millionaire packer in Chicago, attacked Mr. J. Lillis, a wealthy banker, whom he suspected of intriguing with his wife. He inflicted a number of criss-cross cuts on the banker, after binding him with a strong rope.

Mr. Cudahy, who was afterwards arrested, has been liberated on bail.

ALMOST A CENTENARIAN.

THE ALLEGED INTRIGUER.

EVIDENCES OF A TRAP.

LONDON, March 8.

The attack on Mr. Lillis has caused a great sensation in America. Mr. Lillis is a bachelor, aged 97.

A maid in the employ of Mrs. Cudahy states that she heard a scuffle, and making investigations found Mr. Lillis on the floor with a rope round his neck, and his feet and his body stripped from the waist downwards. A chauffeur who was assisting Mr. Cudahy placed a revolver at her head and she fled.

The police came in response to a telephone message from Mrs. Cudahy. Mrs. Cudahy states that the attack is the culmination of a long course of Mr. Cudahy's brutality against her.

The New York correspondent of the "Daily Mail" states that Mr. Cudahy's motor car was found abandoned three miles from home. It is evident, the correspondent continues, that Mr. Lillis was entrapped.

The State Prosecutor has issued a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Cudahy.

Mr. Lillis and Mr. Cudahy were previously intimate friends.

"VASSALAGE OF CHINA."

ALLEGED TRIPARTITE COMPACT.

AMERICAN FINANCIER'S OUTCRY.

LONDON, March 7.

Mr. Jacob Schiff, a financier, speaking at the New York Republican Club, said:—"The understanding between Russia, Japan, and Great Britain will constitute in the next few decades the world's greatest menace. I am greatly mortified to learn that Japan has joined hands with Russia to keep China in a state of vassalage, and that perfidious Albion is a party to the compact."

Mr. Schiff was prominent in financing Japan during the war, and was decorated by the Mikado for his services.

The "Times" correspondent at Washington, commenting on the speech, says: "The existence of an anti-Japanese sentiment is an important factor in American international relations."

Mr. Schiff is angry because a great American scheme, which promised immense profits to America in the exploitation of Manchuria, has been decisively vetoed by Japan and Russia. Mr. P. C. Knox, the United States Secretary of States (writes Dr. Dillon in the "Contemporary Review"), has issued a proposal for the "commercial neutralisation" of Manchuria. Mr. Knox starts with the assumption that Russia would be glad to be freed from the incubus of the Chinese eastern railway, which is a constant drain on the imperial Treasury, and from continuous contact with Japan, which the management of that lines involves. An international syndicate would relieve Russia of these burdens by purchasing all the railways of Manchuria, built or building, and would also undertake the construction of other lines, as might be desired in future. All the railways were to be "owned by," and under the supreme control of, China. In case the scheme should be rejected, Mr. Knox has another ready, which, on examination, is seen to be the thin edge of the very same wedge. An international syndicate would in this case be formed to build a line from Tungchau to Aigun, and of acquiring from time to time the other railways of Manchuria, as occasion offered. The elimination of Japan and Russia from the competition there is one of the corollaries of either scheme. The reduction of China to the role of the shadow of a Power is another. That America as a Pacific State, with vast and growing interests to safeguard, would claim for herself the lion's share of the good things going, economic and political, is deemed probable. That the welfare of China, of Russia, and of Japan would appreciably benefit by the innovation, or that the peace of the world would be furthered by it, is considered most unlikely.

BRITISH COAL DISPUTES.

CRISIS IN SOUTH WALES.

A BISHOP'S ADVICE.

DECREASE IN TRADE.

LONDON, March 8.

The coal exports from South Wales in February, 1909, decreased 260,827 tons, compared with the same month of 1909. Foreign firms secured contracts at the expense of the Welsh trade.

The Bishop of Llandaff (Dr. Hughes) urges the South Wales mine-owners and miners to come to an agreement on the claim of the latter for increased wages. He says that thousands of railwaymen, dockers, tinplatemen, iron and steel workers, and shopkeepers are dependent upon the coal trade, and there is a likelihood of trade being diverted, if a strike occurs, into other channels. He counsels the miners to trust their old and experienced leaders.

The National Conference of the Miners' Federations of Great Britain called to consider the dispute will open on Wednesday.

THE DAVIS CUP.

AMERICA'S CHALLENGE.

LONDON, March 8.

America has cabled a challenge to Australia to contest the Davis Cup.

The failure of the Lawn Tennis Association of England to challenge is incomprehensible. There was great indignation in England last year when the English association failed to arrange for the preliminary tie against America to be played in England, and there will probably be a still greater outcry when it is known that this year it has not even issued a challenge.

However, the fact that there will be no preliminary tie this year will have one good effect, in that it will afford America more time to arrange for the match against Australasia. The opportunity is also afforded for negotiations with America for a team to play a series of matches in Australia either before or after the Davis Cup match, which is to be played in New Zealand. Each State would almost certainly guarantee a large amount towards the expenses if assured of one or more matches against the visiting team. The exact date upon which the Davis Cup is to be played will not be decided upon until the annual meeting of the Australasian association, which is to be held this month.

THE NORTH COAST RAILWAY.

WINGHAM, Tuesday.

A large number of men are now engaged on the work of erecting the Cedar Party Creek railway bridge at Wingham. This is a fairly large undertaking, and will take some little time to complete. The overhead bridge between Wingham and Taree is nearly completed. Those people who labour under the delusion that the days of the bullock team have vanished would alter their opinions were they to see the number now engaged in sleeper and log hauling. Teams of 16 and 18 bullocks are the order of the day. At the Wingham railway station site thousands of sleepers are now stacked, and they are certainly a splendid-looking lot. The oft-repeated assertion that good timber was not procurable within reasonable distance of Wingham has been effectively exploded.

A correspondent suggests that the first section on the Bellevue Hill tram line should be extended from [illegible] to Darlinghurst-road.

HARBOUR COLLISION.

CURRAJONG SUNK.

STRUCK BY THE WYREEMA.

A TERRIFIC IMPACT.

OFF BRADLEY'S HEAD.

ONE MAN MISSING.

One of the most serious harbour collisions for some years past occurred at about 9.15 last night immediately abreast of the lighthouse at Bradley's Head, between the A.U.S.N. Company's big passenger liner Wyreema and the well-known steam collier Currajong, with the result that the latter vessel foundered within the space of a few minutes.

The Wyreema, with a record number of passengers on board, left the A.U.S.N. Company's wharf, at the foot of Lime-street, at 8.40 p.m., outward bound for Cairns, via Brisbane and ports, while the Currajong, which belongs to the Bellambi Coal Company, Limited, was inward bound with a cargo of coal from the southern collieries. Precisely what happened will not be known until an exhaustive investigation has been made by a Court of Marine Inquiry; but it is asserted by eye-witnesses on passing vessels that for several minutes before the actual impact both vessels sounded vigorous blasts of their whistles.

When it became apparent that a collision was inevitable excitement ran high among the passengers on the Wyreema who were on deck, and the women and children screamed with fear. The Wyreema, which is 10 times the size of the Currajong, struck the collier a terrific blow right amidships on the port side, with the result that an enormous hole was made in her side. At the moment of the impact it was thought the stem of the big liner would completely cut the Currajong in halves, and the gravest fears were felt for the safety of her crew.

Vast volumes of water immediately commenced to pour in through the great gap in the side of the Currajong, and within the space of a minute it was only too evident that she was a doomed vessel. The water rapidly filled the engine-room, extinguishing the furnace fires; and the engineers and firemen, who remained at their posts as long as possible, were at last compelled to rush to the deck of the sinking vessel. Then there was a fear that the water coming into contact with the heated boilers would cause an explosion, but happily this did not take place.

Within a very short space of time—variously estimated at from two to four minutes—the Currajong was full of water, and commenced to settle down by the head. Eventually she took a terrific plunge, and sank bows first into deep water.

All hands on the Currajong were thrown into the harbour, and there were loud cries for help. The lifeboats on the Wyreema were quickly manned and launched, and proceeded to the assistance of the men struggling in the water. The night was somewhat dark, and it was difficult to locate the distressed seamen, but the lifeboat crews worked well, and within an incredibly short space of time succeeded in rescuing the whole of the crew of the Currajong with the exception of one man, who is still missing. In view of the fact, however, that numbers of motor boats, sailing craft, and pulling boats came to the rescue, it is regarded as quite possible that the missing man was picked up. Inquiries were still being made at midnight by the water police.

The Wyreema remained in the vicinity of Bradley's Head for about half an hour, and cruised round and round in search of the missing man. A hurried examination was also made by the engineering staff of the Wyreema to ascertain whether any serious damage had been sustained. Shortly before 10 o'clock the Wyreema proceeded to Neutral Bay, where she cast anchor.

As soon as news of the disaster reached the city the pilot steamer Captain Cook was despatched to the scene from Watson's Bay, and the Water Police launch Argus, in charge of Inspector M'Vane, steamed at full speed from Point Macquarie. The Navigation authorities also boarded the Wyreema, and many offers of assistance, should it be required, were made by private steamship owners and others.

Only the tops of the masts of the Currajong are visible, and as she is a menace to the navigation of the port the navigation authorities were engaged at midnight in erecting lights on the wreck as a warning to inward and outward bound vessels. The Harbour Trust's fire-float and steam tug Pluvius was standing by the wreck at an early hour this morning to warn approaching vessels of the obstruction, and the Captain Cook pilot steamer returned early this morning to her moorings in Watson's Bay.

As a result of a careful survey of the Wyreema it was discovered early this morning that the damage done was not of serious character. Some plates on the starboard side about 5ft above the waterline were fractured, but the holes were very small. A gang of workmen was at once engaged to patch the fracture with a new plate, and Captain Meaburn intimated his intention of proceeding on his voyage as soon as the work was completed.

It is expected that the Wyreema will sail from the Orient Company's buoy in Neutral Bay before daylight this morning.

CAPTAIN MEABURN'S STORY.

The account of the accident given by Captain Meaburn, of the Wyreema, when seen on board last night, was as follows:—

"We left the wharf between 8 and 9 o'clock, bound for Brisbane and North Queensland ports. After passing Pinchgut I brought the lighthouses on Shark Island and North Head in line, and proceeded on that course until we opened out the Sow and Pigs light, West Channel. I was then heading around to the East Channel, when I saw a steamer crossing over southwards towards Rose Bay, showing her green light.

"I blew two blasts of the whistle, and starboarded my helm to give her more room. Immediately afterwards I saw the other steamer's red light. I put the engines to slow. As he was still porting his helm, I went full speed astern—blowing three blasts on the whistle. The collision took place shortly afterwards. We collided with him nearly amidships.

"As soon as I saw she was clear I noticed that the other ship was going full speed ahead—they were evidently trying to beach her. I lowered my boat, and sent it to their assistance, and succeeded in rescuing several of the crew. Several other boats—Manly boats and fishing boats—came to his assistance.

"On examination I found a slight fracture above the water-line in a small compartment, which I am securing by putting a plate on the outside. It will soon be done now, and this ship will sail to-night as soon as it is ready."

The captain of the Wyreema said that his ship had twice blown two blasts, and afterwards three blasts, when she went astern. He had heard the other ship at one time blow one blast.

CHIEF OFFICER'S ACCOUNT.

Chief Officer C. J. Davis, of the Currajong, seen on Circular Quay at 11.30 last night, with his clothes still wet upon him, stated that the Wyreema struck the Currajong at about midships on the port side.

"The Wyreema nearly walked through us," was his comment. "The Currajong floated only two minutes after she was struck."

"The collier was off Bradley's Head about 9.15 when we passed a small schooner going up the harbour. After leaving her we reported a steamer with masthead and port lights showing a little on the port bow. She apparently altered her course to port a little, opening up her green light. The Currajong's captain then blew one blast, signifying that she was going to starboard. The other steamer blew two blasts. When it was seen that a collision was inevitable she indicated by three blasts that she was going astern. About two or three minutes later the Currajong was struck on the port side, nearly amidships, and sank in about two minutes. An effort was made to beach her, but there was no hope, and it was a case of getting hold of something to float on. The Manly steamer Bingarra came on the scene quickly after, and lost no time in lowering a couple of boats."

Mr. Davis was warm in his praise of the Bingarra's promptitude in lending assistance. When on board the ferry steamer the roll was called, and all answered, with the exception of Hans Nielson. Nielson after the impact was seen aft in the act of jumping overboard. Somebody, however, warned him of the danger, as the Currajong's propeller was revolving, the engines still going ahead at the time.

WYREEMA'S PASSENGER ACCOUNT

"TOOTING ALL THE TIME."

One of the passengers on the Wyreema on his way to the northern State on business, who was on deck some time before the collision, said his attention was first directed to the Currajong on the Wyreema blowing two toots. Looking forward, he saw a steamer which appeared as if she was making across the Wyreema's bow. "The Wyreema kept toot-tooting, and it looked at one time as if she was going to cut us in halves. We couldn't hear a sound from the other boat. She was coming very close, and our boat went astern hard, but before you could say 'knife' she was into us."

Was there much commotion on board?—Well, there was among some of the women and children. They squealed a bit, but not for long. Take it all round, the passengers took it very well.

Did you feel any shock?—Oh, a bit. You know, you can't hit a boat like the Currajong without feeling a bit of a tremor.

Was there anything done on board in the way of lending assistance?—You can bet there was, and quickly, too. Two boats were lowered at once, which, after picking up some of the crew, landed them on a ferry steamer.

Another passenger, who happened to be standing by, said, "We were tooting all the time. The other boat looked as if she was coming right across us when I saw her. We kept going to port, and just before the collision we sheered right over."

How were the lights on the other boat?—Very poor.

"Say," said the passenger, "I've been to sea a bit, and you can take it from me that the 'old man' did all he could to prevent an accident."

A TEARING SOUND.

Another passenger on the Wyreema, Mr. Horn, a resident of Brisbane, said:—

"The other boat was crossing our bows all the time, as far as I could see. Our ship blew two blasts, and then two blasts again, and at last three blasts to show she was going astern.

"We were going hard astern when we struck her. There was not much shock—but there was the sound of tearing. The Currajong began to go down by the head, and boats came about. I saw her sinking gradually, but you could not see much. There was a continual shouting from the time we struck the other ship—we could hear the shouts. Our boat got away very quickly indeed, it seemed to me."

ACCOUNT BY AN EYE-WITNESS.

AN EXCITING TIME.

Mr. F. Dare, dentist, of Oxford-street, who was an eye-witness of the collision, states that he was a passenger on the Narrabeen from Manly. When abreast of Sydney Heads he observed the lights of a steamer inward bound. Having been once at sea, Mr. Dare was naturally interested in watching this steamer, which gradually drew up to the Narrabeen, following her in the west channel. "The incoming steamer, however, kept astern of the ferry boat," said Mr. Dare; "yet she was on our beam, and when we got abreast of Bradley's Head the steamers were almost abreast of each other, the vessel from sea being slightly astern of us. I don't know the name of this vessel, but she appeared to be a fairly large boat. She gave a loud blast of her horn. I immediately looked to see the cause of this blast, and observed a big passenger steamer outward bound. This turned out to be the Wyreema. She had her two masthead lights burning, one on the foremast and the other on the mainmast. Shortly after I saw her she gave three blasts of her whistle, then three more, and several more blasts followed in quick succession. I carefully watched the movements of the vessels, and could see everything from where I stood on the deck of the Narrabeen. As soon as the whistles were blown the incoming steamer altered her helm, and came close in towards Bradley's Head at the stern of the Narrabeen. Immediately she did so the Wyreema altered her course. It was only a matter of a moment when the inevitable happened, and the crash came. The incoming boat kept afloat for about four minutes. She then took a plunge and went down gradually head first, sending the water up all round her for some distance. The engines of the Narrabeen were immediately stopped, and after waiting several minutes some of the passengers sang out, "Lower a boat." The Narrabeen then went astern, gradually backing up to where the steamer had gone down. It was a very dark night, and we could hear people in the water singing out for the Narabeen to get way and not come too near. At the same time there were the cries of the distressed crew for help. In the meantime the Wyreema had backed out from the scene of the collision. The steamer from Manly to Sydney came alongside ten minutes after the collision and lowered a boat. An oil launch and several other craft also drew near and rendered assistance, and we in the Narrabeen then continued on our course to Sydney. It certainly was a most exciting time, a scene I am not likely to forget."

POSSIBLE EXPLANATION.

PROBABLY A MISCONCEPTION.

A statement made to the authorities by one of the crew of the Currajong may give an explanation of the origin of the collision. He said that when the Currajong arrived near Bradley's Head it was found that a ketch was in the way, and the course of the steamer was altered to allow her to run to starboard of the ketch. His theory is that those on the Wyreema inferred that the Currajong was about to make across the harbour, and that the course of the outward bound boat was altered accordingly. As soon as the ketch was passed the Currajong resumed her course, and he supposed that the whole thing was due to a misunderstanding.

PICKING UP THE CASTAWAYS.

The boat of the Currajong was launched just before the vessel sank, and several of the crew succeeded in getting clear of the wreck. The remainder of the castaways, with one exception, were picked up by the Wyreema's lifeboat.

A few minutes later the Manly ferry steamer Narrabeen, bound from Manly to Sydney, arrived on the scene, and a boat was at once despatched to render assistance. Further help by this time, however, was not required.

The castaways were then transferred from the boats to the Narrabeen, and were conveyed to the Circular Quay.

DESCRIPTION OF THE LOST VESSEL.

The Currajong was an old vessel, having been built in 1875 by T. Wingate and Co., of Glasgow. Originally she was known as the Victory, and then for many years under the name of the Clarence she was a popular vessel engaged in the coastal trade of this State.

Some years ago the Currajong was converted into a collier for the Bellambi Coal Company, and was recently re-commissioned on the termination of the strike at the southern collieries.

The Currajong was a twin-screw, iron steamer of 603 tons gross, and of 410 net, and her principal dimensions were:—Length, 222ft 2in; breadth, 30ft 1in; and depth, 15ft 7in. The propelling machinery of the Currajong consisted of two sets of engines of the compound surface-condensing type, manufactured by the builders of the hull.

THE WYDEEMA.

The Wyreema is one of the latest additions to the fleet of the A.U.S.N. Company, and is regarded as a firm favourite with travellers. This fact accounts for the large number of passengers she had on board at the time of the mishap. The Wyreema was launched as recently as February, 1908, from the yards of Messrs. A. Stephen and Sons, of Glasgow, her dimensions being:—Length 400ft 4in, breadth 54ft 2in, and depth 30ft 6in.

She is a twin-screw steamship of 6338 tons gross, and of 3362 tons net, and her machinery consists of two sets of engines of the triple expansion type, built by A. Stephen and Sons.

CREW OF THE CURRAJONG.

So far as was known at midnight, the only one of the Currajong's crew missing was Hans Nielsen, an A.B. The saved were:—

Captain R. W. SMITH.
Chief Officer, C. J. DAVIS.
Second Officer, S. DENTON.
Chief Engineer, J. HUMPHREY.
Second Engineer, TOM WILSON.
Firemen: A. BUTTEL, JOSEPH WREN, P. TOOMEY, BROWN.
A.Bs.: J. BALDRY, A. HANSEN, A. ANGLESON, S. PETERSEN, and another.
Cook: KINDLAND.
Steward: Name unascertained.

THE CURRAJONG'S CARGO.

The Currajong was laden with a full cargo of coal from Wollongong to replenish the bunkers of the Huddart, Parker liner Riverina, which arrived at Sydney yesterday from Western Australia, and is to sail again on Saturday for Fremantle.

A PREVIOUS COLLISION.

Just seven years ago a serious collision occurred at the same spot between the A.U.S.N. Company's steamer Eurimbla, outward bound, and the Union S.S. Company's passenger steamer Wakatipu, inward bound from Launceston.

The Wakatipu was so severely damaged as a result of that impact that great quantities of water made their way into her holds, and she was directed, in a sinking condition, in the direction of Neutral Bay, and was beached not a moment too soon. Here extensive repairs were carried out, and eventually the Wakatipu was refloated.

THE COAL STRIKE.

SETTLEMENT BLOCKED.

COLLIERY PROPRIETORS' INACTIVITY.

FEDERATION'S EFFORTS FRUITLESS.

NEWCASTLE, Tuesday.

Though little progress towards settlement was expected, a big crowd attended the sittings of the Wages Board this morning, in the hope of hearing some announcement by his Honor Judge Scholes to show that the strike was at least a little nearer the end. His Honor's meagre statement, however, that the negotiations had advanced no further was profoundly disappointing, though it was admittedly through no fault of his that the deadlock remains.

The dispute is still familiarly referred to as a strike, but grave doubts are beginning to be felt in the minds of the general public at Newcastle as to whether that is now the correct term to apply to it. The lament of the Miners' Federation seems to be that what was once legally known as a strike cannot be converted legally into a lockout. The men threw the mines idle in the first place, and they have now announced their readiness, and even their anxiety, to return to work, but still no coal is being produced. Under ordinary circumstances it would be natural to expect the strike to be over. When the men took the ballot some time ago on the question of resuming work, they stated they would go back on condition that the old employees were employed. The proprietors then stated their firm determination not to sacrifice any of those men who had stood by them during the strike, and by inference that there were certain men whom they would not again employ. They did not specify these men, nor have they done so since. The position two weeks ago, however, has undergone a marked change, as everyone in the district is perfectly well aware. Since the proprietors' statement then the federation, through Mr. Charlton, has endeavoured to get a direct statement as to the identity and number of the men whose places have been filled, and they have allowed it to be understood that if they got that they would try to find a means of providing for them. That information is apparently unobtainable from the proprietors, but until it is given there seems to be little hope of a settlement. Who the men are that are in the road, and what their number is, is still, according to the federation officers, unknown. In its absence nothing can be done by the federation but sit down and wait the pleasure of the proprietors. It is well known here that the federation would go even more than half way to meet any offer made. All that it asks for is a general and not a partial resumption of work. If this were conceded it is generally believed that the other terms demanded by the proprietors would be acceded to if they were in any degree reasonable. The proprietors, however, will make no statement whatever as to the number of men whom they are unwilling to re-employ, though Mr. Charlton has more than once asked for a definite answer to that question.

Certain proprietors are reported to have said that under no circumstances would they consent to the dismissal of men who are in the mines now. This statement may have been pertinent to the position two weeks ago. According to the miners' officials it is now utterly irrelevant. They never have and do not now ask for the dismissal of anyone. Mr. Charlton was emphatic when questioned on this point to-day. What the federation does ask is to be informed what men will not be re-employed, so that they may take steps to provide for them. Mr. Charlton says the negotiations are still proceeding. The negotiations, however appear to be all on the side of the federation. The proprietors, according to their own admission, spent little time discussing the question at their meeting yesterday, and they evince no desire to spend more time in discussing it now. Judge Scholes has done his utmost to bring the parties together, but he, like Mr. Charlton, has apparently found himself brought to a full stop by the colliery-owners' impenetrable reticence.

THE PROPRIETORS' REPLY.

JUDGE SCHOLES GETS LETTER.

NEWCASTLE, Tuesday.

The official reply by the proprietors to the proposals made by Mr. Charlton through Judge Scholes for a settlement of the strike was not given until this afternoon. It was forwarded to his Honor by letter, but neither he nor the proprietors were willing to give any information this evening regarding the nature of the communication. It is believed outside, however, that the proprietors' ultimatum is that they will not consent to a settlement on the lines of the proposal made by Mr. Charlton last week, and that the men must return to work absolutely unconditionally. Until this is done all negotiations, as far as they are concerned, must be regarded as at an end.

THE ENGINEMEN.

THEIR FEDERAL ARBITRATION CASE.

STATEMENT BY THE SECRETARY.

The position is now as far as the employees are concerned entirely in the hands of the advisory committee of the miners, and the two representatives of the Enginedrivers and Firemens' Association, Messrs. Heuston and Harber, who have full powers. Speaking on the part of his association yesterday, Mr. Mitchel, secretary of the Enginemen's Association, said that their case had been filed in the Arbitration Court long before the strike commenced. "The union would not have gone and asked for an early hearing in the Enginedrivers' and Firemen's dispute," he continued, "a dispute which took place some time before the strike, but for the fact that the members of the federated association were alleged to be victimised. Finding that the members in the State industrial system were unable to relieve the trouble, the executive council of the federation then decided to appeal to Mr. Justice Higgins to expedite the hearing of the dispute, which was on the federal files so that they could waive most of the conditions as to reinstatement. Mr. Justice Higgins having decided to deal with the matter on the 16th, the executive then felt that they could safely leave the matter in the hands of Mr. Charlton. With regard to the determination of the proprietors that they would not dismiss the men at present in their employ, Mr. Mitchell said the matter was not of grave moment, as far as his members were concerned. The serious question with the men in the north was that the proprietors wished to victimise them for no other reason than that the federated association had always been in favour of settling disputes by arbitration. The proprietors' object was to crush the workers by starvation before allowing them to return to work.

In respect to Mr. Firth's remarks at the wages board a day or two ago, Mr. Mitchell said there was no necessity for the members of the Southern Collieries Board to in any way delay their sittings, because the hearing that was to take place on the 16th was purely a legal inquiry as to the jurisdiction of the Court to hear the case, and would be argued by counsel for the different respondents. The merits of the case were not to be dealt with before the 30th inst, and the inquiry into them would be in Sydney. The procedure before the Federal Arbitration Court was exactly the same as before an ordinary industrial board, and should the colliery proprietors wish to save time Mr. Mitchell would be quite content that the whole of the evidence that was given before the southern collieries and other boards should be put in as evidence, to be supplemented by any that the parties might think fit. The whole hearing after jurisdiction had been proved should not take more than two or three days in Newcastle and Sydney each. If the proprietors were so much opposed to having their labour conditions settled by Federal arbitration the way was still open to them to meet the representatives of the Enginedrivers' and Firemen's Association in conference, wherein matters could be settled in a friendly way.

EFFECT ON EASTERN TRADE.

BRITISH CONSUL'S REPORT.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The serious effects of the Newcastle coal strike on trade in the East were brought forcibly under the notice of the Prime Minister to-day by a despatch from London, which stated that the British Consul at Manila had reported to Sir Edward Grey, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, the serious effect of the Australian coal strike on local business. It had, he said affected the shipments of freights by steamers to Australia refusing offers of cargo because they were forced to carry coal for the return journey. German ships were depositing coal at Simpsonshafen, where a coal depot was being established. Japanese passing by this route were engaged in carrying Moji coal to Australia. The shortage of Australian coal in Manila was bringing matters to an acute stage. Japanese coal was being largely imported, and the probable result would be that the importation of Japanese coal would become a permanently established trade, to the great detriment of Australian interests.

THE MITCHELL LIBRARY.

A NATIONAL STOREHOUSE.

SAMPLES OF ITS CONTENTS.

The Mitchell Library, at the Domain gates, was opened yesterday. It is entirely separate and distinct from the Public Library—it will have a different purpose, and will never be open to the casual public. It is to be the national research library—the British Museum of Australia. It will be open on proper application to anyone who wishes to follow up any subject within the scope of the collection. It is safe to say the future histories of Australia will be mostly written there.

If anyone wishes to realise the sort of thing which the Mitchell Library contains, here are some samples:—

DR. BLAND'S CHALLENGE.

Sir, I have this moment read the report of your speech of yesterday evening—in the "Sydney Morning Herald" of to-day—and I feel no doubt that you have used your position in the Council to vent your private malignity against me. . . . . . I am, Sir, recommended not to call upon you for the satisfaction of a gentleman . . . . . because you have on more occasions than one (where the claim for reparation from the nature of the insult was even stronger than in this case), in a manner the most cowardly avoided it.

I shall therefore content myself on this occasion with merely expressing my opinion that you are a coward and a scoundrel . . . . . but which opinion I shall be happy to retract if it is in your nature to give me an opportunity.

I am, Sir, your most obedient servant,
W. BLAND.

To Robert Lowe, Esq., M.C. Oct. 11, 1849.

Amongst over 60,000 volumes and tens of thousands of manuscripts, each wrapping up its particular footnote of Australian history, there is this two-page letter written on foolscap, with wild flourishes and ferocious dashes, and haste as obvious now as on the day it was written, all of which unfortunately cannot be shown in print.

Dr. Bland, who wrote it, was sent out from England to India. When the ship was in the Persian Gulf Bland fought a duel with the purser, who fell at the first shot and died. A Lieutenant Randall interfered, and so Bland fought him too. They were neither of them hurt, and on landing were both sentenced to seven years' transportation. In 1814, when Bland arrived in Sydney, there was a shortage of doctors, so he was pardoned. He afterwards had a quarrel with Governor Macquarie, and was fined £50, with 12 months' imprisonment, "every day of which," says the history, "was rigidly exacted."

Fortunately, Robert Lowe does not seem to have fought him, but lived to become Viscount Sherbrooke.

Another manuscript is the diary of the young explorer Bass, who discovered Bass' Strait, and much more besides. The diary is well known, but not the following, which comes at the end of it:—

"Port Jackson.—Further particulars of the Whombat.

"The Whombat has no claims to swiftness of foot; most men could run it down. Its pace is hobbling or shuffling, something like the awkward gait of a bear. Its disposition is mild and gentle; but it bites hard, and becomes furious when provoked. I never heard its voice but once; it has a low cry, between a hissing and a whizzing, which could not be heard more than 30 or 40 yards. I once inadvertently offended him, and our friendship was at an end."

"A whombat, with mild treatment, might be rendered extremely docile and probably affectionate. But let his tutor beware of giving him provocation, especially if he is full grown.

""Alluding to one I caught who suffered me to carry him on my arm like a child; but being obliged to leave for some little time I tied his legs, which was the source of our quarrel."

MUTINY—RELATED BY THE VICTIM.

There is Captain Bligh's account, in his own handwriting and idiomatic spelling, to Sir Joseph Banks of the morning when some of his own officers and crew mutinied and went off in the ship to marry Friendly Island women and become the ancestors of the Norfolk Islanders, whilst Bligh himself was left to sail 3000 miles in an overcrowded open boat:—

I am now about to relate, he writes, one of the most atrocious and consummate acts of piracy ever committed. At Dawn of Day Fletcher Christian, officer of the watch, Charles Churchill, ship's corporal, Thomas Burkett, seaman, and several others came into my cabbin, and while I was asleep seized and tyed my hands behind my back with a strong cord, and with cutlasses and a bayonet fixed at my breast threatened instant death if I spoke or made the least noise. I nevertheless called out so loud that everyone heard me, and were flying to my assistance, but all my officers except those concerned were kept in their cabbins by armed centinels, and the arm chest was in their possession. I was now hauled upon deck in my shirt and hands tyed behind me, held by Fletcher Christian and Charles Churchill, with a bayonet at my breast, and two men, Alexander Smith and Thomas Burkitt, behind me with loaded muskets cocked and bayonets fixed. . . . . . There were many altercations among the mutinous crew, and exerting myself in speaking aloud to try if I could rally any with a sense of duty in them, I was saluted with —— his eyes, blow his brains out.

PERILOUS TIMES IN SYDNEY.

There is also an account of the perilous times in which Sydney entered the new century on January 1, 1801. Few people realise that a state of affairs ever existed in Sydney in which it became necessary for Governor King to publish the following general order:—

Sunday, December 28, 1800.—

From the constant state of alarm which the peaceable and loyal inhabitants of this colony have been kept in for the last two months, and the present restlessness of some turbulent characters, the following arrangements are to be observed, in case of any alarm from the enemy or from internal tumult:—

The field pieces are to be kept constantly loaded with powder only, and the vent priming examined every evening by the officer of the day. A port fire is to be in readiness to fire on the least appearance of alarm or tumult, or that either the main guard or barracks are attacked. When a gun is fired from either the barracks or main guard the drums are to beat to arms, the regiment to form in front of the barracks, and to act as the commanding officer may see fit, and in conformity with any secret or other instructions he may receive from the Governor. The main guard to form in front of the guard-house within the paling, and to wait for orders, unless they are attacked, when the officer may act as he may judge proper. But not to quit that post without orders from the Governor or commanding officer of the troops unless compelled; in which case he is to use every exertion to join the association of the regiment. The Association, on the alarm being given, are to repair and form in front of the Governor's house, and there to wait for orders how to act, or being joined by the military.

Every other description of persons, male, female, or children, are to remain quiet and peaceable in their respective dwellings, as it will be impossible for the military to discriminate persons in case of alarm.

The "Association" was a volunteer corps disbanded the next July because Captain Balmain, its organiser, had to be absent.

THE RELIC OF ALL.

There are old general orders dealing with piracy; there is a mass of manuscripts dealing with exploration and of literature of the time of the gold rush. But perhaps the most interesting relic of all is a single, rather battered, brown, ill-spelt, hand-written diary. It is the diary of Sir Joseph Banks on his voyage with Cook when they discovered New South Wales.

You can see the faded brown words written with a fine quill pen in his cabin the very evening after he had stood on deck and, under the sails, seen the Australian hills.

April, 1770. . . . . 19. With the first light this morning the land was seen; at 10 it was pretty plainly to be observed. It made in sloping hills, covered in part with trees or bushes, but interspersed with large tracts of sand. At noon, the land much the same, we were now sailing along from five or six leagues from it, with a brisk breeze of wind, and cloudy, unsettled weather, when we were called upon deck to see three waterspouts. . . .

20.— . . . A smoak was seen. . . .

25.—The countrey, tho. in general well enough clothd, appeard in some places bare, it resembled, in my imagination, the back of a lean cow, covered in general with long hair, but nevertheless where her scraggy hip bones have stuck out farther than they ought ("from her body"—crossed out), accidental rubbs and knocks have entirely bard them of their share of covering.

26.—Land to-day more barren in appearance than we have before seen it. It consisted chiefly of chalky cliffs, something resembling those of old England. . . . .

OPENING CEREMONY.

LORD CHELMSFORD'S ADVICE.

SPEECH BY PROFESSOR MACCALLUM.

The opening ceremony was performed by Lord Chelmsford in the presence of a number of distinguished citizens. His Excellency, in one sentence, summed up the contents and the purpose of the library:—

"There are records here," he said, "which are not mere records of history, but which are history in themselves. You could touch and handle things here which, if they did not exist—well, Australian history might have been written in a different way. But while you may regard those things here to-day as dry and without form, I feel sure some man some day will come along who will touch with the pencil of genius those dry bones and make them live."

Professor MacCallum, president of the trustees, in asking Lord Chelmsford to open the library, said that the last six months had been marked by the completion of two great libraries—the Fisher Library in the University, and the Mitchell wing of the National Library. In each case the contents had been provided by a private man for public use, and in each case the buildings that perpetuated the names of the don[illegible] directed from Parliament, [illegible] or the Government. But, wh[illegible] of the Fisher Library w[illegible] the Mitchell Library was [illegible] National Library, which [illegible] for the reference libra[illegible] had not at first be[illegible] purposes, and ev[illegible] crowded. Whilst the Fisher Library embraced most subjects, the Mitchell Library provided especially for the study of Australiana.

There had been some complaints of delay in opening the library. The trustees, Professor MacCallum said, and the public, had to thank Mr. Wright, the Mitchell librarian, and the officials of the library, for so soon reducing to the order in which it stood the medley of which the library had consisted. "I say 'so soon' advisedly," he added. "If there was any delay in opening the library, its officials are not at fault—nor, indeed, do I think anyone much to blame. Everything you see, from the masonry to the fittings (with a few exceptions, chief among which are the reading chairs), is as far as possible of Australian material and workmanship. Much had to be set about in an experimental way, and there were delays which could not have been foreseen."

Professor MacCallum went on to tell a couple of stories of David Mitchell from his own experience. The first occurred in 1887, when Professor MacCallum had just arrived in New South Wales. "My books were some time in following me," he said, "and as neither the Public Library nor the University library was so well equipped as it is now, I was at a loss to proceed with the ordinary work of my classes. Mr. Mitchell came to the rescue. Through Mr. O. Scott, he offered me free access to his shelves, and the loan of any volume I might require. But he would not consent to receive me, even to accept my thanks. The other incident was many years later. I wished to verify a transcript from a not very important passage of a not very well-known sixteenth century book. On the chance that he might have the book in his collection, I applied to him personally. Without replying, he rose from his chair—the chair he invariably used, the chair, your Excellency, on which you are sitting at the present moment. He went straight to the shelf and took down the volume without seeming to look for it, and in less than five minutes he had found the sentences I wanted. Evidently he not only bought but read. It has sometimes been questioned."

Lord Chelmsford, in declaring the Mitchell Library open, said two questions arose to his mind. How were they to value this library? and how were they to use it?

"May I enter a caveat," he said earnestly, "against any reference to the pecuniary value of this library—and I trust that no reference will be made this afternoon or in the future to what this library could be worth in pounds, shillings, and pence. I regard any such estimate and reference, in the first place as being beside the mark—because there is no question of our attempting to sell this library; and, secondly, as sacrilegious, because these references to money in the case of works of art and literature tend to degrade the whole standpoint. I am afraid I sometimes lose my patience when I am told that such and such a picture cost £2000 twenty years ago, and that now it would fetch £10,000, because the value of these treasures is an intrinsic value of their own, and it cannot be gauged in terms of money. The special value of this library lies in the fact that we have miraculously preserved for us relics of the national life, which but for the loving care of one man—Mr. Mitchell—would have been mere flotsam and jetsam on the sea of life.

"As I have pleaded for reverence in the valuing of this library, so also would I plead for reverence in the using of it. I would always make that plea in any such case. It may seem unnecessary to make it, but consider if it is not. There is much stuff on these shelves that wants reverent handling; and there is much stuff there that would furnish very fine copy for the gentleman whose remuneration, I understand, is a penny a line. I hope the trustees of the library will take all precautions against improper and irreverent use of it.

"And may I hope that those who are going to mine this quarry will do so in the scientific search of truth. It may seem superfluous to caution this—but is it? Supposing any one of you were going in to consult a library, would you go in merely to find out what was the truth? I believe 99 out of a 100 of us that go into a library go there not to find out what is the truth, but to find out something that is going to support our pre-conceived ideas and notions. In this matter we must be students in the school of science, and science has no greater claim to admiration than this, that it pursues truth regardless of prepossessions, and regardless of established theories."

Mr. J. A. Hogue, Minister for Public Instruction, said it would have been a public misfortune if this priceless collection had been lost to the State.

Mr. C. A. Lee, Minister for Works, said that the Government had realised that the acceptance and building of the library would lead to very much greater things. "Those greater things," he said, "are near at hand. It is the intention to proceed with the plan of this great building in the near future—(applause)—on the same lines as those of this building. It must be generally understood that this is a reference library, not only for the people of New South Wales, but for the Australian people." (Cheers.)

There were present, amongst others, the Archbishop of Sydney, the Moderator of the Presbyterian Church, Sir Francis and Lady Suttor, Captain Rolleston, Mr. Bruce Smith, M.P., Sir Matthew Harris, Mr. W. Wood (Chief Secretary), Sir Albert Gould, Archdeacon Boyce, Messrs. H. Gullett, M.L.C., P. Board, F. M. Bladen, J. Miller, and D. Levy, Ms.L.A., Alexr. Kethel, M.L.C., Dr. Creed, M.L.C., Messrs. H. C. L. Anderson, and A. Vernon (Government Architect).

FEDERAL ELECTIONS.

A MINISTER IN POLITICS.

MR. CRAWFORD AND THE CHURCH.

It was announced at the Sydney Presbytery's meeting last night that the Rev. T. S. Crawford, Labour candidate for Lang, had been given two months' leave of absence by his congregation at Campsie. The matter came up in reference to the way in which the leave had been given, and though the Presbytery was not sitting in judgment on the question of a minister engaging in politics, some disapproval was expressed by the speakers. The representative of Campsie, Mr. Young, explained the matter to the gathering. He (Mr. Young) had stated his opinion to the congregation when the question was before it that it was not a right thing for a minister to go into politics. The interim Moderator at Campsie had advised the congregation to adopt the course taken, which resulted in the position it was now in. The congregation was composed of 55 per cent. Labourites—though strangely enough the Labour candidate at the elections had always in that district "gone down"—and by giving Mr. Crawford leave the best way out of a tight corner had been taken after a heated debate.

"Supposing he doesn't attain a seat in Parliament, does he necessarily come back to you as minister?" Mr. Young was asked.

"Not necessarily," was the reply.

The clerk of the Presbytery (Dr. Burgess) here interjected that there was an arrangement with Mr. Crawford for six months. Whether the arrangement would expire before the two months' leave was up no one could say.

"I understood," said Mr. Young, taking up the subject again, "that he was granted the leave on the understanding that he was to come back, provided the congregation were willing to take him back, or if he missed getting into Parliament. I have seen the interim moderator, and I intend, as clerk of the session, to take such proceedings as will call upon Mr. Crawford to step out. An iniquity is creeping into our Church in allowing politics to be introduced."

Further discussion elicited that Mr. Crawford appeared to be under engagement at the Campsie Church from month to month, at the time he was given leave, and, not having placed his certificate of status on the table of the Presbytery, when resigning from a former charge, he was not really under the jurisdiction of the Presbytery. He had been employed by the Home Mission committee, and the congregation had given him the leave in order to avoid a split in their ranks. Finally, a resolution was passed, approving of the action of the session in ceasing to employ Mr. Crawford while he was campaigning, but expressing the opinion that, as his appointment was from month to month, the granting of two months' leave was unnecessary, and did not commit the session to his re-appointment. It was made clear that it was not Mr. Crawford's ideals as a minister which were being criticised, but simply the action of the congregation.

Mr. Joseph Cook, Minister for Defence, will speak to-morrow night at Penrith in support of the candidature of Mr. E. K. Senator Neild will speak at Hornsby to-night with Senator Pulsford, and arrangements are being made for meetings at Wollongong, Kiama, and Nowra during the early part of next week.

F.N. writes, stating that a few nights ago he inquired at the G.P.O. for the Commonwealth electoral rolls, and was informed that there was no copy there, and that he would have to go to a suburban office to see one.

THE PRISONS APPOINTMENT

STATEMENT BY PREMIER.

"GOVERNMENT ACCEPTS RESPONSIBILITY."

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

GLEN INNES, Tuesday.

The Premier (Mr. C. G. Wade) arrived here to-day by motor car from Tenterfield, and after resting a few hours he went on to Inverell, where he delivers a public address to-night. On being seen by a "Herald" reporter before his departure in reference to the appointment of Mr. MacFarlane to the position of Comptroller-General of Prisons, Mr. Wade said,—"I think it is very undesirable to go into the matter further. It involves the compulsory disclosure of details which must cause great pain to those directly concerned, and I am prepared to leave to the good sense of the public that the appointment was given to Mr. Macfarlane for reasons which must appeal to those who are charged with the responsibility of securing the most efficient officer. I should like to know what position the Government would have been in if they were to appoint an officer to a position of responsibility, with the knowledge that under the strain of work he had very seriously broken down, and quite recently again collapsed, thereby causing serious injury to the discipline of the department. No matter how unpleasant it is, however, if his so-called friends intend to pursue the question, and demand full details, they will be given, and the responsibility must rest upon those who want to show the matter up. To many people the previous state of health of Mr. M'Cauley was not known, but those who did know, and still insist upon further disclosures, are cruel in their supposed kindness to him. It must further be remembered that a recommendation is made by the Public Service Board, and it is only in the event of the Government being satisfied of serious grounds of differing from the recommendation, that we dare to exercise the power of veto. The Government does possess the power of veto, but only exercises it in very extreme circumstances, and must be prepared to justify its action. In that event this attack, engineered in some quarters for the sake of political capital, may have the effect of seriously injuring the board in its position of independence, and, I say in conclusion, that whilst the appointment is primarily on the recommendation of the board, the Government does not shirk its share of responsibility in endorsing the appointment of Mr. MacFarlane.

"Just another word. It has been stated publicly that Captain Neitenstein gave information quite freely in his time, but that Mr. M'Cauley has been debarred from doing so. As a matter of fact, his instructions were the same to Captain Neitenstein and Mr. M'Cauley, but, unfortunately, they were not all ways strictly observed, and Mr. M'Cauley received intimation of the views of the Minister on this subject as soon as he obtained the position of Acting-Comptroller."

CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

In the Court of General Sessions to-day a young man named Daniel Fallshaw was charged with manslaughter. The charge arose out of the death of Benjamin Bostus Hutchinson, outside the Bleak House Hotel, Albert Park, on January 7. It was alleged that accused struck deceased and knocked him down. The case had not concluded when the Court adjourned.

STATE BY-ELECTIONS.

Yesterday the writs were issued in connection with the State by-elections for Darling Harbour, Northumberland, Upper Hunter, and Queanbeyan, necessitated by the resignation of Messrs. J. Norton, M. Charlton, W. M. Fleming, and Colonel Ryrie respectively. The date of nomination has been fixed for Wednesday, March 23. So far Liberal selections have been made in Upper Hunter and Queanbeyan, where Messrs. H. J. F. Waller and H. Beegling respectively are the selected candidates. Matters have been under consideration for some time in respect of Northumberland and Darling Harbour; several names have been mentioned, but no final Liberal selections have so far been made. On the Labour side Mr. W. Ashford has been selected for Upper Hunter, and Mr. W. Kearsley for Northumberland. Alderman Cusack, of Yass, has been selected for Queanbeyan by the central executive of the P.L.L., but it is understood that the local Labourites have selected Mr. Donohoe, who has already entered upon his campaign. Trouble regarding the Labour selection has also arisen in regard to Darling Harbour. The central executive selected Mr. J. P. Cochrane, but the local league, it is understood, want Mr. Macey. The names of Alderman Fitzgerald and Mr. A. Thomson are also mentioned in connection with this seat.

"WIRELESS" STATIONS.

AT SYDNEY AND FREMANTLE.

CONSIDERATION OF TENDERS.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The Postmaster-General (Sir John Quick) had under consideration to-day the five tenders which have been received by the department for the erection of two high-power wireless telegraph stations in Australia—one in or near Fremantle, and the other in or near Sydney.

Subsequently Sir John Quick made the following statement:—"The tenders with one exception complied with all the requirements of the specifications prescribed by the department. The board recommended the acceptance of the lowest tender, subject to certain conditions. As the question is only conditionally settled, I do not feel at liberty to give full particulars and details of any of the tenders. I have approved of the acceptance of the lowest tender, subject to the following express conditions:—(1) Some stipulation with the tenderer as to the nature of the labour to be employed during the probationary period of supervision and maintenance; (2) that the Secretary of State for the Colonies should be informed through the Governor-General that it is the intention of the department to accept the lowest tender, giving brief particulars of the tenders received, and the system to be employed by the lowest tenderer, also informing him of the advice of the departmental tender board, and asking whether there is any reason why the lowest tender should not be accepted."

The Postmaster-General is having a set of regulations prepared dealing with the issue of licenses for the use of wireless in territorial waters of the Commonwealth. At present the regulations in force only apply to land stations. The lines of the British regulations will be followed.

ESCAPED PRISONER CAUGHT.

AFTER 75 DAYS' FREEDOM.

THE BOLTER FROM RAILWAY STATION.

George F. Jackson, who escaped from a party of prisoners under escort to Parramatta Gaol on December 23, was re-arrested in Liverpool-street yesterday by Sergeant Renton and Constable Wright. He was standing on the footpath when first noticed, but, seeing that he was recognised, Jackson darted into a by-way. The police followed, and seized him, and after a short struggle Jackson surrendered.

Jackson's escape was remarkable for the open way in which it was effected. He had been sentenced to six months' imprisonment, and with five other prisoners, all dressed in ordinary clothes, was taken in a prison van from Darlinghurst Gaol to the Central Railway Station. The prisoners were about to be put on the 9.10 a.m. train for Parramatta, and were standing on the platform handcuffed together. Suddenly Jackson, who was at one end of the row, sprang out from the gang, and bolted up the platform, leaving an empty handcuff dangling from a wrist of the man who had been next to him. He had slipped the cuff over his hands. Before Warden M'Aviney, or Constable Sheehan, who were in charge of the prisoners, could do anything, Jackson was gone.

Jackson is a man of 24, and the remarkable feature in the whole case is how could he have been at large so long. Full descriptions had been sent to every police station in the State, and his photograph was also extensively circulated.

He was charged at the Central Police Court yesterday with escaping from custody and remanded.

NEW DENTAL ACT.

THE REGULATIONS GAZETTED.

SAFEGUARDS TO THE PUBLIC.

The regulations under the Dentists (Amendment) Act, 1909, which came into operation at the beginning of the year, were published yesterday in a supplementary "Government Gazette." This Act, which amends the principal Act (Dentists Act, 1900) in the appointment and composition of the Dental Board, the nature of regulations which may be made, and the payment of fees, will now be enforced. The board, comprising two duly qualified medical practitioners, four registered dentists, the head of the faculty of dentistry in the University of Sydney, and the president of the United Dental Hospital of Sydney, is to meet once a month. The following are the certificates, diplomas, membership, degrees, licenses, letters, titles, testimonials, status, or documents which will be recognised by the board under section 12 of the principal Act, namely:—

The license or diploma of any legally qualified Dental Board or other body which permits its holder to practise dentistry in the State or country in which it was obtained, and which has been granted after (a) passing an examination in general education equivalent to the standard of the entrance examination, dental curriculum, of the University of Sydney; (b) four years' study of dentistry subsequent to the passing of the examination in general education as aforesaid; and (c) passing the examinations prescribed by subsection 2 of the next following regulation.

A candidate, under section 11, subsection (c), of the principal Act, for registration as a dentist, must produce satisfactory evidence to the board that he has, prior to commencing his studies in dentistry, passed an examination in general education equivalent to the standard of the entrance examination, dental curriculum, of the University of Sydney; that for four years he has been engaged in the acquirement of professional knowledge in dentistry; and that he has passed the following examination:—

(a) The first section shall be passed at the end of the first year, and shall consist of an examination in the following subjects, viz.:—Physics, inorganic chemistry (theoretical and practical); metallurgy (practical as applied to dentistry only).

(b) The second section shall be passed at the end of the second year, and shall consist of examination in the following subjects, viz.:—Anatomy, physiology.

(c) The third section shall be passed at the end of the third year, and shall consist of examination in the following subjects, viz.:—Mechanical dentistry (practical and theoretical), materia medica and therapeutics.

(d) The fourth section shall be passed at the end of the fourth year, and shall consist of examination in the following subjects, viz.:—Pathology and bacteriology, with special reference to the mouth and teeth; operative dentistry (theoretical and practical), special dental surgery, orthodontia.

The candidates must furnish proof of having dissected a head and neck, and a limb. Students who have left New South Wales for the purpose of studying in schools beyond the Commonwealth previous to January 1, 1908, will be required to comply with the repealed regulation No. 34 of August 19, 1901, as amended by the regulation of June 17, 1903. Students who have left during the period from January 1, 1908, to December 31, 1909, will be required to pass an examination equivalent to the standard of Division "A" of the matriculation examination of the University of Sydney.

The examinations are to take place each year during the month of December. An applicant for registration must submit with his application an unmounted photograph of himself, duly signed with his usual signature across the lower right-hand corner, for the purpose of identification. Applications for examination or for registration made at any time after the commencement of the Dentists (Amendment) Act, 1909, shall be dealt with under these regulations.

The registration of any person as a dentist shall not authorise him to use any letters, title, or description after his name. The registration certificate of the board is set out in the schedule to the regulations, and will be the only document granted to successful candidates for registration.

Unregistered persons employed by a dentist must not perform any operation in surgical dentistry otherwise than under the direct personal supervision of a registered dentist. Any person who contravenes this regulation, and any dentist employing such person who wilfully permits him to perform any such operation in contravention of this regulation, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding £20.

THE MANAGER INTERVIEWED.

Mr. A. C. K. Mackenzie, manager of the Australian team, in the course of an interview at Dunedin, expressed the opinion that cricket had not improved since he visited New Zealand 16 years ago, but that it must improve in the next few years if the plan of coaching was continued. He thought the test match was very open. The visitors will have to play to win. The visit of the South Africans to Australia will create most intense interest throughout the Commonwealth.

WEST MELBOURNE TRAGEDY

A VICTIM'S REMARKABLE LETTER.

REVENGE ON HER HUSBAND.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Some remarkable disclosures were made at to-day's inquest concerning the victims of the burning tragedy at West Melbourne on Thursday night. Mrs. Day, it will be remembered, set fire to her house, with the result that her three children were burned to death. After setting fire to the building Mrs. Day cut her throat. Considerable interest was taken in the inquest because of a letter Mrs. Day wrote to the Chief Commissioner of Police on the night of the occurrence. This letter was read by the coroner to-day. It was as follows:—Dear Sir,—Enclosed are my certificate of marriage, also the birth certificate to prove that Constable Day is John Herbert Day, and not Edward Arthur, as he took his brother's name to get into the police, as he was over the age. His brother, Edward Arthur Day, is a saddler living at Wangaratta. The said John Herbert Day has wronged me and completely broken my heart by carrying on with my sister, Rose Woodward, who is living with us. I was told to-day by her that she loves him, and cannot live without him, also he says he will keep her. I intend to put an end to such wrong doing. I am quite sane, and I suppose some people will say I am mad, but I am not. To live the last two years over again I cannot. Lilyan Ada Day, wife of the above."

The first witness examined was John Herbert Day. He said that on Thursday evening when he kissed his wife and children Mrs. Day appeared to be in her usual frame of mind. On leaving her she said, "Good-bye." Miss Rose Woodward was his wife's stepsister. He first heard of the tragedy when on duty in Little Bourke-street at 11.45 p.m. on Thursday. His wife was in a certain condition. She was a very sensitive woman. He had always lived on happy terms with his wife.

Rose Woodward, who is somewhat deaf, said that she was 20 years of age, and single. She was a stepsister of the late Mrs. Day. She had been residing with the deceased woman for about five years, and on the night of March 3 she was there. Mrs. Day occupied a front room as a rule, but some times she slept with the children. When witness went to bed the children were in the back bedroom. Mrs. Day was in the kitchen writing a letter. Continuing, witness said:—"On that night my sister woke me. I got up, and she led me from the room to the dining-room. There was a fire in the room. I could not say where it was burning.

Solicitor for Day: She is very nearly blind.

Miss Woodward: I cannot say definitely what took place. I screamed. Mrs. Day struggled with me. Mrs. Day appeared to me to be trying to put me on the fire. Someone came into the house then, and put me on my feet. I was lying on the floor at the time. I rushed to the front verandah.

Coroner: Were you on good terms with her?

Witness: We had a conversation.

Coroner: After that were you friendly with her?

Witness: Yes, as far as I know. I went to see if I could get a situation. Mrs. Day came with me, as I could not find the number of the houses alone. The place was taken, and I said I would try for another at Sandringham. She wanted to know why I wanted to go that far from home. I said I thought it was best, as I had learnt to love her husband. Mrs. Day did not say anything. Since the death of my parents, I have been living with Mr. and Mrs. Day, by reason of deafness and partial blindness I was not able to do any work.

Day was recalled, and in reply to the Coroner, said he had never made love to Miss Woodward.

He had never said to his wife that he intended to keep Rose Woodward in the house when it was suggested that his sister-in-law should find a situation. He was perfectly satisfied that she should go.

The coroner said he was not quite satisfied with the evidence of the husband. There seemed to be a lack of candour about it, and certain things had to be dragged from him. That might have been due to the fact that his memory had been shaken by the tragedy. He would record a finding that Lilyan Ada Day died from hemorrhage, the result of a wound self-inflicted in the throat, and Violet Lillyan, Herbert Roy, and Charles Cyril from burns, the result of a fire caused by Lillyan Ada Day. He thought that at the time Mrs. Day was mentally unsound, and found accordingly.

Day has been discharged from the police force for giving his wrong Christian name when entering the service. Day said he did that because he was over 25 years of age, and the regulations prevented anyone joining over that age.

PORTUGUESE SHOOTS GIRL.

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.

Norma Plush, aged 12, the victim of the shooting case at Tanundra on Saturday afternoon, died on Sunday morning. An inquest was held at Tanundra yesterday, and Carl Bonello, a Portuguese, was committed for trial on a charge of murder. The evidence was of a sensational character. The little girl's mother stated that Bonello approached the kitchen and tried to force his way in. She attempted to prevent him, but he overpowered her. She rushed at him and endeavoured to protect Norma. She tried to take the revolver from him, but was unsuccessful. She heard two shots. Norma cried, "Mamma, I'm shot." The father's evidence was to the effect that when he went to get his rifle after the shooting he found the cartridges missing. They were subsequently found in a bag of oats in Bonello's room.

IS A WOMAN A LAYMAN?

METHODIST CONFERENCE DECISION.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The placidity of the Methodist Conference was disturbed to-day by an announcement made by the Rev. M. Bullas. The news was so unexpected that the oldest representatives sat bolt upright in astonishment. The Rev. M. Bullas said that Miss Job, from Queenstown (Tas.), was present in Wesley Church as a substitute for a layman in that circuit, but she was not armed with the necessary documents, and therefore had not taken her seat within the bar of the conference. He asked that the irregularity be removed. The President (the Rev. J. P. M'Cann) said that if the chairman of the Queenstown district was prepared to certify that the lady was legally elected he would not offer any objection to Miss Job taking her seat. In the conference he hoped she would have a good influence on the unruly members. "Will," he concluded, "Miss Job step within the bar of the conference? I hope some gallant gentleman will lead her within the bar." A number of representatives were instantly on their feet, but before they could leave their places the Rev. H. Salloway had stepped to the front of the platform. "I don't wish to be ungallant," the Rev. H. Salloway said, "but I have still to learn that we, as an annual conference, have any power to admit the best lady in Victoria within the conference. ('Oh!') Our constitution does not make any provision for that. This annual conference is composed of an equal number of ministers and laymen."

The President: If a lady can be a member of a quarterly meeting—as many ladies are—I think she has a right to be elected to an annual conference. (Applause.)

The Rev. E. T. Cox: The mere term "man" does not determine the sex. The brethren are splitting hairs. The term "laymen" includes women. (Applause.)

The President: I believe that the term "laymen" does include ladies, if they are largely represented by the quarterly meeting. (Applause.)

As Miss Job walked down the aisle towards the pulpit the representatives rose and vigorously applauded her.

PREMIER RACES A TRAIN.

HINT TO MR. JOHNSON.

CASINO, Tuesday.

Mr. Wade, the Premier, made in the course of private interviews a few remarks which may lead to further notice from the Chief Railway Commissioner. The Premier had come over by motor from Grafton, and although one of the tyres got punctured he arrived in Casino three-quarters of an hour before the train. He thought the Casino people had a very good case for an improved railway service between Grafton and Casino. His trip has been an eye-opener, as he had hitherto no idea of the richness of the soil. He thought the action of the Government in sanctioning the construction of the North Coast railway was a forward move, and the line would do a lot of good to the rich North Coast.

QUEEN VICTORIA MARKETS.

PLANS TO BE PURCHASED.

A special meeting of the City Council was held last night for the purpose of considering the question of purchasing the designs Nos. 30, 35, 40, and 65, alternative, for remodelling Queen Victoria Markets.

The Lord Mayor urged the council to come to some definite conclusion on the matter. If they did decide to purchase, it did not follow that they would be bound to carry out any particular scheme. They were now losing £20,000 a year, and something should be done to try to do away with this incubus. It was, in his opinion, a standing disgrace that so much dead money should be lying there year after year. He moved,—"That the council do now resolve into committee of the whole to consider the Lord Mayor's minute and the report of the board of adjudication on the purchase of designs Nos. 30, 35, 40, and 65, alternative."

In reply to Alderman Mallett, the Lord Mayor said he still hoped that the Commonwealth Government would yet purchase the property.

Alderman Mallett suggested that, in that case, perhaps it would be as well if they deferred the matter until after the general election, to see whether there would be a sane Government in office—(Laughter).

Alderman Meagher was prepared to agree with the report.

Alderman T. H. Kelly thought that none of the plans showed that the building, remodelled on their lines, would bring in the revenue claimed for them. He considered it possible to get along with the building as at present, with some minor alterations. He opposed the adoption of the report, and would not buy any of the plans.

Alderman Cocks failed to see any justification for expending £850 in consolation prizes to gentlemen furnishing the plans.

Alderman English thought the shops on the ground floor of the markets could be so altered as to bring in much higher rents than they did at present. He supported the adoption of the report.

Alderman Clarke also supported the adoption of the report, and said the plans, if purchased, would not be pigeon-holed, but something would be done to improve the revenue-producing capacity of the premises.

The report was adopted by 13 to 7.

CITY ELECTRIC LIGHT.

PROPOSED CONCESSIONS.

From information supplied to the electric-lighting committee, it appears that the City Council's electric light installation returned a total income for the last municipal year of £118,275, while the net profit was £17,898 8s 4d. The City electrical engineer says, in a report, that it is expected that the profit for this year will not be so great, but he did not think it would fall below £12,000, if all the sources of revenue were maintained as at present. He hoped that after 1910 the profit would continue to rise. The time had come, in his opinion, when a concession should be made to the consumer in the shape of the abolition of rents for meters, and maximum demand indicators. This would mean a gain to the consumers, and a sacrifice of revenue on the part of the council of about £500 per annum, as things were at present. It would make a difference in the revenue for 1910 of about £5750. He recommended that from June 30 next, one lighting meter, one power meter, and one maximum demand meter, for each service, be supplied free of charge. Where more than one lighting meter, power meter, or maximum demand indicator per service, is desired by the consumer, the charges to be as at present. It was decided to defer consideration of the report, and, in the meantime, to circulate copies among members of the council.

GEO. INNES & CO.,

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Certain unscrupulous persons have stated that Triumph Motor Cycle Engines are made by an outside firm, and that the same manufacturer supplies Engines to other houses. We will give any buyer a written and signed guarantee that the famous Triumph Engines are made at the Triumph Works, and that the Triumph Company do not supply the trade.

THE MARVELLOUS SUCCESS OF THE TRIUMPH MOTOR CYCLE has brought a host of would-be competitors into the field, most of them copying the Triumph Engine without securing the efficiency that has made the Triumph famous.

We can still supply the Triumph from stock at the same price as formerly, £65, and the same price as competitors ask for the imitation.

We have just received the following testimonial (from Messrs. Davies, Shephard, and Co., ANNANDALE):—
"We have received such excellent results from the Schebler Carburetor purchased from you in October last, and which we found easily adaptable to our twin-cylinder car, that all Carburetor troubles have disappeared. It is easily adjustable, sensitive, automatic in action, and at all speeds of engine gives an equally perfect mixture, and has given perfect satisfaction."

FINANCIAL.

CITY MUTUAL LIFE.

The thirty-first annual report, to be presented on March 14, is to hand. Therein it is stated that of 3745 proposals received 3439 were completed, assuring £505,745, yielding an annual premium of £21,505. The new business for the year is a record for the society. The directors state that they would have been quite satisfied if the figures had been £100,000 short of the half million, and no special effort was made to push for new business. "Commission, medical fees, travelling and agency expenses absorb on the average 90 per cent. of the first year's premiums, and the result is that in the case of a society, whose new business amounts to a large proportion of the total premium income, the expense rate of the institution seems large when the figures are compared with an office whose new business is comparatively small. Thus the expense rate of the society for the year 1909 amounts to about 25 per cent. of the total income, seemingly a somewhat high rate; but after allowing 90 per cent. of the first premiums for the expense of obtaining them, it is seen that the balance of the year's income, £87,114 cost only £8689, under 10 per cent., a rate much lower than that of most Australasian life offices. And provided the new business be of a select type, and a fair proportion remains on the books, the initial cost of 90 per cent., though high, is well within the margin of actuarial safety, and satisfactory business results." The directors announce their intention of limiting new business for the current year to £400,000 as far as practicable. During the year a profit of £2500 on the sale of the society's investments was carried to a contingency fund. For the first time the yearly income exceeded £100,000. At the close of the year the society had on its books 16,459 policies, assuring £2,194,324, with an annual premium income of £90,000. The retiring directors are Dr. J. A. Beattie and Mr. G. Crowley, and the retiring auditor, Mr. G. T. Clarke. All three offer themselves for re-election.

The following comparison shows the growth of new business effected by the society during the last five years, as set out in succeeding balance-sheets:—

Year.	Policies Issued. No.	Amount Assured. £	New Premiums. £
1904	1,464	188,019	8,104
1905	1,859	242,091	10,545
1906	2,285	298,267	13,336
1907	1,986	286,398	12,767
1908	2,723	395,199	17,054
1909	3,439	505,745	21,505

The amount of death claims for the year closed is put down at £12,840.

AMALGAMATION OF FIRE COMPANIES.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

In connection with the provisional agreement for the amalgamation of the Australasian Plate-glass Insurance Company, Limited, and the London and Lancashire Fire Insurance Company, an extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders of the first-named company was held to-day. It was resolved that each member should have one vote per share, and the resolution will be submitted for confirmation at a subsequent meeting. At the conclusion of the meeting to-day Messrs. J. Buchan and J. Wilson, representing the shareholders, waited on the management of the London and Lancashire Fire Insurance Company. It is understood that the details of the provisional agreement were ratified.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

A private cable received yesterday states the price of linseed oil in England at 2/9½—a rise of /0½ since last week. Merchants are looking for still higher prices, but the local quotation is still 4/3 to 4/5. The market for castor oil in Calcutta is agitated, and the demand improving, so that better prices are also anticipated in this line. As regards fish oils, it is stated that there will be no fresh supplies of Yokohama herring oil until the May shipments arrive. Ordinary fish oil is quoted for April shipment from Japan at £16/16/, c.i.f. and e., and merchants' prices at the moment for Yokohama herrings are from 1/6 to 1/7 net. Blundell and Spences' linseed oil is quoted at 4/3 to 4/5 for distributing lots, while for lines /1 less is accepted. Second brands range from 4/ to 4/2, distributing lots, and 3/11 to 4/1 for larger lines. Orders are coming in very freely for flyblown oil, and also for Morrison's Stockholm tar, and the demand for these is much larger than formerly. Colonial red seal zinc, in ton lots, is sold at £26, or £27/10/ under that quantity; ground in oil £34. In the metal market there is a fair demand for tinplates, which are still quoted nominally at 16/. For galvanised wire there is a good inquiry, and some large orders are on the market from New Zealand. Woolpacks are being quoted at 2/ to arrive, and Calcutta market is firm at the present time. A sale of 50 bales of old cornsacks was effected at 7/9. There is more inquiry for bran bags, and prices are firm. New standard cornsacks are quiet. In brewers' goods, hops are in exceedingly light supply, and, as a consequence, prices continue very firm. Last year a goodly quantity of New Zealand hops were sent to London, the high prices there tempting holders to try the market. The experiment is likely to be repeated this year, so that there seems little likelihood of low prices from that side. The opening rates have been given at 1/3 to 1/4, in bond. New season's Tasmanian hops are quoted at 1/ to 1/3, f.o.b. Hobart, and there is practically none of the old crop left. Early qualities will be picked about the middle of the month, but the better qualities will not be picked until towards the end. Californian and Kent hops are scarce. Malt is also stocked very lightly. There is very little of the English article on the market, and the shipments coming forward are small. The quotation for this article is from 10/ to 10/6. Victorian new season's malt is from 6/3 to 6/6, but there is still some old available. Business has been reported in Brazil isinglass at 4/1½, and in Penang leaf at 4/3 to 4/6.

BREADSTUFFS.

Buyers are still holding off anything like free operations in the wheat market, and shippers yesterday were offering from 3/11½ to 4/. There was, however, no dealing, as no guarantees could be given of delivery. At the present moment very little is doing in the English market, and this explains the position to-day in the local one.

Flour is unchanged in price, and the market is very quiet, £10 being quoted for first brands, and from £9 15/ for second.

At Darling Harbour yesterday 2293 tons of wheat and 72 tons of flour were manifested to arrive.

PRICE OF FLOUR.

"Country Storekeeper" writes:—I notice that though there has been a fall in wheat lately of 4d per bushel (the present price being 4/0½), the price of flour has only diminished 5/ per ton, it being now quoted in your paper at £10/5/. How is it that in Melbourne and Adelaide, where wheat is ruling at about the same price, flour can be bought at £9? Can you explain to me why there should be such a difference as £1/5/ in the price? Does it cost more to manufacture it here, or is it that the wheat grown in this State is of an inferior quality? I have always understood that the quality of our wheat is equal to anything in the world.

ARRIVALS BY RAIL.

Comparison of Prices.—The mean prices now ruling for wheat and its products compare with those of a year ago and two years ago as follows:—

	Two Years Ago.	Last Year.	Yesterday.

Bran, per ton	5/12/6	4/10/	4/10/
Pollard, per ton	7/2/6	5/0/0	4/10/

In the case of flour the price given is the mean convention price, and with bran and pollard it is the association price.

A few Indians also changed hands. 15 tons small pearl tapioca were sold, and a good business done in chemicals. Further advices from Mildura add that the rainfall will tend to sensibly reduce the output, and it is feared that a good deal of the fruit has been split by the rain. Californian prunes are selling well. 200 cases salmon were placed.

MELBOURNE LIVE STOCK MARKET.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

In the live stock market to-day fat sheep consisted chiefly of second and useful grades. The proportion of best wethers in both crossbreds and merinos proved about ample for local trade requirements. Notwithstanding the increased supply, demand was active, and prices ruled slightly in advance of last week's improved rates. The graziers competed keenly for crossbred wethers and ewes grading from fair condition to three-parts fat, while old inferior ewes were neglected.

Quotations:—Prime crossbred wethers from 14/ to 15/9, extra ditto ditto from 16/ to 17/8, good ditto ditto from 12/6 to 13/6, second ditto ditto from 10/6 to 11/9; prime crossbred ewes from 11/6 to 13/6, extra ditto ditto from 14/ to 14/9, good ditto ditto from 9/9 to 11/, second ditto ditto from 8/ to 9/6; prime merino wethers from 13/ to 14/9, extra ditto ditto from 15/ to 16/6, good ditto ditto from 10/9 to 12/6, second and inferior from 8/, few from 7/, with merino ewes from 7/ to 12/, old and inferior from 3/ upwards.

Fat Lambs.—The market was a gradually weakening one. Opening sales were irregular, and prices generally ruled easier, while in the latter part of the day prices for those suited to trade requirements ruled about 1/ per head lower. Prime sold at from 11/ to 12/6, extra at from 13/ to 14/3, good from 9/ to 10/6; second sold at from 8/ to 8/9, and inferior from 6/.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

TRADE IN SUSSEX-STREET.

BIG DROP IN POTATOES.

Business had a brighter appearance than at the beginning of the week. The reason of this was chiefly due to the largest shipment of Tasmanian potatoes being landed this year. In all there were 20,500 bags for Sydney agents. Buyers had a splendid selection to choose from. The previous week's consignments were 6000 less. Such a large increase as this was not expected. The result was that values suffered. Instead of a £6 market ruling, as last week, the top price that could be received was £5/5/, being 15/ lower. There were only about 50 to 100 bags of whiteskins included in the shipment, as these have now finished. Cape barley for seed purposes had good attention.

Buyers have not yet commenced to operate with freedom on the new season's maize, sales being still slow at 3/. White oats, on the other hand, were in strong request, and cleared readily at 2/7. The best brown Spanish onions had a good sale at £4/10/. The chaff shipment was expected to be marketed to-day. Lucerne was quiet, as big shipments continued to arrive from the Hunter River. The quality was lacking in nearly all consignments.

DAIRY PRODUCE.

EGGS VERY FIRM—CHEESE GLUT LIFTED.

Those who control the fixing of the price of butter feel confident that a higher value for butter would be a step in the wrong direction. The reason they give is that the English market is emerging on the tail end. Last year the prices fell away considerably and rapidly towards the close of the season. The consignments which are now going home will not arrive at their destination until May, and what the market price will then be is hard to say. If it is anything like last year's a higher price than is now ruling here would be most absurd. In order to give a fair return on both markets the present price cannot be improved upon in the long run. The cheese market was clearing up well, as this is now the third week since shipments eased. It is anticipated, however, that shippers will shortly be forwarding heavy consignments again. But the cheese is expected to be much improved; it will be older and firmer, and will not arrive in such a broken state, and, therefore, must sell better. Light lean bacon is selling best, but the bulk of the stocks is in heavy sides. Eggs were a shade firmer; top price of new-laid improved /1.

Current quotations were:—

Butter.—First grade 96/, medium 92/ to 94/, seconds 88/ to 90/, inferior from 86/ per cwt.

Cheese.—Prime loaf and large /5 to /5½, lines /4½, good /4 to /4½, rough /2½ to /3½; special brands, /5½ per lb.

Lard.—Packets /5½ to /6; bulk, /5 to /5½; special brands, packets /6½; bulk, /6 per lb.

Hams.—Bacon hams, /10 to /11; prepared, /11 to 1/; special 1/1½ to 1/1¾ per lb.

Bacon.—Prime factory, sides /8 to /8½; flitches, /7¾ to /8½; middles, /9 to /10; special sides, /9½; flitches, /8 to /8½; middles, /10½ per lb.

Eggs.—Northern river, 1/ to 1/1, choice 1/2; southern and railway, 1/1 to 1/2, choice 1/4; suburban, new-laid, 1/3 to 1/5, choice 1/6 to 1/7; duck eggs, new-laid, choice large 1/4 to 1/5, choice 1/2 to 1/3 per dozen.

Messrs. Mossman and Ellis report having obtained the following prices at their auction sale on Tuesday:—Eggs, case to /15, new laid /16 to /18, choice suburban /19½, duck to /17½ per dozen; fowls, young roosters 3/ to 5/3, choice to 6/9, small from 2/, fat hens 3/6 to 4/; ducks, English 2/6 to 3/3, no choice to hand, muscovy 3/ to 3/6, choice 3/10; drakes, muscovy 4/ to 5/3, choice 6/6; turkeys, small mixed coops 4/6 to 6/9 per pair, hens, medium to 7/6, cocks, young 5/ to 9/; no good turkeys forward; pigeons, to 1/9 per pair. Short supply of eggs caused a stiff rise in prices for new laids. Poultry in good supply, prices low except for primest quality.

POULTRY.

Values showed no particular change. Chickens were in good supply. Old fat hens were plentiful, and sold steadily. Ducks were slow of sale. Roosters cleared best of all.

The following prices were received:—

Old hens, choice 3/9, good 3/ to 3/3; roosters, choice 5/, good 3/ to 4/; chickens, large 2/6; grillers, 1/ to 2/; mixed coops, 3/ to 3/6; English ducks, 2/ to 2/9; geese, choice 6/6, good 5/; Muscovy ducks, 3/ to 4/6; drakes, 4/6 to 5/; turkey gobblers, choice 15/, good 12/, light 9/ to 10/; turkey hens, choice 7/ to 10/, good 6/ to 7/; guineafowls, 4/6 to 5/6; pigeons, 1/2 to 1/6 per pair.

APIARY PRODUCTS.

There was a lot of honey of poor body and colour on the market, which was hard to quit. Anything showing quality moved well.

Current quotations were:—

Honey.—Western, 60lb tins, choice /3½ to /3¾, good /2½ to /3½; Northern river, /2 to /2½; rough and candied, /1 to /2½ per lb.

Beeswax.—Prime clear, 1/1 to 1/3; dark, 1/ to 1/1 per lb.

FIREWOOD.

Only 20 truckloads of firewood arrived, and on this account the sales were rapid, at increased rates in a few instances. Bakers' wood was quiet.

The following prices were realised:—

Best boxwood, 15/ to 16/6, good 14/ to 15/; ironbark and stringybark, 10/6 to 16/; best bakers' wood, 13/, good 12/ to 13/ per ton.

Lucerne chaff commanded 4/, while wheaten straw and barley were not sold. Weevily maize was knocked down at 2/10; wheat, prime chick, at from 2/9 to 3/6½; prime Algerian oats from 1/8 to 1/10½; white and rye corn at 2/11½. BROKEN HILL MINES.

BROKEN HILL, Tuesday.

The Broken Hill Junction mine, if the expected coal arrives this week, will probably re-open next week, at any rate, for a test run of the re-constructed surface plant. In underground work, the third compartment of the Browne shaft has been completed, and runners are now being fixed. Stripping the 775ft level has also been completed, and the truck-road is being put down. The tramlines are being repaired at the 550 and 675 feet levels. McIntyre shaft, which will be used as a mullock pass, is almost cleared. It has been repaired right to the surface. An iron smokestack is to be sunk in the shaft, to provide a clear passage through the upper levels, which are still affected by the old creep. This somewhat unique experiment is expected to prove good. The mill plant will have got over its adjustment stage, and the mine and mill be ready for full three-shift work by the time Newcastle coal is available at normal rates.

Construction work at the British mine continues to make good headway, but much has yet to be done. An extension of the railway line to the storage bins has been laid. The new bins for the zinc concentrates, which will hold about 1000 tons, are well under way. The old bins, also of 1000 tons capacity, will be kept for leady concentrates.

The manager of the King's Bluff gold mine, Olary, reports striking a sulphide lode at the bottom of the main shaft at 570ft.

Labour is so scarce in the Port Pirie district that the B.H. Proprietary Company is seeking to secure in Broken Hill quarrymen and wood-cutters for its works at Iron Knob.

The B.H. Block 14 mine last week sent away 580 tons of good grade carbonates, going somewhat higher for silver than formerly.

Mr. E. J. Horwood's slime treatment process has been definitely adopted by the Hercules Company, in Tasmania, and is being installed for active work. The experimental treatment plant at Bendigo is at present treating stuff from Queensland, and will next try material from the South Comstock mine (Tasmania), which was taken over recently by the B.H. Block 10 Company. No company has yet pioneered the adoption of the process on the Barrier.

The B.H. South mine is already working again, under normal conditions, with almost a full complement of men.

The mill returns for Broken Hill for the month of February will be incorporated with those for the current month of March.

A scarcity of good carpenters is interfering with the rapid completion of the Murex experimental plant on the B.H. Block 14 mine.

A series of western crosscuts has been started in the B.H. South Blocks mine, to further prove the width of the lode. The crosscut at No. 4 level is in a few feet, and the one at No. 6 is in 14ft, both in ore, with no sign of the western walls. The new winding engine is in full work. The mine is now well supplied with coal.

Coal and water troubles have now been beaten in all the mines along the line of lode.

The crosscut west of the Silver City Blocks, at 115ft, is in about 3ft, and the lode formation is carrying good specks of galena and promising zinciferous ore. Samples have been sent in for assay.

MINING.

FALL IN METALS. SHARES FIRM.

The announcement by cable message that the price of both copper and lead had fallen was tempered by the knowledge that the London Stock Exchange was apparently not adversely affected thereby. Indeed, the quotations for Great Cobars, Mount Elliott's, and Great Fitzroys indicated a steady market for copper stocks, whilst those for silver shares disclosed a fairly steady feeling for Barrier interests.

The position locally was, that whilst there was not much activity in either the copper or silver sections, values were well maintained in nearly every case as regards silver shares, whilst copper stocks were firm, gold shares were lifeless, and tin was represented by a forward movement in Vegetable Creek Tin, with a weaker feeling for the Tongkah Harbour Tin Dredging.

In the case of silver shares, B.H. Junction North eased a fraction, North Broken Hill improved from £5/7/6 to £5/8/9; Sulphide Corporation, ord., held firm at 21/10½; B.H. Junctions at 8/3, with C.S.A. firming a shade. In the case of those stocks not dealt in, there was no distinctive feature in the quotations. Except in the case of B.H. Souths, contributing, and Amalgamated Zinc, which were unobtainable at an advance on the last sale, buyers quoted under late rates, whilst sellers were just as persistent in quoting above. In the other more fashionable stocks, such as B.H. Souths, paid, Zinc Corporation, pref., and British (old) holders sounded a firm note.

Though the amount of business transacted in copper scrip was rather limited in extent, the prices realized were in favour of sellers, despite the decline of 12/6 per ton in the value of the red metal. Such are the vagaries of the market. One can understand an advance in share values, in face of a drop in the price of copper—that is, when the prospects of a mine have materially improved coincidently with the fall in copper, but, as far as can be learned, this was not the factor in the sales booked in Wallaroo and Moonta, Mount Morgans, and Great Fitzroys. Local buyers of Mount Elliotts were 1/9 under those on the London Stock Exchange. The Kangiara group were rather quiet. Kyloe Copper held steady, with a few inquiries for O.K. Copper, New Einasleigh, Lobb's Hole, Budgery, Chillagoe, contributing, and Tolwong Mineral.

In the afternoon a fair amount of business was done in Wallaroo and Moonta, Great Fitzroy, and Kyloe Copper, ordinary, each of which eased a shade. Kangiara Proprietary, paid, Budgery, and O.K. Copper changed hands at late rates, whilst Mount Lyells were supported at a firm price. In silver shares, Amalgamated Zinc were in strong demand, sales being booked at 30/, a rise of 1/9. B.H. Souths, contributing, moved up the same amount, with Sulphide Corporation holding steady. In gold shares, Sandstone Development firmed a little, on the strength of the crushing just reported. Harden Gold Mine sold again on the downgrade. Tin shares were neglected.

THE FEBRUARY GOLD YIELD.

A return furnished by the Under-Secretary for Mines shows that the gold yield recorded for this State for the month of February is 17,529oz crude, equal to 15,841oz fine, valued at £67,291, as compared with 28,222oz crude, equal to 23,867oz fine, valued at £101,381, for the same month in 1909. The yield for the first two months of the year is 39,161oz crude, equal to 34,160oz fine, valued at £145,103, as compared with 48,107oz crude, equal to 40,606oz fine, valued at £172,483, for the same period in 1909, thus showing a decrease of 6446oz fine and £27,380 in value.

THE ZINC INDUSTRY.

A BIG DROP IN EXPORTS.

BROKEN HILL, Tuesday.

What the zinc industry is to Broken Hill is thoroughly proved by the Customs' export figures for February. Only the B.H. Junction North, B.H. North, Central, B.H. South Blocks, and Zinc Corporation exported leady concentrates for the month, and the value of these dropped from £106,455 in January, to £67,184. The value of zinc concentrates, on the other hand, improved from 24,778 tons, valued at £60,191, to 26,879 tons, valued at £73,306. The mineral exports for February totalled £149,463, against £177,536 for January. Every line showed depreciation, except zinc concentrates.

WESTERN AUSTRALIAN MINES.

KALGOORLIE, Tuesday.

During February the Hainault Company treated 5706 tons for £7570, expenditure £6057, profit £1513.

Mr. Edward Hooper is about to pay another visit to Kalgoorlie. Besides being senior partner in the firm of Messrs. Hooper, Speak, and Williams, he is also director of the Boulder Perseverance.

The deep levels in the Ivanhoe Company are looking exceptionally well. This is particularly noticeable in the case of the north end of the 1820ft level, while the winzes going down in the ore body from these workings are also furnishing high values. Despite the enormous wealth dug out of this wonderful mine, its intrinsic value to-day is probably greater now than at any previous period of its history.

SPECIAL ARTICLES, ETC.

The export meat trade continues to absorb attention. It is doubtful if the matter was ever more engaging, since there is so much necessity for export to cope with the rapidly increasing flocks and herds. The matter is discussed in our pastoral columns from an interesting point of view. More than ordinary attention is paid this week to the shearing season, and the dates and arrangements for the campaign in Queensland are explained. In the farm columns several interesting questions are treated, and there is an article on the stock at the Yass Show. The dairying columns contain a criticism of the anti-graders' action at the recent butter conference. "Ranco" has an unusually good budget of topical notes, and "Rupestris" writes on the question of co-operative spraying in the fruit columns. There are many other matters of interest in these pages to the producers, whose industries are always warmly championed.

"Milroy's" informative notes on the yearling thoroughbreds are continued; and he gives an entertaining account of his travels in visiting several of the western studs. Turf details are, as usual, up to date and complete, having reference to the sport in all parts of Australia.

Australian Short Stories, by E. S. Sorenson and Violet Pettengell; Poem, "At the Biograph," by M. Forrest.

"Housewife" contributes a good deal of valuable information concerning dress fashions and household recipes; and there is also a complete record of the social events of the week.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

Patrons of pony and galloway racing assemble at Kensington this afternoon, when an interesting programme will be played out. The track is in excellent order, and good sport is promised. The transit arrangements include a special tram service to the racecourse gates, while the ordinary traffic to Kensington and Randwick will also be available. The first race is timed to start at 2.15 p.m.

Maltine, Don Hannibal, and Son of the Marsh were yesterday withdrawn from the A.J.C. Doncaster Handicap, and Son of the Marsh and Flavel from the Sydney Cup.

Wangarbon Amateur Race Club (March 28), Tocumwal Jockey Club (March 28), and Maule's Creek Picnic Race Club (March 28) race meetings have been granted registration by the A.J.C.

The New Zealand horse Bobrikoff was handicapped by mistake for the Sydney Cup. He was not among the nominations for that race.

The first section of Frank M'Grath's team, consisting of Call Boy, Cupdial, Duke Foote, King Foote, Plunder, and Sunlike, has returned from Melbourne, after taking part in the Victorian autumn racing campaign, and the remainder, comprising Prince Foote, Ungarie, Diplomatist, and Tanami, will arrive this forenoon. By the same train come J. Siely's trio, Flavinius, Kuringai, and Lautoka.

R. Adcock has appealed against the decision of the Rosebery stewards in disqualifying him, the mare Lilliaster, and jockey J. Cartright, for 12 months for alleged suspicious practices on Saturday last.

In the programme of the Ascot pony and galloway race meeting, to take place on Wednesday, the 16th inst, entries for which close to-morrow, the distance of the 14.1 Handicap appears as 4½ furlongs in error. The distance should be 4 furlongs.

An effective transit service has been arranged for the second day of the Rosehill Autumn Meeting on Saturday, when nine special trains will run to the racecourse gates from the Central Railway Station.

The action of the A.J.C. in augmenting the prize money of the future is evidently appreciated in New Zealand, judging by the following excerpt by "Phaeton in the "New Zealand Herald":—"The Australian Jockey Club is evidently determined to make a bold bid for supremacy in the turf world of Australasia, and the manner in which the New South Wales body is piling up the stake money shows that there are some very progressive spirits there at the present moment. The stake money for next season has been increased by £7900, compared with this season. That the Metropolitan Handicap and Sydney Cup should respectively receive further additions was, of course, only to be expected, and with 3500 sovs tacked on to the former and 4000 sovs. to the latter there is something of a very attractive order before horseowners. It is, however, in catering for the weight-for-age class that the A.J.C. strike the most powerful note, and with the A.J.C. Derby raised to 4000 sovs., and the Craven Plate and All-aged Stakes respectively to 2000 sovs., it can be said that Randwick is likely to stand by itself in so far as stake money to races of the class named is concerned. With rapid and comfortable communication between New Zealand and Sydney now established, and which makes the shipment of horses between the two places of really less concern than transportation from the South Island to Auckland, it is to be expected that as time rolls on the Australian Jockey Club's meetings will received increased attention at the hands of owners in the Dominion; and, with such an array of rich prize money as that narrated above, there will be a strong inducement to send the best Maoriland canproduce to attack Randwick."

THE MORNING GALLOPS.

SOME FAST TIMES.

After being closed for some time the "A" grass track was opened at Randwick yesterday morning, and on it some excellent gallops were recorded. Britain, assisted by Yucca over the last half-mile, ran nine furlongs in the splendid time of 1m 59½s, and went well throughout. Porch ran a mile at a strong pace, and Nadir did similar work. Blue Gem and Wilbertroy covered five furlongs in 1m 6½s. Metegraph and Barallan were coupled for a mile gallop, for which they recorded 1m 46s. Black Range ran seven furlongs in 1m 32½s. Chamade, alone, slipped over a mile in 1m 46s. Orodes and Moeraki registered 1m 7s over five furlongs, and Gidyea ran eight furlongs in 1m 45½s, Grenfell covering a furlong less in 1m 34s. Golden City occupied 1m 47½s in running a mile. Orea was too good for Elegy over three-quarters of a mile, run in 1m 18½s, and Downfall's mission was a mile, which he ran takingly in 1m 45s. Flaxen rattled over six furlongs in 1m 18½s, and Maltchester put past seven furlongs in 1m 34s. San Pedro and Claydon Common ran a mile in 1m 48½s. Bobrikoff went well over seven furlongs in 1m 33½. Hoax got over a mile in 1m 47s, Eunella picking her up over the last five furlongs. Jaguar cast six furlongs behind in 1m 23s, and Borodino negotiated the same journey in 1m 19½s. Apple Pie and Vavasor, in running a mile in 1m 44s, registered the best time of the morning over that distance. Gaby and Footpad ran seven furlongs in 1m 37½s. Cayenne spurted five furlongs in 1m 7½s, and Beau Vive took 1m 7s over the same number of furlongs. Proportion ran a mile in 1m 47s, and Billycan beat Watch Chain over five furlongs in 1m 5½s. Blue Book, Danilo, and Marlee ran nine furlongs, the last mile occupying 1m 47s. Circean and Rhoebus took 1m 11s to cover five furlongs, but Barrel beat Sir Simpleton over the same course in 1m 4½s. Sucre and Marvel Queen ran six furlongs in 1m 20s, and Miss Corelli cut out five furlongs in 1m 7s. Shockaroo spurted half a mile in 50½s, and Desert Rose went at a strong pace over six furlongs, moving freely. Bubble Up, Maintenon, and a mate ran five furlongs in 1m 8s. Pinfall, Outbreak, and another traversed six furlongs in 1m 19½s, and Gigandra went at a useful pace over five furlongs, Earls Court taking 1m 37½s in getting over seven furlongs, and Ease ran five furlongs in 1m 6s. Snowfoot registered 1m 17½s for six furlongs, and Doon Lassie ran a mile at a strong pace. Gold Thread, the New Zealander, went well over seven furlongs, which he accounted for in the fast time of 1m 31½s, and several others did useful work. Poseidon was absent from the track.

On the tan Maltine was out, but only did easy work. She looks well, and seems to have thrown off her soreness. Duke of Clarence ran a mile alone in 1m 47s, and Plunder did useful work. Several others were out doing unimportant tasks.

FOOTBALL.

GLEBE DISTRICT UNION CLUB.

At the annual meeting of the above club on Monday evening the following officers were elected:—Patron, Mr. J. Kidd; president, Mr. J. Hogue, M.L.A.; life members, Messrs. L. G. Abrams, H. Chalker; vice-presidents, Mr. H. R. Arnott, Dr. R. Bohrmann, Dr. W. F. Burfitt, Messrs. W. G. Bullin, W. Bardsley, S. L. Cole, M. B. Donnellan, T. M. J. Goldrick, H. G. Harman, T. P. Harvey, Dr. P. Sydney Jones, Messrs. F. Kurtz, J. S. Lord, A. Newman, A. Scott, A. J. Tomalin, C. H. West, and W. G. Howe; management committee, Messrs. J. Clarken, T. Duggan, J. G. Guthrie, S. A. Middleton, W. Moran, Ray Norman, and F. Wood; hon. auditors, Messrs. C. Goodall and T. P. Harvey; Metropolitan Union Rugby representative, Mr. T. Duggan; delegates to the union, Messrs. T. Duggan, S. A. Middleton, and C. A. M'Carthy; hon. treasurer, Mr. H. R. Baird; hon. secretary, Mr. C. A. M'Carthy; assistant hon. secretary, Mr. J. M. Dunningham; third grade hon. secretary, Mr. A. Muller.

There are quite a number of possibilities in connection with the Rugby Union season. We may have Maori and New Zealand teams here, and a visit from an American side. A letter has been received by the New South Wales Rugby Union from the New Zealand Rugby Union with reference to a visit by a Maori team. The matter is under the consideration of the council. The agreement between New South Wales and New Zealand as to the interchange of visits has now been fixed up. The question of a visit this year is also under consideration. The Americans are anxious to come to Australia this year.

WOLLONGONG, Tuesday.

Medals in connection with the Illawarra Rugby Union's last season competition were presented last night, the Bulli club securing second grade medals, and Scarborough third grade.

LAWN TENNIS.

NEW SOUTH WALES v SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

Efforts are being made to arrange a match to be played in Adelaide next week between New South Wales and South Australia. The New South Wales Association wish that any player willing to take part in it should inform Mr. T. H. Hicks, hon. secretary, during to-day.

THE AUSTRALASIAN CHAMPIONSHIP.

The sixth annual Australasian championship tournament will begin at Adelaide next Monday. This will be the first occasion on which the meeting has taken place in South Australia, the previous events having been held in Melbourne, Christchurch, Brisbane, Sydney, and Perth respectively. Only men's singles and doubles championships have so far been established. But it is possible that in future years ladies' singles and doubles and mixed doubles will be added. The South Australian championships will be played at the same meeting as the Australasian championships, and the usual handicaps are also included in the programme. A. F. Wilding is the holder of the Australasian singles championship, but, as he has left for South Africa, en route to England, he will not be present to defend his title, and it is uncertain whether E. F. Parker and Keane, of Western Australia, who hold the Australasian doubles championship, will be able to make the trip to Adelaide. A strong contingent of Sydney players, including H. Rice, H. A. Parker, and A. C. Campbell are leaving Sydney this week to compete in the championships. Rice and Campbell are to play as a pair for the doubles, and H. A. Parker will have Hunt, of Victoria, for a partner in the same event. There is a possibility of Brookes competing, but latest advices from Adelaide state that he is yet undecided.

AUGUSTUS-STREET METHODIST v ST. THOMAS'S CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

A match between Augustus-street Methodist, B grade, and St. Thomas's Church of England, on the latter's court, at Rozelle, resulted in a win for Augustus-street Methodist by 9 games. Augustus-street Methodist, 8 sets, 56 games; St. Thomas's Church of England, 3 sets, 47 games.

AUGUSTUS-STREET MEHODIST v CASTLE PARK.

This match was played at Tempe. Castle Park won by 7 games.

ST. FIACRE'S, LEICHHARDT, v MORNINGTON, PETERSHAM.

St. Fiacre's, 8 sets, 58 games, beat Mornington, 3 sets, 41 games, on Saturday.

ST. FIACRE'S, LEICHHARDT, v IOLANTHE, MARRICKVILLE.

St. Fiacre's, 10 sets, 67 games, beat Iolanthe, 2 sets, 34 games, on Saturday.

WRESTLING.

AUSTRALIAN CHAMPIONSHIP.

CLARENCE WEBER SUCCESSFUL.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Before a packed house on Monday night at the Cyclorama Clarence Weber, champion wrestler of Australia upheld his title against Jas. M'Murdo, a wrestler of some little note, who has recently arrived in Australia. Weber weighed 13st 8lb, and M'Murdo 12st 1lb. The conditions were catch-as-catch-can, best two falls out of three. Weber secured first fall in 1m 3s, and the second in 13m.

CYCLING AND MOTORING.

LEAGUE NOTES.

The Newcastle Amusements, Ltd., has announced an excellent programme of events for Good Friday and Easter Monday, as follows:—Half-mile handicap, £5; 1½ mile handicap, £10; 1 mile handicap, £7; 5 miles scratch, £10 12s 6d; pursuit race, £8; 3 miles motor cycle race, £8; 3 miles motor cycle paced race, £7.

The Hillston Club has affiliated with the league.

The Bathurst Club has been granted sanction for an open road race on May 14. The club applied recently to the league council to have Mr. S. R. Corry's suspension removed. The council refused.

The Wallsend-Plattsburg carnival will be held on Good Friday afternoon.

CYCLING CARNIVAL.

To-night the Redfern Bicycle Club and South Sydney Harriers will hold their combined cycling and athletic carnival on the Sydney Sports Ground. Splendid entries have been received for the two open handicaps. The tit-bit of the programme should be the special match race—cyclists versus runners—cyclists to ride one mile against runners' half-mile. The first event will be held at 7.45, and as there is a lengthy programme competitors must be on their marks to time.

The annual meeting of the club will be held to-morrow evening in the Redfern Town Hall. The hon. secretary's report will be presented at the meeting, and will show that the club is in a sound position. The balance-sheet will show the club to hold cash and assets to the value of £38 5s 11d. Over £100 was distributed during the year in prizes.

OVERLAND CYCLE RECORD.

Should E. A. Pearson not succeed in increasing his 24-hours' bicycle road record of 301 miles whilst making his attempt on the Sydney-Melbourne record, he may subsequently make an effort to establish new figures on the western district roads of Victoria. To endeavour to cover over 301 miles in the full day on the mountainous roads between Sydney and Tarcutta would, in the opinion of the writer, jeopardise Pearson's chance of regaining the Sydney-Melbourne record. On the Victorian western district roads the chances are that with proper pace and attention Pearson would get nearer 400 miles than 300 miles in 24 hours. With a view of having Pearson's ride properly checked by the New South Wales Cyclists' Union, the Dunlop Rubber Co. have placed a seat in the commissariat car (which will follow the record breaker through the ride), at the disposal of the union, who have arranged for Mr. J. Firkin—one of its executive members—to follow and check the ride. Rain having now fallen along the route between Gundagai and Seymour the tracks should be in good order for Pearson's attempt on Thursday, 24th inst.

SWIMMING.

WESTERN SUBURBS LEAGUE CLUB.

The results of the heats of the above club's 50yds handicap at Abbotsford Baths on Monday night were:—First heat: Wenbain, 20s, 1; Smith, 7s, 2. Time, 55s. Second heat: Paterson, 18s, 1; Cooper, 10s, 2. Time, 55s. Third heat: G. Chessell, 17s, 1; Walker, 6s, 2. Time, 51s. Fourth heat: F. Chessell, 7s, 1; Salisbury, 11s, 2. Time, 55s. Fifth heat: Grey, 22s, 1; H. Craw, 14s, 2. Time, 53 2-5s. The final will be held at the club's carnival on the 19th inst.

NEWTOWN DISTRICT CLUB.

The Newtown Swimming Club held a 100yds handicap at Drummoyne Baths on Saturday, also the diving championship of the club. Results—100yds handicap:—Final: S. Feukes, 9s, 1; A. Jackson, 10s, 2; T. O'Donnell, 15s, 3. Time, 1m 16 2-5s. Diving championship: J. Hay, 1; C. Kayser, 2; A. Reardon, 3.

EASTERN DISTRICTS' ASSOCIATION.

It has been decided to hold a mile challenge contest (18 men a side) between Bondi, Eastern Suburbs, Randwick and Coogee, and Rose Bay Clubs on Wednesday evening, March 23, at Coogee Aquarium. In conjunction with the above a 60yds handicap will be held, open to members of clubs affiliated to the Eastern Districts Amateur Swimming Association.

The "Kelly Cup" competition resulted as follows:—L. W. Abel (Bondi), 26 points, 1; W. H. Buncombe (Randwick and Coogee), 21 points, 2; G. Harden (Bondi), and F. Martin (Rose Bay), 13 points each, 3.

BOXING.

MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP.

ED. WILLIAMS AND ARTHUR CRIPPS.

This evening the middleweight championship of Australasia will be decided at the Stadium, Rushcutter Bay, the contestants being Ed. Williams, of Melbourne (the present holder), and Arthur Cripps, of Sydney. As most of Williams' appearances in the ring have been in Melbourne this contest will give Sydney sportsmen an opportunity of seeing the present holder of the title in action. The contest will be referred by Mr. "Snowy" Baker.

FEATHERWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP.

SULLIVAN v THORN.

In order to definitely decide the vexed question as to who is entitled to style himself featherweight champion of Australia, Mr. Hugh D. McIntosh has for some time been trying to arrange for a match between Frank Thorn (the present holder) and Sid. Sullivan (the local champion). Yesterday his efforts were crowned with success, as Sullivan signed articles agreeing to meet Thorn at the featherweight limit, on either the 6th or the 20th April. These articles were forwarded last night to Thorn, in Melbourne, for his signature.

PROFESSIONAL TOURNAMENT.

PRELIMINARIES ARRANGED.

All the preliminary arrangements in connection with the proposed professional featherweight tournament having been concluded it has been decided that the tournament will commence on Tuesday, March 22, and will extend over two nights. The contestants are to number eight, and will be finally selected from the following 10: Elliott, Duffy, Cooper, Ireland, Ferguson, Lebrea, Green, O'Grady, Corbett, Frost. The conditions call for 10 rounds of 3 minutes each. On the first evening four contests will be put through, and on the second three—two semi-finals and a final.

The prize money will total £160, £70 of which goes to the winner, and £40 to the runner-up. Heat winners will receive £10, and losers £3.

TOMMY BURNS AND BILL LANG.

This important fixture is to be decided at the Stadium on the evening of Easter Monday (March 28). Some time ago Burns met and defeated Lang in Melbourne after a vigorously fought contest. As a matter of fact Lang was the first man to knock Burns off his feet since he won the world's championship. Since that time Lang has improved wonderfully, thanks to his association with Jack Johnson and Bob Fitzsimmons, and is full of confidence that he will be able to turn the tables this time on his whilom successful opponent. Both men have trained faithfully for the contest, which promises to be specially attractive. Special arrangements have been entered into with the police authorities, and the tramway officials for the handling of the great crowds who are expected to attend on the night in question.

ADULTERATED MILK.

HEAVY FINE.

At the Redfern Police Court yesterday, before Mr. King, S.M., Inspector Kench, of the Board of Health, proceeded against a dairyman named Denis Beston, of Queen-street, Alexandria, for having at Waterloo, on January 19th sold milk which the Government Analyst certified was deficient in fat by 10.94 per cent. Mr. Bathgate, of the Crown Law Department, appeared to prosecute. It was stated that the milk was taken from a tap attached to a can in defendant's cart at Waterloo while defendant was serving his customers.

Defendant had been previously fined for a similar offence.

Defendant stated that the milk he sold was pure from the cow, and had not been adulterated by him in any way. He offered the inspector the right to go and milk the cows there and then, and find out for himself, but he refused.

The magistrate asked what the maximum penalty was, and was informed that it was £20. He said he would not in this case go quite so far, but would order defendant to pay a fine of £15 and 6s costs, in default imprisonment for three months.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE THEATRES.

The last performance of "A Waltz Dream" will be given at Her Majesty's Theatre this afternoon and evening, as to-morrow night Mr. J. C. Williamson will transfer this charming opera to the Theatre Royal. "A Waltz Dream," which is drawing immense audiences, will be played at the Royal for six nights and a matinee only.

"Aladdin" will be produced at Her Majesty's Theatre at 7.45 on Saturday night, after the advantage of full rehearsals in the great playhouse, which will be devoted to that purpose on Thursday and Friday. Mr. Harry Phydora has returned from England as the Dame, and other new arrivals are Miss Lily Iris (Aladdin), Miss Clara Beck, and Mr. Bob Barry. A long cast will also include Messrs. J. M. Campbell, Victor Loydall, Haman, Watson, Rupert Darrell, Clyde Cook, Misses Nance Maher, Stella Selbourne, Marie Eaton, Addie Hine, and the tumbling experts, Price and Revost. A whole series of novel spectacular features will be introduced. The ordinary plan opens at Paling's to-day.

"The Merchant of Venice," of which a matinee will be given at the Criterion Theatre to-day, now enters upon its last ten nights, as on Saturday, March 19, Miss Lily Brayton and Mr. Oscar Asche will make their first appearance here in "As You Like It." The beautiful production of "The Merchant of Venice," with Mr. Asche's thoughtful study of Shylock, has excited the keenest interest in Sydney, and crowded houses continue to be the rule. The plan for "As You Like It," with Miss Brayton as Rosalind, will open at Elvy's on Monday next.

The date of the grand opera season is fixed for Saturday, March 26, when the new company formed in Milan by Signor Hazon for J. C. Williamson will make its first appearance in Australia at the Theatre Royal in "Madame Butterfly." In Puccini's beautiful work the name-part on the opening night will be sung by Bel Sorel. Signor Hazon will conduct a grand-opera chorus and orchestra. Plan arrangements will be duly notified.

At the Palace Theatre the first matinee of "The Luck of Roaring Camp" will be given to-day, and Mr. George Marlow's company will continue their successful run of the new sensational drama, in which the murder of the old mining prospector, the love between the miner's daughter (Miss Ethel Buckley) and Will Gordon (Mr. Hunter), and other incidents are vividly shown.

At the Tivoli Theatre, both afternoon and evening, Mr. Harry Rickards' company, which is especially strong just now, will present Vasco, the Mad Musician, the Wille Brothers, and Alexandra and Bertie, separate star acrobatic turns, Kelly and Kingston in comedy, Miss Lily Langtry, Mr. Harry Marte, Mr. Tom Dawson, Miss Dorothy Forbes, and other favourites.

At the National Amphitheatre, Hanco, "Australia's Handcuff King," is nightly freeing himself from chains and locks amidst applause, whilst the afternoon and evening programme also includes Verne Brothers, and the last three nights of Jack Kearns, Wise and Milton, Kelso Brothers, Driscoll Brothers, and other artists, there being a complete change on Saturday.

CONCERT ENGAGEMENTS.

The Royal Sydney Philharmonic Society announces an oratorio festival-programme for Easter Saturday evening, March 26, at the Town Hall, when Mr. Joseph Bradley will conduct the full chorus and orchestra in favourite excerpts from "The Messiah" and "Elijah." Leading artists have been engaged for this concert, which will be given at popular prices.

The Sydney Liedertafel announces in another column its prospectus for the year, together with the rates of subscription, in regard to which the fact that the first concert of the season does not take place at the Town Hall until April 13 gives ample time for communication with the hon. secretary. In addition to a number of fine ensemble pieces for full orchestra and male chorus already heard here, Mr. W. Arundel Orchard will sustain the interest of these popular concerts with new music, so that subscribers may confidently anticipate an interesting season.

The Randwick District Musical Society will give a concert at the Randwick Town Hall this evening, when Mr. G. G. Park will conduct the chorus and orchestra separately, and in operatic ensemble, in which Miss Amy Murphy, Miss Nellie Carroll, and Mr. Winslow Knight will be the solo vocalists.

Miss Ruby Isabel Michael will give a concert at the Y.M.C.A. Hall to-morrow evening, at which she will render several attractive numbers. The assisting artists will be Misses Mab Fotheringham, Irene Jay, Messrs. Brenan, Marsden, W. Moses, Geo. S. Holburn, and Betty and Charles Tuckwell, the child pianists. The plan is at Nicholson's.

Mr. S. Martin Mortlock will play Rubinstein's "Sonata in E Minor" and other pieces at his invitation recital at St. James's Hall next Tuesday evening. In addition to senior pupils, assistance will be given by Misses Mab Fotheringham, Margaret Dallan, Susie Broad, Mary Ballantyne, and Mr. Orme Darvall. The plan is at Nicholson's.

The Leichhardt Town Hall was crowded on Monday night on the occasion of Miss Nellie M'Donnell's students' concert. The programme was a long and varied one, and the efforts of the pupils met with much favour. Miss Thelma Hanlon, Mr. A. Martin, and the Leichhardt Amateur Orchestra gave valued assistance.

At the usual recital at the Town Hall at 3.15 this afternoon the city organist, Mr. Ernest Truman, will play "Marcia Religiosa" (Perelli), "Meditation" (Mailly), Fugue in E Minor ("The Wedge") (Bach), "Caprice" (Truman), and Offertoire in D Minor (Batiste).

Mr. A. Bertram Flohm's pupil Miss Myra Wall will give an invitation dramatic recital in St. James's Hall on Thursday, the 17th inst. Miss Wall will be heard in favourite classic recitals, and in an attractive programme will be musically assisted by Misses Elsa Fischer, Lilian Hay, Jessie Elphinston, Gertrude Palmer, Messrs. Laurance Phillip and W. H. Lynch. The plan and invitations are at Nicholson's.

OTHER ENTERTAINMENTS.

At the Lyceum Mr. C. Spencer will omit the usual matinee to-day, but every evening the Theatrescope Company will show the new war-picture "Custer's Last Stand," the illustrative series, "Paris Under Water," the dramatic films "Judgment" and "In Little Italy," life on board the training-ship Ibis, and comic subjects.

At the Glaciarium this afternoon the star attraction will be a long and absorbing series showing "The Floods of Paris," and again in the evening there will be the spectacular representation of Gounod's "Faust," with music by De Groen's Vice-regal Orchestra, the sensational "Yellow Devil" story, comic episodes, and "The Sleeping Sickness" illustrated.

At the Bijou, both afternoon and evening, the new entertainment will comprise the exciting chase series "Donovan's Car," the pathetic story of "Fantine," the dramatic account of "The Japanese Invasion," the military scene "Held by the Enemy," and the latest humorous incidents.

MISS MYRA GRESTY'S CONCERT.

Miss Myra Gresty, who first came before the public as a child pianist at a Hugo Heermann concert at the Town Hall, and four years ago gave a successful piano recital of her own at the Y.M.C.A. Hall, last night made her debut at the latter concert chamber as a vocalist. The young singer, who even yet is not quite out of her teens, has evidently worked hard during her three years in the Steffani studio, and her genuine talent for music has assisted her to a somewhat remarkable advance in her newly-adopted branch of the art. Her voice is a lyric soprano of considerable power and tuneful, brilliant quality, and in Bellini's "Qui la Voce," with its tenderly expressive opening and captivating quick movement, it was effectively employed, the coloratura passages being rendered with an acceptable measure of spontaneity and smoothness. The encore, "Cherry Ripe," still further pleased the audience. In the polacca from "Mignon" ("Io son Titania"), an exceptionally difficult piece for a young singer, the same degree of finish was not attained, but on the whole the voice was cleverly used; and the encore after Slater's pretty song "Buy My Roses" was amply justified. Miss Gresty, who was warmly received throughout, in consequence of this success will give a concert at the Town Hall in two or three weeks' time, chiefly to raise funds to assist her to further study in Paris.

Mr. F. Mowat Carter played with unusually strong and melodious tone Sarasate's "Romanza Andalusia," a beautiful "Swedish Melodie" arranged by Wilhelmj, and the "Moto Perpetuo" of Ries. His neatness of technique in the lastnamed contributed to an exhilarating effect, and the violinist then responded to the applause with Tchaikowsky's "Chanson Triste." Miss Violet Balmain, whose refinement as a pianist is united with a thoughtful style, rendered the "Sarabande" and "Praeludium" from Grieg's "Holberg Suite" (Op. 40), realising all the melancholy charm of the stately dance, and exhibiting the necessary power to emphasise the grandiose aspect of the prelude. Miss Edith Bunting and Miss Ilma Gresty were the accompanists of the evening.

TRADES AND LABOUR.

ROCKCHOPPERS.

The Rockchoppers' Union held its quarterly meeting in the Trades Hall on Monday, and after voting sum to be paid periodically to the fund in support of the families of the imprisoned unionists, elected the following office-bearers for the ensuing quarter:—President, Mr. H. J. Greville (re-elected); vice-president, G. Godden; secretary, J. Ryan; treasurer, D. Lewis; minute secretary, W. Eadie; auditors, J. Higgins, G. M'Arthur; guardian, J. Hall; committee, Messrs. Holmes, Gullen, Bowden, Mitchel, Gray, and Powell.

UNITED FURNITURE TRADES.

At the meeting of the United Furniture Trades Society in the Trades Hall on Monday night, the secretary was instructed to issue summonses against two employers for alleged breaches of an industrial award. A deputation was appointed to wait on the Minister for Labour with reference to the administration of the amended Factories Act of 1909, and to place before him in particular the methods by which it was alleged certain Chinese evaded the provisions of the Act. Arrangements were made for the assistant secretary (Mr. Thyer) to visit Newcastle and Maitland on Friday and Saturday next for organising purposes.

HOTEL AND CATERERS' EMPLOYEES' PICNIC.

The 20th annual picnic of the Amalgamated Hotel and Caterers' Employees' Mutual Benefit Association was held at Correy's Gardens yesterday, and was well attended by members and their families. At the banquet the president, Mr. J. T. Turtle, occupied the chair.

Mr. J. Sherlock proposed "Employers and Donors," and said the association was glad to see so many of the same faces present year after year. There were a few missing, and he regretted that fact because of the misunderstanding that existed respecting the association's work. It was generally recognised that the trouble that existed in the industry did not come from the association. Many of the employers, he was glad to say, did not regard the trouble as serious, and said in effect that men who did a fair day's work for them were fit to be trusted and to be met at the social board at least once a year. The all-reaper Time had taken away some of their old friends, but some were undoubtedly absent because they misunderstood the association and its aims. When they met at the picnic last year a wages board was sitting, and since then its award to govern the industry had been given. A few had taken umbrage at the award, but if a misunderstanding existed it should not be debited to the association. Nothing that tended to upset the harmonious relations between employers and employees had come from the association. There were two unions or associations of employees in the industry. He did not stand there to defend breaches of the award, nevertheless, because he recognised that men guilty of breaches were not only fighting against the association, but against themselves and against their fellow-employees, who were fair men. He thanked the many donors of prizes for their kindly assistance.

Messrs. A. Kerr, E. Boyle, and W. J. Monfries responded. Mr. Monfries said he hoped that all the interests of the trade would be welded before long, and he trusted that Parliament would be able to find time to devote attention to registry offices which dealt with people in the industry.

Mr. W. Mortimer (secretary), in proposing "The Day We Celebrate," said he was pleased at the steadily increasing attendance. The twentieth picnic was the largest and best they had ever held. The association had fulfilled its objects, not only as a mutual benefit organisation, but as a social club, and one of the strongest unions of the State.

PYRMONT DESTRUCTOR.

TENDERS REJECTED.

TO BE CARRIED OUT BY DAY LABOUR.

At a special meeting of the City Council last night, the Lord Mayor presiding, the matter of the erection of a garbage destructor in Hill-street, Pyrmont, again came on for discussion. Five tenders had been received for carrying out the work, and the city surveyor recommended that that of Messrs. Hughes and Stirling, at £16,862, be accepted. He pointed out that the destructor would not only be a great convenience to the western portions of the city, but would result in a material saving in cartage to the council.

Alderman Evan Jones was asked by the Lord Mayor to move the adoption of the report, but his reply was that he was entirely opposed to destructors anywhere, as he was of opinion that the better way to deal with the garbage of the city was to put in in lighters and dump it outside the Heads.

Alderman Lawrence said he was in favour of a four-cell destructor, erected on the same lines as that at Balmain, and that the work be carried out by day labour. He moved an amendment to that effect.

The Lord Mayor hoped the council would not accept the amendment. They had secured an ideal site on Abattoir-road, at a cost of £3800, for the erection of the destructor, and it was absolutely necessary that immediate provision should be made for destroying the garbage by fire. From personal inspection abroad on more than one occasion, he was satisfied that a plant of the type proposed would wholly meet their requirements, and give every satisfaction. The question of day labour he would not be a party to.

After a lengthy discussion, Alderman Lawrence's amendment was carried by 11 to 8.

SPECIAL CHEAP EXCURSION TRAINS.

It is six months since special cheap fares were issued from far-distant stations. The strike of coal-miners, and consequent limitation of supplies of coal were responsible for the Christmas series of cheap trains being withdrawn, and it is anticipated that the special cheap excursions to run to and from the country, commencing next week, will be largely patronised. Trains from the Northern and North-Western lines will run on March 17, 18, and 21. From the Western line and branches trains will run on March 14, 15, and 16, while patrons from the Southern line will be served on March 16, 17, and 18. The Illawarra line will be provided for by train from Nowra on March 22. Cheap trains to the country have been arranged to leave Sydney for the Northern and North-Western lines on March 14 and 15; for the Western line and branches on the same dates, and for the Southern line on the 16th, 17th, and 18th. Cheap tickets will also be issued from intermediate stations to others on the same line and in the same direction, by the excursion trains. The fares will be at the rate of single fare for the double journey. Tickets issued for distances up to 300 miles will be available for return for one calendar month from date of issue, and those over 300 miles will be available for six weeks.

FACTS ABOUT FLOUR.

MADE WHITE BY LEAVING OUT THE PART WHICH HELPS DIGEST.

Modern methods of milling separate the parts of the wheat berry that contain the diastatic element, and furnish only the white flour made up almost entirely of starch.

One of the principal elements needed to digest this starch has been left out in the process, and therefore the person who eats much white bread is almost sure to have intestinal troubles, for the starch does not digest properly, and must, of necessity, decay, and cause all sorts of trouble.

Grape-Nuts Food, on the contrary, is made up of the entire wheat and barley, and the processes of digestion as shown in the human body are followed as exactly as possible in a mechanical way, by the use of moisture, time, and warmth. No chemicals or other ingredients are used, but simply methods scientifically arranged.

In this way the starch of the grain is transformed into grape-sugar, and the Grape-Nuts food, which appears in a granular form, shows on the outside of the little granules glittering specks of this grape-sugar, which is not put on to the food from the outside, but is the result of the change of the starch into grape-sugar, which works out to the surface, very much as the sap of the hickory or maple tree will frequently show in the shape of white sugar on the sawed-off ends of logs.

A handful of Grape-Nuts held to the light will show the little glittering particles of grape-sugar. It is naturally and scientifically predigested, therefore the food agrees with the weakest stomach. It must not be used in large quantities at one meal, for it is concentrated, and overfeeding of even the choicest food is not advisable.

Being perfectly cooked at the factory, the food can be served instantly with cream or good milk. There is a definite, distinct, and undeniable gain in nervous energy and vitality when Grape-Nuts food is used. "There's a Reason."—Advt.

To the Principal,
Stott and Hoare's Business College, Moore-street, Sydney.
Dear Sir,—
RE LOCAL GOVERNMENT CLERKS' EXAM.
You may remember that just 12 months ago I enrolled as a Postal Student of your College for a course of instruction in connection with the above exam. I would mention the exam. was held within 14 weeks from enrolment, and the fact of my passing with so short a time for preparation is to the credit of your system, seeing that I had no previous knowledge of the subject whatever. Less than a week after receiving my certificate I was appointed Town Clerk at ——, which position I recently resigned to take a similar one at ——.
I am,
Yours faithfully,
——.

In all the GOVERNMENT and PUBLIC EXAMINATIONS the successes of our students outnumber those of all other competing colleges combined.

BETTER VALUE
IN YOUR TAILORING.

Value is a word often misused, especially as regards men's clothing.
You want value, and you know it is not so much the price you pay for clothes as it is the clothes you get for the price.
For a little more than the average tailor asks we will build a suit for you that will give you double the satisfaction and wear of ordinary garments.
That men appreciate our work is proved by the fact that we do absolutely the largest tailoring business in the State on a high-grade basis.
Easter is now quite close, and you have no time to lose if you want your New Suit by then. Better come in early and make your choice from our fine showing of New Season's Suitings.
Patterns and Self-measurement Forms posted free on request if you cannot call.

VALAZE CREATES BEAUTY.

Use VALAZE and gain a lovely complexion. Valaze causes wrinkles and crowsfeet to disappear, removes every trace of freckles, sallowness, and tan, and makes the worst skin clear and healthy. The beauty of Valaze is that its use is such a simple matter. It works wonders while you sleep. It is a pure skin food, which goes straight into the skin, feeding and nourishing the delicate tissues. Try a jar and prove its worth.

If you never use Valaze at any other time, you should do so during the Summer and Spring months, when your skin is so jeopardised by the changing seasons—heat and wind. The skin, if toned and strengthened by Valaze, is always well protected, but for times of exposure, for the hundred and one occasions that take charming women into the open sunshine, Novenna Sunproof Creme is a preparation of marvellous efficacy. It is invisible in use, and makes the most delicate complexion invulnerable to the sun, preventing sunburn, tan, freckles, and brownness. In jars, 2/ and 3/6.

Other Valaze preparations to be commended are Valaze Blackhead and Open Pore Cure, a remedy of rare effect, removes blackheads, closes the pores, refines the skin's texture. It prevents the recurrence of these blemishes by destroying the cause; 2/10 posted.

Valaze Liquidine is a positive corrective for blackheads, pimples, greasiness, coarseness, and flushing of the cheeks and nose, 8/6, and 6d postage.

Valaze Snow Lotion is a liquid powder of rare distinction, and it will not be surprising that such a toilet requisite not only refreshes, cools, and whitens the skin in the hottest weather, but also enables it to retain that dull, ivory finish which adds so much distinction and charm to the plainest face. This speciality is for night and day use, and creates a delightful effect on the shoulders, neck, and arms. In three shades—pink, white, and cream, 3/6 a bottle, 6d postage.

To obtain more complete insight into Mlle. Rubinstein's methods and treatments, send for her book, "Beauty in the Making," which will be forwarded free on application.

All Valaze preparations obtainable from Mlle. RUBINSTEIN, Valaze Institute, 158 Pitt-street, Sydney; 274 Collins-street, Melbourne; or from all leading chemists.
